Connally Sees Stormy Debate

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Texas) said today he foresees long, stormy debate before the Senate will ratify a peace treaty with Japan.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told a reporter he believes there is "no question" that the Senate will approve the treaty ultimately.

A storm signal was raised by Senator Jenner (R-Ind.), who said he found a "threat to our security still hidden" in terms of the proposed peace treaty.

In a statement yesterday, Jenner said secrecy surrounds the treaty itself and companion pacts proposed on one hand between the United States and Japan, and on the other between Japan and Nationalist China.

Court Will Hear Civil Cases First; Several Arraigned

Jurors Are Excused Until 2 P.M. September 10; One Case Reported Settled

The September trial term of County Court opened Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with County Judge John M. Cashin presiding. A day calendar of civil cases was made up for Monday, September 10, at 2 o'clock and Judge Cashin directed that cases on the day calendar must be ready for disposition when reached.

Jurors were excused until next Monday at 2 o'clock to which time the court recessed.

Only one case on the civil calendar was announced settled at the call. That was No. 38, a negligence action brought by John Andola against Grace Van B. Roberts and Wasye Lysenko. Michael Nardone for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

Several arraignments were made by District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and several cases on the criminal calendar were set down for disposition on Monday, September 17, at 2 o'clock.

Arraigned on Abandonment

Herman Bronson, Marlborough, was arraigned on a charge of violation of Sections 480 and 50 of the Pelan Law, abandonment of his wife and family. Bronson was present in court with his wife and three children and a plea of not guilty was entered when Bronson said he was taking care of his family. He was told to keep on working and take care of his family. George Rusk appears for the defendant.

Robert Allen, charged with assault, second degree, arising out of an incident in a town of Wawarsing tavern on June 8, last, entered a plea of innocent to the two counts in the indictment. John Bonomi appeared for defendant. Bail was continued and counsel was granted 20 days to make further motions.

Jansen Knight of Shawangunk, arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been a continuing operation over a period of several years from December 1949 to May 1951, entered a plea of innocent. Barber of Barber & Hotaling of Walden appeared for defendant. Bail was

Height North of Yanggu Is Taken by Troops; Reds Hold Firmly to Some Points

Cease-Fire Negotiators Fail to Exchange Any Papers

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Stpt. 5 (AP)—U. S. Second Division infantrymen smashed their way to the top of a bloody ridge in East Korea today. They were locked in bitter battles for three other heights.

Second Division troops drove through heavy Red resistance and captured the hill mass north of Yanggu. Then they pressed forward to assault another height to the north. Reds, dug securely into crags and ridges, checked the American drive.

In the same sector other Second Division soldiers were locked in a heavy day-long fight with Communists atop two towering crests. The Americans have been trying to knock the Reds off these crests for a week. The Communists have withstood daily infantry assaults and continuous artillery bombardment.

The Second Division action, in the center of a limited United Nations offensive, was the only significant engagement on the front Wednesday. Yanggu, at the eastern end of Hwachon Reservior, is seven miles north of the 38th Parallel. Censors would not permit correspondents to say how much farther north the battle line is.

Marines Are Stopped

To the east the Second Division, entrenched Reds stopped South Korean marines trying to push out west of the punch bowl. Other South Korean marines patrolled far north of the bowl, roughly 20 miles from the east coast.

North Korean Reds attacked three points on a ridge line dominating the valley. The attacks began before midnight and continued four hours. The Communists finally pulled back. They still hold some parts of the ridgeline.

Elsewhere along the battle front only brief patrol clashes were reported. At one point a small group of Reds infiltrated through UN lines.

UN troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red divisions last month, the UN ground commander reported today, mostly on the eastern front.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet's conservative estimate of at least 26,000 Red casualties covered a period in which action was limited while both sides held truce talks—now broken off.

Van Fleet said that, even after frontline estimates were carefully evaluated and cut down, the figures showed 15,000 Reds killed, 10,000 wounded and more than 1,000 captured.

The pace of Red casualties undoubtedly increased the past few days. Waves of Communists were committed in repeated counterattacks aimed at stalling an allied

Civil Service Asks More Pay for All

One Claim for $30,000 Is Presented; Total Is Nearly $60,000—Petition Favored

A new wave of claims against the city ranging from $30,000 to the price of a pair of glasses allegedly snatched by a park monkey, marked last night's Common Council action in adopting a law that will make it harder to collect for injuries suffered in sidewalk falls.

The new law would leave the city open to claim only upon failure of neglect to make repairs after notice of a defective or dangerous condition has been given. It received its second and third readings and was adopted.

A railroad and bus committee report favoring the Third Ward petition for bus service was adopted and a request for $28,000 for the Elizabeth street sewer project was left with the finance committee.

Resolution Referred

Elmer Carney sought the council's assistance in a bid to obtain water service on his Florence street extension property, and a resolution by Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel asking the health and water boards to investigate was referred to both by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly. James J. Carroll, 10th Ward alderman, seconded the resolution.

Carney's plea led to some discussion which ended when Alderman Radel withdrew a motion to be voted upon and substituted the resolution.

Claims Son Injured

Highest of six claims read at last night's session and referred to the corporation counsel was that of James Rundle, Jr., 67 O'Neil street, "an infant under the age of 14 years," for $25,000 for injuries suffered in a mishap at Forsyth Park last May 26, and $5,000 for the boy's father for "loss of services," medical expenses and other damages. A pay boost for all city employes with the money raised by a two-per-cent sales tax, if necessary, is asked in a resolution by the executive committee of the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, Inc., introduced at last night's Common Council session.

The resolution asked for the "same salary increases" sought in the referendum move of the local police and firemen. It was referred to the finance committee.

The resolution:

September 4, 1951.

The Honorable Common Council
of the City of Kingston
City Hall
Kingston, New York

Gentlemen:

The employes of the City of Kingston, members of Ulster Chapter of the Civil Service Employes' Association, Inc., respectfully submit the following resolution adopted at a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chapter:

"It is hereby resolved that the Honorable Common Council of the City of Kingston be asked to provide for all the other City employes, the same salary increases that are being asked for by the police and firemen under the referendum presented to the Common Council for action by the voters of the City of Kingston, at the next General Election."

It is our belief that all city employes be treated alike in salary adjustments, and further that it is the duty of City government to carry out this principle in making such adjustments.

In making this request, consideration has been made for the increased cost of living, which by statement of the Federal Department of Labor, is now at the highest point since 1930, and viewing the prospect of further economic increases in living during the months to come, it will still rise higher.

President Challenges Red Action

Truman Says Conferenc Will Show Who Seeks Peace, Who in Favor of War

Gromyko Silent

Top Russian Delegate Hears Talk, Refuses Comment

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—The United States and Britain faced an immediate showdown with Russia today over control of the Japanese treaty conference after President Truman challenged the Soviets to make good on their talk of peace by signing the treaty.

The Kremlin's chief delegate, unsmiling Andrei Gromyko, grimly heard the President's challenge at the conference opening last night.

"The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace," Mr. Truman said emphatically. "It offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it."

Gromyko, who had joined briefly in the swelling applause of historic assemblage when Mr. Truman rose to speak, sat with folded hands throughout the talk. Later he told reporters he had no comment.

Speaks With Diplomats

Still later at an American reception for all the delegates, the Soviet deputy foreign minister shook hands with the American President and spoke briefly with some of the diplomats present.

Under British and American plans the conference should end Saturday with the signing of the treaty by all but a few of the 52 delegations present. Privately members of both delegations say Russian tactics may force it to run over into next week.

Publicly Gromyko has said nothing since arriving. But today the hour was at hand for him to speak up and presumably indicate for the first time his strategy—whether to try to wreck or merely protest the British-American sponsored treaty.

Today's task was to organize the conference and set—by majority vote—the rules which will govern its discussions.

Mr. Truman in his speech pictured the Japanese treaty as affording Japan, defeated and broken in World War 2 and reorganized under the six-year American occupation, an opportunity "to win the friendship and trust of other peoples over the years to come." He reminded the Japanese, however, "the United States has not forgotten Pearl Harbor or Bataan." And he made it plain that the softening of its memories will depend on Japan's future conduct.

Speaking in San Francisco's high-vaulted Opera House, where the United Nations was born six years ago, Mr. Truman depicted the treaty now projected as faithful to the UN charter and Japan as a nation now peaceful and democratized.

For the remaking of Japan he paid tribute to the "outstanding leadership" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom he ousted as occu-

Brooklyn Man Is Injured In Fall From Milton Dam

Pasquale Liguori Taken to Poughkeepsie; His Condition Is Critical

Pasquale Liguori, 48, of 621 Vanderbilt avenue, Brooklyn, received very severe injuries Tuesday afternoon when he slipped from a rock dam near the Joseph Pallonetti property at Milton while hunting wild mushrooms. At St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, where he was taken by ambulance, his condition was reported today as critical. He suffered a fractured skull, fractured ribs, very bad lacerations of the head and a partial fracture of the neck when he landed on his head on jagged rocks at the foot of the ten foot high dam.

Liguori, with two companions from Brooklyn had gone to the rear of the Joseph Pallonetti property at Milton in search of mushrooms. He attempted to cross a rock dam on the Carl Pfluger premises which adjoins the Pallonetti farm and slipped from the dam. State police from the Highland station were summoned and reported he had fallen on his head and chest on the sharp rocks.

Aided by members of the Milton Fire Department who responded and state police, Liguori was removed from the rocks some 400 feet to a clearing where he was placed in the ambulance.

Will Fire 5,000 Persons

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today it will fire about 5,000 employes by Oct. 10 to meet budget cuts. The agency said the reduction will be nationwide and will include all administrative activities. Excluded are employes of the Department of Medicine and Surgery, who staff VA's 151 veterans hospitals and its numerous clinics. The agency's appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, limits VA's expenditures for non-medical personnel to $195,000,000.

Five Persons Hurt In 3 Accidents

City Truck Worker Has Leg Injury; Boy Also Injured

Two persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps yesterday and three others were hurt in one of two accidents early today.

Charles Steinmiller, 60, of 30 Progress street, suffered a leg injury while at work on a city truck at 3:50 p. m. yesterday at Broadway and St. James street.

A report at police headquarters today said the truck was stopped by Milfred Wendland, 155 Stephan street, the driver, at the intersection for a traffic light, and when he started up again the vehicle went over the right leg of Steinmiller, a helper on the truck.

Steinmiller, the report said, "got his leg caught under the wheel," as he jumped off of the vehicle. He was taken to Kingston Hospital.

Three persons were hurt, none seriously, in an accident at First avenue and Moore street, reported at 5:30 a. m. today.

Officers Kenneth Stratton and Carl Janasiewicz said that one of the cars, owned by Joseph McGrane, of Tietjen avenue, and operated by Joseph Robert Ruzzo, 21, of 103 Albany avenue, was headed south on First avenue at the time of the mishap.

The other a sedan, owned and operated by Richard F. Keller, 19, of 18 Hanratty street, was going east on Moore street. Keller suffered a head injury; John Johnston, 18, of 6 Hanratty street, injuries of the ribs and an arm, and James Johnston, same address, was "shaken up," police said.

Both vehicles were towed from the scene and the report said that a wire fence, concrete leading to the porch, and the lawn of the Richard Demski property, 112 First avenue, were damaged.

Walter Green, 49 Court avenue, reported to the police at 7:05 p. m., yesterday, that while driving his sedan out of a driveway at that address, Joseph Aiello, 6, of 26 Boulder avenue, "rode a tricycle into the side of the car." The boy suffered a bruise on the

Food Index Drops; Higher Than 1950

Pork Products Lead Cut in Items; Seven Are Costlier

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Wholesale food prices this week dropped to a new 1951 low, according to the Dun & Bradstreet food index.

The index fell from $6.89 last week to $6.82 in the sharpest week-to-week decline since early July. The index still was 2.6 per cent above the year-ago level of $6.65, however.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use. This week it's at the lowest level since the $6.80 of last December 19. The 1951 high to date was $7.31 on Feb. 20.

Eleven of the 31 foods represented were lower in wholesale

New Peak Is Set

Holiday Death Toll Is 658; Traffic Takes 461 Lives

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The nation's record death toll of 658 from violent accidents over the Labor Day week-end was one of the highest for any holiday period in several years.

There were 461 traffic deaths, a new high for a Labor Day holiday. The toll was more than double the 225 fatalities which could be expected for a three-day non-holiday week-end. It was far in excess of the National Safety Council's original forecast of 390.

In addition to the traffic deaths in the 78-hour period, 97 persons drowned and 100 lost their lives in a variety of accidents, including plane crashes, fires and falls.

Co-Chairmen Name Aides For Benedictine Campaign

A cabinet of 25 business and professional men to serve in an advisors capacity on the $600,000 Benedictine Hospital Building Fund Campaign, has been named by Senator Arthur H. Wicks and James W. Dwyer, as general co-chairmen of the campaign, it was announced today.

The cabinet is composed of Allen Baker, 25 Grandview evenue, Salustiano Berzal. 69 Main street, Saugerties; Claude Bell, Olive; Thomas Bohan, 32 Main street; Hon. John Cashin, 262 Manor avenue; David W. Corwin, New Paltz; Arthur A. Davis, 271 Smith avenue; Monsignor Martin J. Drury, 166 Broadway.

Luther Dusinberre, Gardiner; Michael Galietta, 650 Delaware avenue; Conrad J. Heiselman, 173 West Chestnut street; Joseph Honig, 309 Albany avenue; Hon. George F. Kaufman, Washington avenue, Saugerties; Roger H. Loughran, Hurley; Frank Mandy, Highland; Frank McCardle, Stuyvesant Hotel; Hon. Oscar V. A number of these men, according to Senator Wicks and Mr. Dwyer, will be represented in the various divisions of the actual campaign. The general co-chairmen said today they hoped to name divisional chairmen within the next two or three days.

The campaign to raise $600,000 will be launched county wide within the next three weeks. The money will be used to pay for completion of the two new wings on the Benedictine Hospital which have been erected at a cost of slightly under $2,000,000.

Second Petition Is Refused by Counsel

That, at Least, Is What Democrats Say After Luncheon Talk

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Truman appeared today to have hit the re-election campaign trail with a 1952 platform virtually written.

He did everything but formally announce his candidacy yesterday at a Democratic rally here where he called his opponents names ranging from "special privilege boys" to "economic fossils."

And he constructed his 1952 platform under the familiar "Fair Deal" banner as he predicted "we are going to elect a president next year."

He didn't say it would be Harry S. Truman, but the way the Democrats stood up and cheered—and his own obvious relish of the applause—made things pretty clear to those around.

Mr. Truman headed for his Independence, Mo., home today after a couple of San Francisco speeches, in which the off-the-cuff political talk at a party luncheon created more excitement than his major foreign policy address opening the Japanese peace treaty conference last night.

Magnuson's View

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.), who was among those cheering the President on at the luncheon speech, told a reporter, with obvious satisfaction:

"I thought he threw his hat into the ring."

And that was what just about everybody else among the up-

Connelly Rules Plan Is Lacking in Means of Raising Cop, Fireman Pay

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer, following receipt of an opinion by Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly that the additional petition for the police-firemen pay boost referendum, cannot be legally accepted, today sent a letter to Attorney Francis Martocci, counsel for the local firemen and policemen, refusing the petition.

The city clerk's letter noted that the corporation counsel's opinion still holds that the petition does not comply with a section of the City Home Rule Law, and he was therefore prohibited from accepting it. The additional petition was filed Aug. 31.

The corporation counsel's letter to the city clerk notes that a section of the City Home Rule Law "specifically prohibits" a city clerk from accepting a proposed local law unless there is a plan for raising the money included.

Does Not Comply

In returning the petition to Attorney Martocci, City Clerk Kramer wrote in his accompanying letter:

"The corporation counsel has advised me that it is his opinion that the local law submitted as part of the additional petition does not comply with Section 19-a of the City Home Rule Law, as recently amended, in that it does not contain a plan to provide the moneys and revenues sufficient to meet the cost of the proposed salary increases and that I am prohibited by the City Home Rule Law from accepting the additional petition left here on August 31, 1951."

The first petition was filed with

Scientists Puzzled

Landing Satellite 500 Miles Up in Air Sought for Rockets

London, Sept. 5 (AP)—Scientists of 12 nations puzzled today how to build themselves a satellite and set it afloat 500 miles up in the air. They want to use it as a base from which man-driven rockets can take off for the moon.

The scientists are attending the Second International Congress of Astronautics. Yesterday they formed an international federation to set up the satellite.

Dr. Eugen Saenger of Germany, chairman of the congress, said it might take 20 years to make the astral body, but possibly it could be done in five.

Pasquale Liguori Taken to Poughkeepsie; His Condition Is Critical

Pasquale Liguori, 48, of 621 Vanderbilt avenue, Brooklyn, received very severe injuries Tuesday afternoon when he slipped from a rock dam near the Joseph Pallonetti property at Milton while hunting wild mushrooms. At St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, where he was taken by ambulance, his condition was reported today as critical. He suffered a fractured skull, fractured ribs, very bad lacerations of the head and a partial fracture of the neck when he landed on his head on jagged rocks at the foot of the ten foot high dam.

Liguori, with two companions from Brooklyn had gone to the rear of the Joseph Pallonetti property at Milton in search of mushrooms. He attempted to cross a rock dam on the Carl Pfluger premises which adjoins the Pallonetti farm and slipped from the dam. State police from the Highland station were summoned and reported he had fallen on his head and chest on the sharp rocks.

Aided by members of the Milton Fire Department who responded and state police, Liguori was removed from the rocks some 400 feet to a clearing where he was placed in the ambulance.

Food Index Drops; Higher Than 1950

Pork Products Lead Cut in Items; Seven Are Costlier

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Wholesale food prices this week dropped to a new 1951 low, according to the Dun & Bradstreet food index.

The index fell from $6.89 last week to $6.82 in the sharpest week-to-week decline since early July. The index still was 2.6 per cent above the year-ago level of $6.65, however.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use. This week it's at the lowest level since the $6.80 of last December 19. The 1951 high to date was $7.31 on Feb. 20.

New Peak Is Set

Holiday Death Toll Is 658; Traffic Takes 461 Lives

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The nation's record death toll of 658 from violent accidents over the Labor Day week-end was one of the highest for any holiday period in several years.

There were 461 traffic deaths, a new high for a Labor Day holiday. The toll was more than double the 225 fatalities which could be expected for a three-day non-holiday week-end. It was far in excess of the National Safety Council's original forecast of 390.

In addition to the traffic deaths in the 78-hour period, 97 persons drowned and 100 lost their lives in a variety of accidents, including plane crashes, fires and falls.

Five Persons Hurt In 3 Accidents

City Truck Worker Has Leg Injury; Boy Also Injured

Two persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps yesterday and three others were hurt in one of two accidents early today.

Charles Steinmiller, 60, of 30 Progress street, suffered a leg injury while at work on a city truck at 3:50 p. m. yesterday at Broadway and St. James street.

A report at police headquarters today said the truck was stopped by Milfred Wendland, 155 Stephan street, the driver, at the intersection for a traffic light, and when he started up again the vehicle went over the right leg of Steinmiller, a helper on the truck.

Steinmiller, the report said, "got his leg caught under the wheel," as he jumped off of the vehicle. He was taken to Kingston Hospital.

Three persons were hurt, none seriously, in an accident at First avenue and Moore street, reported at 5:30 a. m. today.

Officers Kenneth Stratton and Carl Janasiewicz said that one of the cars, owned by Joseph McGrane, of Tietjen avenue, and operated by Joseph Robert Ruzzo, 21, of 103 Albany avenue, was headed south on First avenue at the time of the mishap.

The other a sedan, owned and operated by Richard F. Keller, 19, of 18 Hanratty street, was going east on Moore street. Keller suffered a head injury; John Johnston, 18, of 6 Hanratty street, injuries of the ribs and an arm, and James Johnston, same address, was "shaken up," police said.

Both vehicles were towed from the scene and the report said that a wire fence, concrete leading to the porch, and the lawn of the Richard Demski property, 112 First avenue, were damaged.

Walter Green, 49 Court avenue, reported to the police at 7:05 p. m., yesterday, that while driving his sedan out of a driveway at that address, Joseph Aiello, 6, of 26 Boulder avenue, "rode a tricycle into the side of the car." The boy suffered a bruise on the

Will Fire 5,000 Persons

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today it will fire about 5,000 employes by Oct. 10 to meet budget cuts. The agency said the reduction will be nationwide and will include all administrative activities. Excluded are employes of the Department of Medicine and Surgery, who staff VA's 151 veterans hospitals and its numerous clinics. The agency's appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, limits VA's expenditures for non-medical personnel to $195,000,000.

A cabinet of 25 business and professional men to serve in an advisors capacity on the $600,000 Benedictine Hospital Building Fund Campaign, has been named by Senator Arthur H. Wicks and James W. Dwyer, as general co-chairmen of the campaign, it was announced today.

The cabinet is composed of Allen Baker, 25 Grandview evenue, Salustiano Berzal, 69 Main street, Saugerties; Claude Bell, Olive; Thomas Bohan, 32 Main street; Hon. John Cashin, 262 Manor avenue; David W. Corwin, New Paltz; Arthur A. Davis, 271 Smith avenue; Monsignor Martin J. Drury, 166 Broadway.

Luther Dusinberre, Gardiner; Michael Galietta, 650 Delaware avenue; Conrad J. Heiselman, 173 West Chestnut street; Joseph Honig, 309 Albany avenue; Hon. George F. Kaufman, Washington avenue, Saugerties; Roger H. Loughran, Hurley; Frank Mandy, Highland; Frank McCardle, Stuyvesant Hotel; Hon. Oscar V. Newkirk, 51 Clarendon avenue; Thomas Plunket, 276 Pearl street.

Gerald Martin, 295 Albany avenue; Herman Rafalowsky, 66 Clinton avenue; Sisto Ruzzo, 20 Spring street; Herbert E. Thomas, 135 Emerson street; Kenneth Wilson, Woodstock.

A number of these men, according to Senator Wicks and Mr. Dwyer, will be represented in the various divisions of the actual campaign. The general co-chairmen said today they hoped to name divisional chairmen within the next two or three days.

The campaign to raise $600,000 will be launched county wide within the next three weeks. The money will be used to pay for completion of the two new wings on the Benedictine Hospital which have been erected at a cost of slightly under $2,000,000.

President Tosses His Hat in Ring

That, at Least, Is What Democrats Say After Luncheon Talk

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Truman appeared today to have hit the re-election campaign trail with a 1952 platform virtually written.

He did everything but formally announce his candidacy yesterday at a Democratic rally here where he called his opponents names ranging from "special privilege boys" to "economic fossils."

And he constructed his 1952 platform under the familiar "Fair Deal" banner as he predicted "we are going to elect a president next year."

He didn't say it would be Harry S. Truman, but the way the Democrats stood up and cheered—and his own obvious relish of the applause—made things pretty clear to those around.

Mr. Truman headed for his Independence, Mo., home today after a couple of San Francisco speeches, in which the off-the-cuff political talk at a party luncheon created more excitement than his major foreign policy address opening the Japanese peace treaty conference last night.

Magnuson's View

Connelly Rules Plan Is Lacking in Means of Raising Cop, Fireman Pay

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer, following receipt of an opinion by Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly that the additional petition for the police-firemen pay boost referendum, cannot be legally accepted, today sent a letter to Attorney Francis Martocci, counsel for the local firemen and policemen, refusing the petition.

The city clerk's letter noted that the corporation counsel's opinion still holds that the petition does not comply with a section of the City Home Rule Law, and he was therefore prohibited from accepting it. The additional petition was filed Aug. 31.

The corporation counsel's letter to the city clerk notes that a section of the City Home Rule Law "specifically prohibits" a city clerk from accepting a proposed local law unless there is a plan for raising the money included.

Does Not Comply

In returning the petition to Attorney Martocci, City Clerk Kramer wrote in his accompanying letter:

"The corporation counsel has advised me that it is his opinion that the local law submitted as part of the additional petition does not comply with Section 19-a of the City Home Rule Law, as recently amended, in that it does not contain a plan to provide the moneys and revenues sufficient to meet the cost of the proposed salary increases and that I am prohibited by the City Home Rule Law from accepting the additional petition left here on August 31, 1951."

Scientists Puzzled

Landing Satellite 500 Miles Up in Air Sought for Rockets

London, Sept. 5 (AP)—Scientists of 12 nations puzzled today how to build themselves a satellite and set it afloat 500 miles up in the air. They want to use it as a base from which man-driven rockets can take off for the moon.

The scientists are attending the Second International Congress of Astronautics. Yesterday they formed an international federation to set up the satellite.

Dr. Eugen Saenger of Germany, chairman of the congress, said it might take 20 years to make the astral body, but possibly it could be done in five.

Connally Sees Stormy Debate

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Texas) said today he foresees long, stormy debate before the Senate will ratify a peace treaty with Japan.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told a reporter he believes there is "no question" that the Senate will approve the treaty ultimately.

A storm signal was raised by Senator Jenner (R-Ind.), who said he found a "threat to our security still hidden" in terms of the proposed peace treaty.

In a statement yesterday, Jenner said secrecy surrounds the treaty itself and companion pacts proposed on one hand between the United States and Japan, and on the other between Japan and Nationalist China.

Court Will Hear Civil Cases First; Several Arraigned

Jurors Are Excused Until 2 P.M. September 10; One Case Reported Settled

The September trial term of County Court opened Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with County Judge John M. Cashin presiding. A day calendar of civil cases was made up for Monday, September 10, at 2 o'clock and Judge Cashin directed that cases on the day calendar must be ready for disposition when reached.

Jurors were excused until next Monday at 2 o'clock to which time the court recessed.

Only one case on the civil calendar was announced settled at the call. That was No. 38, a negligence action brought by John Andola against Grace Van B. Roberts and Wasye Lysenko. Michael Nardone for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

Several arraignments were made by District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and several cases on the criminal calendar were set down for disposition on Monday, September 17, at 2 o'clock.

Arraigned on Abandonment

Herman Bronson, Marlborough, was arraigned on a charge of violation of Sections 480 and 50 of the Pelan Law, abandonment of his wife and family. Bronson was present in court with his wife and three children and a plea of not guilty was entered when Bronson said he was taking care of his family. He was told to keep on working and take care of his family. George Rusk appears for the defendant.

Robert Allen, charged with assault, second degree, arising out of an incident in a town of Wawarsing tavern on June 8, last, entered a plea of innocent to the two counts in the indictment. John Bonomi appeared for defendant. Bail was continued and counsel was granted 20 days to make further motions.

Jansen Knight of Shawangunk, arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been a continuing operation over a period of several years from December 1949 to May 1951, entered a plea of innocent. Barber of Barber & Hotaling of Walden appeared for defendant. Bail was

Battles Are Waged for Other Hills

Cease-Fire Negotiators Fail to Exchange Any Papers

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Stpt. 5 (AP)—U. S. Second Division infantrymen smashed their way to the top of a bloody ridge in East Korea today. They were locked in bitter battles for three other heights.

Second Division troops drove through heavy Red resistance and captured the hill mass north of Yanggu. Then they pressed forward to assault another height to the north. Reds, dug securely into crags and ridges, checked the American drive.

In the same sector other Second Division soldiers were locked in a heavy day-long fight with Communists atop two towering crests. The Americans have been trying to knock the Reds off these crests for a week. The Communists have withstood daily infantry assaults and continuous artillery bombardment.

The Second Division action, in the center of a limited United Nations offensive, was the only significant engagement on the front Wednesday. Yanggu, at the eastern end of Hwachon Reservior, is seven miles north of the 38th Parallel. Censors would not permit correspondents to say how much farther north the battle line is.

Marines Are Stopped

To the east the Second Division, entrenched Reds stopped South Korean marines trying to push out west of the punch bowl. Other South Korean marines patrolled far north of the bowl, roughly 20 miles from the east coast.

North Korean Reds attacked three points on a ridge line dominating the valley. The attacks began before midnight and continued four hours. The Communists finally pulled back. They still hold some parts of the ridgeline.

Elsewhere along the battle front only brief patrol clashes were reported. At one point a small group of Reds infiltrated through UN lines.

UN troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red divisions last month, the UN ground commander reported today, mostly on the eastern front.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet's conservative estimate of at least 26,000 Red casualties covered a period in which action was limited while both sides held truce talks—now broken off.

Van Fleet said that, even after frontline estimates were carefully evaluated and cut down, the figures showed 15,000 Reds killed, 10,000 wounded and more than 1,000 captured.

The pace of Red casualties undoubtedly increased the past few days. Waves of Communists were committed in repeated counterattacks aimed at stalling an allied

City Adopts Law Requiring Notice Of Danger Spots

One Claim for $30,000 Is Presented; Total Is Nearly $60,000—Petition Favored

A new wave of claims against the city ranging from $30,000 to the price of a pair of glasses allegedly snatched by a park monkey, marked last night's Common Council action in adopting a law that will make it harder to collect for injuries suffered in sidewalk falls.

The new law would leave the city open to claim only upon failure of neglect to make repairs after notice of a defective or dangerous condition has been given. It received its second and third readings and was adopted.

A railroad and bus committee report favoring the Third Ward petition for bus service was adopted and a request for $28,000 for the Elizabeth street sewer project was left with the finance committee.

Resolution Referred

Elmer Carney sought the council's assistance in a bid to obtain water service on his Florence street extension property, and a resolution by Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel asking the health and water boards to investigate was referred to both by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly. James J. Carroll, 10th Ward alderman, seconded the resolution.

Carney's plea led to some discussion which ended when Alderman Radel withdrew a motion to be voted upon and substituted the resolution.

Claims Son Injured

Highest of six claims read at last night's session and referred to the corporation counsel was that of James Rundle, Jr., 67 O'Neil street, "an infant under the age of 14 years," for $25,000 for injuries suffered in a mishap at Forsyth Park last May 26, and $5,000 for the boy's father for "loss of services," medical expenses and other damages. A pay boost for all city employes with the money raised by a two-per-cent sales tax, if necessary, is asked in a resolution by the executive committee of the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, Inc., introduced at last night's Common Council session.

The resolution asked for the "same salary increases" sought in the referendum move of the local police and firemen. It was referred to the finance committee.

The resolution:

The Honorable Common Council
of the City of Kingston
City Hall
Kingston, New York

Gentlemen:

The employes of the City of Kingston, members of Ulster Chapter of the Civil Service Employes' Association, Inc., respectfully submit the following resolution adopted at a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chapter:

"It is hereby resolved that the Honorable Common Council of the City of Kingston be asked to provide for all the other City employes, the same salary increases that are being asked for by the police and firemen under the referendum presented to the Common Council for action by the voters of the City of Kingston, at the next General Election."

It is our belief that all city employes be treated alike in salary adjustments, and further that it is the duty of City government to carry out this principle in making such adjustments.

In making this request, consideration has been made for the increased cost of living, which by statement of the Federal Department of Labor, is now at the highest point since 1930, and viewing the prospect of further economic increases in living during the months to come, it will still rise higher.

If the citizens of Kingston, by their vote, approve the referendum for the police and fire de-

President Challenges Red Action

Truman Says Conferenc Will Show Who Seeks Peace, Who in Favor of War

Top Russian Delegate Hears Talk, Refuses Comment

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—The United States and Britain faced an immediate showdown with Russia today over control of the Japanese treaty conference after President Truman challenged the Soviets to make good on their talk of peace by signing the treaty.

The Kremlin's chief delegate, unsmiling Andrei Gromyko, grimly heard the President's challenge at the conference opening last night.

"The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace," Mr. Truman said emphatically. "It offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it."

Gromyko, who had joined briefly in the swelling applause of historic assemblage when Mr. Truman rose to speak, sat with folded hands throughout the talk. Later he told reporters he had no comment.

Speaks With Diplomats

Still later at an American reception for all the delegates, the Soviet deputy foreign minister shook hands with the American President and spoke briefly with some of the diplomats present.

Under British and American plans the conference should end Saturday with the signing of the treaty by all but a few of the 52 delegations present. Privately members of both delegations say Russian tactics may force it to run over into next week.

Publicly Gromyko has said nothing since arriving. But today the hour was at hand for him to speak up and presumably indicate for the first time his strategy—whether to try to wreck or merely protest the British-American sponsored treaty.

Today's task was to organize the conference and set—by majority vote—the rules which will govern its discussions.

Mr. Truman in his speech pictured the Japanese treaty as affording Japan, defeated and broken in World War 2 and reorganized under the six-year American occupation, an opportunity "to win the friendship and trust of other peoples over the years to come." He reminded the Japanese, however, "the United States has not forgotten Pearl Harbor or Bataan." And he made it plain that the softening of its memories will depend on Japan's future conduct.

Speaking in San Francisco's high-vaulted Opera House, where the United Nations was born six years ago, Mr. Truman depicted the treaty now projected as faithful to the UN charter and Japan as a nation now peaceful and democratized.

For the remaking of Japan he paid tribute to the "outstanding leadership" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom he ousted as occu-

Plane Lands Safely

West Hampton, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—A TWA flying instructor, reported overdue on a flight from Beverly, Mass., landed early today at the Suffolk County Air Force Base. Air force officers said that John M. Koltz, 35, accompanied by his wife, landed a few minutes after midnight with the explanation he could not find the small private field on Long Island which was his destination. His small plane was damaged in landing and Koltz chartered another plane and left from a nearby field this morning (about 9 a. m. EST). It was believed he was returning to the Boston area. Early reports were that Koltz had an eight-year-old boy along on his flight, but air force officers said no boy was in the plane.

Sedan-Bus Crash Sends Five to Hospital

Five passengers in this sedan, driven by Stephen Walsh, 22, of Astoria, were injured, three seriously, when, according to State Trooper M. Lisman, it was struck broadside by the Mountain View bus operated by George Gehring of Bridge street, Saugerties, Monday about 4:30 p. m. at the junction of Route 32 and 32A a mile and a half from Palenville. Walsh suffered a possible fracture of the skull, it was reported at Catskill Memorial Hospital. The others, all from the metropolitan area, were also hospitalized there. No arrest was made. (James E. Anner Photo) wards of 750 others at the luncheon thought, too.

President Tosses

The President's campaign-like talk appeared to be as much of a bomb-shell to the party workers as his assertion that new weapons are being developed which would destroy civilization in the event of another all-out war.

"It is fantastic what can happen with the use of new weapons that are now under construction in this country, not only the one which we all fear the most, but there are some weapons which are fantastic in their operation."

Leaves No Doubt

The President didn't disclose what weapons he had in mind, but he left no doubt about the weapons he will hurl against the Republicans in 1952.

Memories of his "Give 'Em Hell" campaign of 1948 were stirred by the President's assertion:

"The Democratic party has a duty to the country, and if I am not badly mistaken the Democratic party is going to keep right on carrying out that duty."

"Next year, 1952"—the President got no further. His audience arose, cheering in campaign fashion as though the election were just around the corner. When the applause subsided, the President told them, "you interrupted me," but he looked happy about it and his grin spread to unusual proportions.

Will Elect President

"We are going to elect a president next year, and that means that we are going to have the opportunity to see that this country stays in the right path," Mr. Truman said.

Everybody laughed when he added later:

"I don't know who the Democratic candidates will be next year, but I do know this: They will be fighters for peace; they will understand what it takes to make America strong; they will fight for all the people—not just a few."

The President cut loose at the Republican opposition. He didn't call the GOP by name, but he attributed to the Democrats a long record of achievements and everybody knew there is only one other major party.

"These anti-defense, anti-control, anti-everything people, (those who oppose the Democratic policies) are the same ones who have been against everything we have been doing in this country for the last 20 years to improve the conditions for the farmer, for labor and for the average family," the President said.

To Fill Medical Jobs

Examinations to fill four types of medical positions in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C., are to be held in the near future, it has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, and all information concerning them may be obtained from William P. Barry, local civil service clerk, at the main post office. The exams will be for rotating intern, psychiatric resident; surgical resident and general practice resident.

The National Geographic Society says the New England sturgeon catch fell from 29,000 to 5,000 pounds between 1919 and 1935.

Columbia County Jury Clears Two

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Anetha L. Radewitz, accused of the fatal shooting of a game protector, has been cleared by a Columbia county grand jury.

The jury returned six indictments yesterday. But, it decided not to indict the 35-year-old Chatham Center woman.

It also decided not to indict Robert Reed, 40-year-old Negro bricklayer who killed his brother, Phineas C. Reed, 38, on July 14.

Mrs. Radewitz had been charged with second-degree murder.

She contended she accidentally shot Thomas J. Hall, Jr., 31, of Valatie on the porch of an empty farmhouse last Jan. 31, when he was teaching her how to fire a shotgun. She claimed Hall walked into the line of fire.

Reed had been charged with first-degree manslaughter. He said he shot his brother in self defense at their home at Newton Hook, six miles south of here.

Plane Lands Safely

West Hampton, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—A TWA flying instructor, reported overdue on a flight from Beverly, Mass., landed early today at the Suffolk County Air Force Base. Air force officers said that John M. Koltz, 35, accompanied by his wife, landed a few minutes after midnight with the explanation he could not find the small private field on Long Island which was his destination. His small plane was damaged in landing and Koltz chartered another plane and left from a nearby field this morning (about 9 a. m. EST). It was believed he was returning to the Boston area. Early reports were that Koltz had an eight-year-old boy along on his flight, but air force officers said no boy was in the plane.

Sedan-Bus Crash Sends Five to Hospital

Five passengers in this sedan, driven by Stephen Walsh, 22, of Astoria, were injured, three seriously, when, according to State Trooper M. Lisman, it was struck broadside by the Mountain View bus operated by George Gehring of Bridge street, Saugerties, Monday about 4:30 p. m. at the junction of Route 32 and 32A a mile and a half from Palenville. Walsh suffered a possible fracture of the skull, it was reported at Catskill Memorial Hospital. The others, all from the metropolitan area, were also hospitalized there. No arrest was made. (James E. Anner Photo) wards of 750 others at the luncheon thought, too.

The President's campaign-like talk appeared to be as much of a bomb-shell to the party workers as his assertion that new weapons are being developed which would destroy civilization in the event of another all-out war.

"It is fantastic what can happen with the use of new weapons that are now under construction in this country, not only the one which we all fear the most, but there are some weapons which are fantastic in their operation."

Leaves No Doubt

The President didn't disclose what weapons he had in mind, but he left no doubt about the weapons he will hurl against the Republicans in 1952.

Memories of his "Give 'Em Hell" campaign of 1948 were stirred by the President's assertion:

"The Democratic party has a duty to the country, and if I am not badly mistaken the Democratic party is going to keep right on carrying out that duty."

"Next year, 1952"—the President got no further. His audience arose, cheering in campaign fashion as though the election were just around the corner. When the applause subsided, the President told them, "you interrupted me," but he looked happy about it and his grin spread to unusual proportions.

Will Elect President

"We are going to elect a president next year, and that means that we are going to have the opportunity to see that this country stays in the right path," Mr. Truman said.

Everybody laughed when he added later:

"I don't know who the Democratic candidates will be next year, but I do know this: They will be fighters for peace; they will understand what it takes to make America strong; they will fight for all the people—not just a few."

The President cut loose at the Republican opposition. He didn't call the GOP by name, but he attributed to the Democrats a long record of achievements and everybody knew there is only one other major party.

"These anti-defense, anti-control, anti-everything people, (those who oppose the Democratic policies) are the same ones who have been against everything we have been doing in this country for the last 20 years to improve the conditions for the farmer, for labor and for the average family," the President said.

To Fill Medical Jobs

Examinations to fill four types of medical positions in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, D. C., are to be held in the near future, it has been announced by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, and all information concerning them may be obtained from William P. Barry, local civil service clerk, at the main post office. The exams will be for rotating intern, psychiatric resident; surgical resident and general practice resident.

Columbia County Jury Clears Two

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Anetha L. Radewitz, accused of the fatal shooting of a game protector, has been cleared by a Columbia county grand jury.

The jury returned six indictments yesterday. But, it decided not to indict the 35-year-old Chatham Center woman.

It also decided not to indict Robert Reed, 40-year-old Negro bricklayer who killed his brother, Phineas C. Reed, 38, on July 14.

Mrs. Radewitz had been charged with second-degree murder.

She contended she accidentally shot Thomas J. Hall, Jr., 31, of Valatie on the porch of an empty farmhouse last Jan. 31, when he was teaching her how to fire a shotgun. She claimed Hall walked into the line of fire.

Reed had been charged with first-degree manslaughter. He said he shot his brother in self defense at their home at Newton Hook, six miles south of here.

GREEN LIGHT ON FOOD

In the interests of a clean-food campaign, the British Ministry of Food rigged up a model of a street containing a number of stores and cafes, using different kinds of food packaging and methods of caring for and serving food. With the idea of helping visitors to remember which were safe and which were dangerous, lights on the fronts of the shops flashed green for safe food, red for that which might be contaminated.

For some reason this calls to mind the fact that hoboes have a system of markings by which they indicate the likelihood of good handouts in a neighborhood, even in specific houses. One kind of mark means that a nourishing sandwich is a sure thing; another indicates that a strong-jawed dog is likely to take the seat out a hobo's pants. There are many other marks which the knights of the road find useful.

Why could not more affluent tourists also have signals by which they could tell each other, discreetly, the chances of getting a good meal here or there? No problem is more perplexing for the traveler. There could be marks to tell the stranger which place lives up to the menu and which uses it only as a come-on, which place will have a waitress ready to bring instant comfort and refreshment to the weary pilgrim and which one lets the customers do the waiting. With some such system to assure nourishment and good humor three times a day, summer touring could acquire certain aspects of pleasure.

One good way for a young matron to hang on to her wedding ring, we are told, is to dip it three times a day in dishwater.

THE VACATION SOUVENIR

Few people can spend a vacation away from home without returning with some souvenir of their travel. It may range in size and shape from an Indian tomahawk to a replica of the Taj Mahal carved from solid ivory. It may be priced anywhere from a time to a figure which reminds one of a congressional appropriation.

The souvenir is very often something worthless in itself which the self-respecting householder will later hide in the recesses of his attic with a shudder. It can take the form of a fish mounted on a board which can well be a source of contention between a husband's pride and a wife's idea of what looks good in the parlor next to grandmother's picture.

The children are likely to come home from summer camp with treasures of their own. Parents are lucky if these are inanimate objects which can be stored in a cupboard or drawer. It is very possible that the youngster's souvenir will be some sort of wiggling creature which could cause neighborhood consternation.

Some souvenirs can be defined as things which would be ignored if they were found in the stores in one's home town. The only way a local merchant would be able to move them would be to sell them at a fancy price to people from out of town who were on vacation.

EUROPE'S NEW ERA

There is more than meets the eye in the steps taken to form a Western European army. Its creation might have a profound effect on the governments of the participating nations. Pledged to keep up its share of the new force, each country would lose control of the corresponding amount of its budget. This might be as much as one-third of even one-half of the total annual appropriation.

If this seems objectionable to some, there are compensations. The rival nations would have an interest in having their neighbors prosperous. If Italy, for example, could not meet its share of the cost of the international army, the rest would have to make up the amount. They would prefer under these circumstances to see Italy in sound financial condition. This should make for friendlier, mutually helpful international relations.

Thus there is a prospect that the formation of this defense force will mark a new era in European history, an era of cooperative attitudes never before generally found on the Continent.

Charity which begins at home too often stays there.

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

TABER VS. COUSINS

John Taber, of New York, has been a member of the House of Representatives about 30 years and is regarded as an extremely shrewd manipulator of figures. When the Republicans are in power, he looks after taxes and appropriations.

Norman Cousins is the editor of "The Saturday Review of Literature," published for the intellectual elite.

The State Department sent Norman Cousins to India to do propaganda for the United States in that country. It was a little difficult for anyone to know why, of all citizens, the State Department selected Norman Cousins, who is not an expert on India or any such matter. Anyhow, Cousins got $4,550.92 for a 75-day trip, out of which he also got material for several articles in "The Saturday Review of Literature," an interview with Nehru which may be worth something, if anybody is interested, and which is to come out as a $2.00 book.

So John Taber asked the State Department what it was all about, sending a letter on May 11 and getting a reply on May 28, which is slow going for a public agency. Mr. Edward W. Barrett said in his reply that Norman Cousins was the first American lecturer to be sent out to explain the United States to the ignorant, and that the State Department plans to send out some more such.

John Taber was not satisfied because he could not find any reason for picking Cousins for such work, so on June 1, he wrote Mr. Barrett again and got a reply on June 27. Taber wanted to see some of Cousins's speeches, but none were available as Cousins only spoke from notes and outlines.

Mr. Barrett apparently had forgotten the order of December 6, 1950, on account of which General MacArthur was dismissed, the order forbidding any American officials to discuss American policy without State Department approval. How can the State Department approve what does not exist?

So John Taber wrote some more on July 5, which was answered on July 17, and again on July 11 and got an answer on July 19, which shows a greater speed.

Taber gave the dates because he wanted to say this:

"I cite this two-months' ordeal of trying to get answers to four letters from the State Department as an example of why the whole propaganda program which the State Department is running is a flop. It moves with the speed of molasses on a cold day in Maine. The Department of Public Affairs is so wound up in red tape, paper-pushing, memo-writing and bureaucracy that it is no wonder it gets nothing done. You have heard speech after speech in this House decrying our Voice of America as a boring flop which runs far behind events and which, in no sense of the word, could be described as an alert, up-to-the-minute outfit."

The State Department sent Representative Taber some clippings, but among them was an intra-office memorandum which gives the impression of doctoring at least one clip. Maybe that was an accident.

But from the clippings it would appear that instead of doing propaganda for the United States, Cousins did a job for the World Federalists in India. The United States has never had a formal policy endorsing the ideas of the World Federalists or Union now or the Dukhobors or anybody like that. It is, therefore, impossible to understand why on a $4,550.92 trip to India to do propaganda for the United States, Cousins should have devoted his time to a minor sectarian movement, which does not represent the United States.

Mr. Taber quotes from a newspaper in Colombo, Ceylon, to the effect that Cousins said:

"I believe that it is desperately necessary to have a world-wide government in which nations could maintain their own institutions, accepting a high sovereignty in matters concerned with the security of the people. The world federal government is the fastest growing movement in the United States."

Now, obviously, in the year 1951, none of this was accurate and the last sentence is highly exaggerated.

All of this amounts to nothing. What is important is that propaganda, as a weapon of war, is being badly handled by our government. Apparently, there is not only a lack of efficient direction but there seems to be no purpose. This is unfortunate at a time when Soviet Russia is so efficient in its use of propaganda devices. To summarize: Propaganda requires intelligent direction focussed on an objective.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

EXAMINATION OF LOWER BOWEL

The symptoms of cancer in the stomach may come on so quietly that the individual does not suspect any trouble, blaming any slight symptoms present on gas, constipation or nervousness. Sometimes a cancer remains quiet for months; by the time definite symptoms appear it may be too late for operation.

Another part of the digestive tract in which various ailments may be present without the patient suspecting them is the large intestine (lower bowel or colon).

In the American Journal of Surgery, Dr. V. T. Young reports a series of 500 patients who had no complaints as far as the lower bowel was concerned yet 138 (27.6%) were found to have a lesion (disease of some type). Some of these had admitted no symptoms but on questioning confessed that symptoms probably had been present. Some had what they called sight symptoms but felt that everybody had similar symptoms so disregarded them. Persons with small hemorrhoids (piles) were not included in the 500 reported; those with large hemorrhoids were among the 500 cases. There were 64 with large hemorrhoids in the 138 with lesions. There were 44 with polyps, nine with diverticula (little pouches or pockets in the wall of the lower bowel), pruritis (severe itching) in seven, cancer of the bowel in five but fortunately no metastases (spreading to other parts of the body). Other conditions present in the balance of the 138 were prolapse of rectum (lining of rectum protruding from anus).

Notwithstanding all the lesions present, all these patients were alive when the report was written and showed no evidence of the lesions returning.

What do we learn from the above facts? The early discovery of these lesions with their removal or correction means that these patients have a much more favorable chance for a long life than if these lesions had not been discovered until after the onset of symptoms.

Many of us have regular examinations, including X-rays, of heart, lungs, stomach, liver, but do not bother about the lower bowel which we think of as just a reservoir for wastes from food and so not an active or important organ.

When we realize that in a series of 500 cases where the individual had no symptoms whatsoever, lesions were found in more than 25 per cent and know that this discovery prevented much illness and perhaps early death, it might be worthwhile for all of us to at least have a barium enema (with use of X-rays). A barium enema is not expensive.

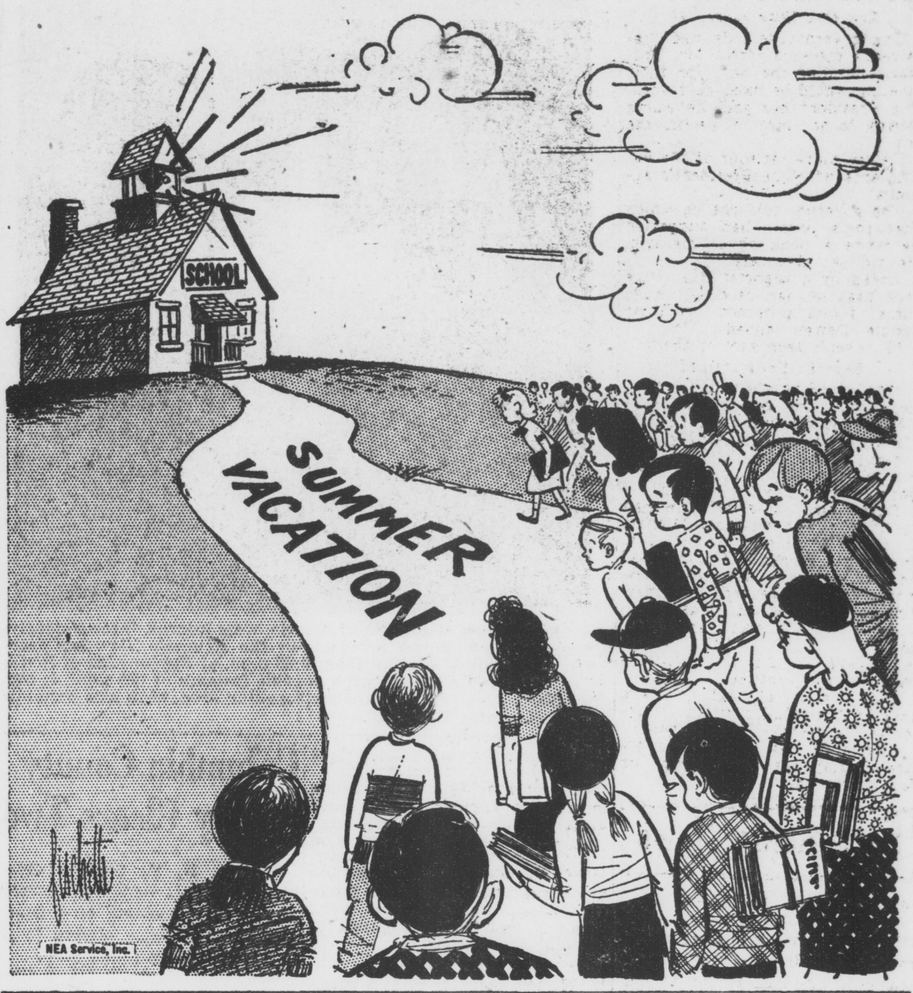
Spiritless Youth Rally



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Corporal Charles Francisco, with the U. S. Army's Seventh Division in Korea. Corporal Francisco, a native of Urbana, Illinois, was inducted in September 1950, and sent to Korea as a machine gunner shortly thereafter.)

With the 17th Infantry Regiment, Seventh Infantry Division, U. S. Army in Korea—What is it like in Korea? What is it like to the men who are here? I think of three things around me—mountains, loneliness and death. I think of rotation and home and the future. And I know that those things are in the minds and bones of most infantrymen in Korea.

As a soldier lies in his foxhole and tries to peer through the mist that covers the top of a mountain he thinks of many things. This is the war in Korea as I see it.

It seems to me that civilian writers covering the war have not made enough mention of the hills. At any rate, the hills have a major bearing on the job of the individual soldier and the entire tactical situation.

Put yourself in the place of any man here. You're no military superman, you're just an average guy carrying around 50-60 pounds of equipment on your back. Your job is to climb, sometimes two and three thousand feet almost straight up, find the enemy, and either kill him or drive him off. There are no paths or footholds so you usually are forced to walk the ridge lines. That puts you right in the enemy sights. It's just a matter of when he decides to open up.

It seems to me that the fighting in Korea is much like the island warfare in the Pacific. Here each hill is an island fortress. Artillery and air soften them up, and then the infantry must go it alone.

Mountains and weather . . . enemies which have proved as effective against the UN forces as the Reds themselves. Last winter it was cold and snow. You've heard about that. So far this summer the temperature has averaged in the humid eighties. When it isn't hot, it's raining . . . steady downpours for two and three days straight.

It's a strange war here in Korea. It's a strange soldier we fight. Reports from intelligence speak of such things as "the Chinese may be waiting for a full moon" or "expect an attack if we get three straight days of rain." The Chinese are superstitious. They frighten easily and they fight fanatically.

Every soldier dreads nightfall. The Reds love to infiltrate at night and launch wild whistle-blowing banzai attacks. The enemy uses his artillery most at night. Unlike most wars there are no clear cut front lines in Korea. The enemy can be any place at any time.

A combat infantryman doesn't have much time to think about the grand philosophy of war. But the American soldier is no machine. He walks hand-in-hand with death. No matter how brave or patriotic or religious he might be he can't forget that each minute could well be his last.

I remember the first man I saw killed. We had been joking about how easy we had it. Then the artillery came in. He was dead. The same shell was close enough to have gotten me but it didn't. Incidents like these encourage the foxhole faith you read about in civilian life.

When you're a part of a war the casualty list isn't just a row of numbers. Every figure is a man who wanted to live and do something with his life just as you do. The next digit could be you.

Then there's the matter of heroes. Before I entered combat I thought heroism was a rare and individual thing. Long ago that was true. But today any man who performs his duties well under fire is a hero for my money. A knight of old may have singlehandedly slain dragons but a modern soldier cannot do hand-to-hand battle with shrapnel.

At least one good thing comes of war . . . teamwork. I don't mean the military teamwork of infantry, artillery, air, etc. Even more significant is the comradeship of men in battle. In my own regiment (17th Infantry) racial or religious prejudice is unheard of. A man soon learns to appraise the guy beside him by his courage under fire. That's where men are made.

I sometimes wonder if war isn't more of a personal fight than it seems. A man seldom has time to consider world ideals. It usually narrows down to kill or be killed. There is no pretense among men in battle. The will to live tears away the protective veil we sometimes wear in civilization. Everyone is afraid at times. But most men fight fear as they fight the enemy.

Korea today is not only a deadly place but also a lonely one. There are no cities, as we know them, in the battle zone. Only hills and wilderness. The infantry would thrill to see such simple things as telephone poles, paved streets, brick buildings and stores.

Many men now in the front lines were only recently removed from civilian life by the draft. They dream about getting back to the work they love. They worry about the long delay in their chosen careers. They wonder how it will affect their future.

Soldiers, as always, have their gripes. Rotation is wonderful, but sometimes it seems awfully slow around. When they see stateside papers with Korean news mentioned briefly on page 3 they wonder if the people back home know or care why this war is being fought.

The men here know why they're fighting. I was amazed when I first arrived in Korea at the difference in attitude about the war. Sure you hear "why not give them the place; it isn't fit to live in anyway." But when you talk seriously with these same men, most of them will admit they were only letting off steam.

After the last big allied offensive we disvovered we can defeat the Communists no matter how many men they have. We threw back everything the Reds had to offer and we had them running when the cease-fire talks opened. We, as no one else, pray for peace. But if it doesn't come we can still whip them.

One thing is certain. Every man here has learned the horror and waste of war. We're happy it's happening to us instead of those we love. Our only hope is, that in waging this isolated war, we have proved to our potential enemies that it will not pay to test our strength in our own backyard.

Becomes Citizen

New York, Sept. 5 (AP) — Mrs. Anna Maria Baruch, Dutch-born wife of Dr. Herman Baruch, former U. S. ambassador to The Netherlands, became a naturalized American citizen yesterday in Brooklyn Federal Court. The 37-year-old sister-in-law of financier Bernard M. Baruch was a baroness when she married the 77-year-old former envoy about two years ago. Her three children by a former marriage automatically become American citizens. Today in Washington

Potent Forecast: Reds Will Keep UN Armies Bogged Down for Years in Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 5 — Everything seems so simple nowadays in the attempts of the government here to explain away the breakdown in the cease-fire negotiations in Korea.

It's all just a ruse—so the official propaganda says—to blackmail the United States at San Francisco into making changes in the peace treaty with Japan. Or else, the official suggestions are, it's just a build-up by the Communists to bring on a new offensive in due time.

The trouble with these explanations is that very soon they must inevitably evaporate with the passage of time, and they ignore the fact that Russia has known for some time there were to be no changes made in the peace treaty with Japan.

In a matter of days the San Francisco meeting will be over. The armies in Korea will be just about where they were before. There will have been no blackmailing to get changes in the treaty—just a lot of Russian talk on a Russian-made forum.

Truce parleys, of course, will be resumed in Korea then, because the Communists know that the United Nations want to quit fighting. This is a war that is not being fought to a finish like any other war, and the Communists know they can keep up the bickering over cease-fire terms indefinitely and the UN will be ready just the same at any time to make an agreement.

But the armistice agreement, when signed, will thereupon run up against a planned series of episodes charging "violations." This has been the pattern in all the numerous armistice talks that used to go on between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalists on the mainland of China.

What it boils down to is the fact that UN armies will be bogged down in Korea for months and perhaps years, and there will be no decision. The Communists, after some kind of armistice agreement is signed, will begin their second chapter of "peace" techniques. This will start with a demand that all "foreign troops" be withdrawn from Korea. Under such a program the UN forces would have to go thousands and thousands of miles to their home bases. The Communist Chinese would retreat just a few score or hundred miles across the Yalu river.

Nobody has come forth with any plan to checkmate a recurrence of aggression which could then occur at any time. The real reason is that, despite professions of belief in "collective security," the European nations are not too much concerned with what happens in the Far East and would just as soon let it drift from episode to episode without going to the mat with the Communists in a finish fight. The United States feels bound to do what its allies want to do, even though America has made the primary sacrifice in Korea of both men and money.

A status quo or stalemate, such as the Europeans want, will not, of course, be conceded to them by the Moscow regime. The Russians will select their own battleground and, since they know the allies will not engage in all-out war in the Pacific—the MacArthur hearings told them bluntly how the President and secretary of state feel about all-out war—the opportunity for harassment will not be lost to the Russians. They will concentrate on the Far East.

The latest discovery by the U.N. command, which comes in the form of a bulletin from General Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo, is that all along the Communists, through their aggression in Korea, have been aiming at Japan. Anyone with a sense of strategic values and a global map would have found that out long ago by reading Far Eastern history. But the situation grows more acute now. For, with the signing of a treaty of peace with Japan, American and other occupation armies will have to be diminished. Communistic agitation inside Japan will increase.

The various mutual security pacts being signed with the nations of the Far Pacific are important only on paper. When it comes to invoking them and using force to secure respect for them against aggressors, the same old arguments will be put forth—namely, that it is unwise to put the bulk of our forces into a Pacific war, that Europe is primary and that hence no large-scale war can be fought in the Far East. This is "duck soup" for a Russian strategist. Why, therefore, should he be in any hurry to clean up Korea with a cease-fire or a peace of substance?

The answer may be more apparent 14 months hence, when the American people will be voting on the wisdom or unwisdom of the policies pursued in Korea. For our troops will not be back home by then either.

Washington, Sept. 4 — All the fuss and furor about the public comment by Justice William O. Douglas of the United State Supreme Court that it would be a good idea to extend diplomatic recogntion to Red China seems a bit incomprehensible. It's a mistaken view that he holds, but he is a habitual dissenter anyway.

Really, all that the justice said was being said by the administration and a lot of other people about 18 months ago—and, indeed, the British government even today, despite the Chinese aggression in Korea, maintains its diplomatic recognition of Red China.

Justice Douglas, however, didn't recommend recognition because of any friendliness for the Communist cause but because he thinks the maneuver of recognition would pull the Red Chinese away from Moscow.

This sort of thing has been christened "Titoism" in the parlance of diplomacy because Tito still remains a Communist and yet is at swords' points with Soviet Russia and now is being given financial and military assistance as an ally even though his ideological habits remain the same.

But, it will be said, Justice Douglas shouldn't have said anything on such a delicate subject. After all, it wasn't so long ago when the administration was dismissing General MacArthur for reasons connected with his tendency to speak his mind freely on public questions related to the Far East. The administration said then that the world must not hear "two voices" on the subject of foreign policy—the voice of the Department of State and the voice of other officials in our government.

It will be argued that, of course, the judicial branch of the government is a separate and independent branch and not connected with the executive branch. But everybody abroad should have known also that General MacArthur was just a part of the military department and that the State Department alone could make diplomatic policies.

The statement by Justice Douglas will nevertheless carry a good deal of weight abroad because the Supreme Court has tremendous prestige there. Likewise the words of Mr. Douglas who is the idol of the "left wing" in America will be eagerly hailed by the Bevan "left wing" in the British Labor party as corroboration of the viewpoint held by those who dissent from Mr. Attlee in his willingness to go along with the United States for the present on Far Eastern policy.

The demand that comes from Representative Woodruff of Michigan, Republican, that President Truman should remove Justice Douglas isn't as farfetched as it seems. The popular impression is that federal judges may hold office for life and cannot be removed unless they are impeached by Congress for bad judicial conduct. But the constitution doesn't say anything about judicial conduct or life tenure. It simply says justices may hold office "during good behavior."

What does "good behavior" mean? It could mean discretion and silence on controversial questions. It could mean a willingness to let the executive branch of government do the talking on diplomatic issues. But conversely it could mean that it is "bad behavior" for a federal judge to speak freely on any subject. That certainly doesn't sound logical in a country which boasts freedom of speech. But to punish military men for expressing honest convictions and telling the truth under oath to congressional committees doesn't sound logical either. Yet it is done—and it is applauded enthusiastically by the "left wing" in America.

Maybe this is only another bit of evidence that the true liberals of today are rare among the "left wingers" and that "left wingers" nowadays are for the most part "coercionists" who want to penalize or intimidate those who express unpopular views even if this means abolishing or whittling down the congressional immunity guaranteed by the constitution.

GREEN LIGHT ON FOOD

In the interests of a clean-food campaign, the British Ministry of Food rigged up a model of a street containing a number of stores and cafes, using different kinds of food packaging and methods of caring for and serving food. With the idea of helping visitors to remember which were safe and which were dangerous, lights on the fronts of the shops flashed green for safe food, red for that which might be contaminated.

For some reason this calls to mind the fact that hoboes have a system of markings by which they indicate the likelihood of good handouts in a neighborhood, even in specific houses. One kind of mark means that a nourishing sandwich is a sure thing; another indicates that a strong-jawed dog is likely to take the seat out a hobo's pants. There are many other marks which the knights of the road find useful.

Why could not more affluent tourists also have signals by which they could tell each other, discreetly, the chances of getting a good meal here or there? No problem is more perplexing for the traveler. There could be marks to tell the stranger which place lives up to the menu and which uses it only as a come-on, which place will have a waitress ready to bring instant comfort and refreshment to the weary pilgrim and which one lets the customers do the waiting. With some such system to assure nourishment and good humor three times a day, summer touring could acquire certain aspects of pleasure.

One good way for a young matron to hang on to her wedding ring, we are told, is to dip it three times a day in dishwater.

THE VACATION SOUVENIR

Few people can spend a vacation away from home without returning with some souvenir of their travel. It may range in size and shape from an Indian tomahawk to a replica of the Taj Mahal carved from solid ivory. It may be priced anywhere from a time to a figure which reminds one of a congressional appropriation.

The souvenir is very often something worthless in itself which the self-respecting householder will later hide in the recesses of his attic with a shudder. It can take the form of a fish mounted on a board which can well be a source of contention between a husband's pride and a wife's idea of what looks good in the parlor next to grandmother's picture.

The children are likely to come home from summer camp with treasures of their own. Parents are lucky if these are inanimate objects which can be stored in a cupboard or drawer. It is very possible that the youngster's souvenir will be some sort of wiggling creature which could cause neighborhood consternation.

Some souvenirs can be defined as things which would be ignored if they were found in the stores in one's home town. The only way a local merchant would be able to move them would be to sell them at a fancy price to people from out of town who were on vacation.

EUROPE'S NEW ERA

There is more than meets the eye in the steps taken to form a Western European army. Its creation might have a profound effect on the governments of the participating nations. Pledged to keep up its share of the new force, each country would lose control of the corresponding amount of its budget. This might be as much as one-third of even one-half of the total annual appropriation.

If this seems objectionable to some, there are compensations. The rival nations would have an interest in having their neighbors prosperous. If Italy, for example, could not meet its share of the cost of the international army, the rest would have to make up the amount. They would prefer under these circumstances to see Italy in sound financial condition. This should make for friendlier, mutually helpful international relations.

Thus there is a prospect that the formation of this defense force will mark a new era in European history, an era of cooperative attitudes never before generally found on the Continent.

Charity which begins at home too often stays there.

'These Days'

TABER VS. COUSINS

John Taber, of New York, has been a member of the House of Representatives about 30 years and is regarded as an extremely shrewd manipulator of figures. When the Republicans are in power, he looks after taxes and appropriations.

Norman Cousins is the editor of "The Saturday Review of Literature," published for the intellectual elite.

The State Department sent Norman Cousins to India to do propaganda for the United States in that country. It was a little difficult for anyone to know why, of all citizens, the State Department selected Norman Cousins, who is not an expert on India or any such matter. Anyhow, Cousins got $4,550.92 for a 75-day trip, out of which he also got material for several articles in "The Saturday Review of Literature," an interview with Nehru which may be worth something, if anybody is interested, and which is to come out as a $2.00 book.

So John Taber asked the State Department what it was all about, sending a letter on May 11 and getting a reply on May 28, which is slow going for a public agency. Mr. Edward W. Barrett said in his reply that Norman Cousins was the first American lecturer to be sent out to explain the United States to the ignorant, and that the State Department plans to send out some more such.

John Taber was not satisfied because he could not find any reason for picking Cousins for such work, so on June 1, he wrote Mr. Barrett again and got a reply on June 27. Taber wanted to see some of Cousins's speeches, but none were available as Cousins only spoke from notes and outlines.

Mr. Barrett apparently had forgotten the order of December 6, 1950, on account of which General MacArthur was dismissed, the order forbidding any American official to discuss American policy without State Department approval. How can the State Department approve what does not exist?

So John Taber wrote some more on July 5, which was answered on July 17, and again on July 11 and got an answer on July 19, which shows a greater speed.

Taber gave the dates because he wanted to say this:

"I cite this two-months' ordeal of trying to get answers to four letters from the State Department as an example of why the whole propaganda program which the State Department is running is a flop. It moves with the speed of molasses on a cold day in Maine. The Department of Public Affairs is so wound up in red tape, paper-pushing, memo-writing and bureaucracy that it is no wonder it gets nothing done. You have heard speech after speech in this House decrying our Voice of America as a boring flop which runs far behind events and which, in no sense of the word, could be described as an alert, up-to-the-minute outfit."

The State Department sent Representative Taber some clippings, but among them was an intra-office memorandum which gives the impression of doctoring at least one clip. Maybe that was an accident.

But from the clippings it would appear that instead of doing propaganda for the United States, Cousins did a job for the World Federalists in India. The United States has never had a formal policy endorsing the ideas of the World Federalists or Union now or the Dukhobors or anybody like that. It is, therefore, impossible to understand why on a $4,550.92 trip to India to do propaganda for the United States, Cousins should have devoted his time to a minor sectarian movement, which does not represent the United States.

Mr. Taber quotes from a newspaper in Colombo, Ceylon, to the effect that Cousins said:

"I believe that it is desperately necessary to have a world-wide government in which nations could maintain their own institutions, accepting a high sovereignty in matters concerned with the security of the people. The world federal government is the fastest growing movement in the United States."

Now, obviously, in the year 1951, none of this was accurate and the last sentence is highly exaggerated.

All of this amounts to nothing. What is important is that propaganda, as a weapon of war, is being badly handled by our government. Apparently, there is not only a lack of efficient direction but there seems to be no purpose. This is unfortunate at a time when Soviet Russia is so efficient in its use of propaganda devices. To summarize: Propaganda requires intelligent direction focussed on an objective.

That Body of Yours

EXAMINATION OF LOWER BOWEL

The symptoms of cancer in the stomach may come on so quietly that the individual does not suspect any trouble, blaming any slight symptoms present on gas, constipation or nervousness. Sometimes a cancer remains quiet for months; by the time definite symptoms appear it may be too late for operation.

Another part of the digestive tract in which various ailments may be present without the patient suspecting them is the large intestine (lower bowel or colon).

In the American Journal of Surgery, Dr. V. T. Young reports a series of 500 patients who had no complaints as far as the lower bowel was concerned yet 138 (27.6%) were found to have a lesion (disease of some type). Some of these had admitted no symptoms but on questioning confessed that symptoms probably had been present. Some had what they called sight symptoms but felt that everybody had similar symptoms so disregarded them. Persons with small hemorrhoids (piles) were not included in the 500 reported; those with large hemorrhoids were among the 500 cases. There were 64 with large hemorrhoids in the 138 with lesions. There were 44 with polyps, nine with diverticula (little pouches or pockets in the wall of the lower bowel), pruritis (severe itching) in seven, cancer of the bowel in five but fortunately no metastases (spreading to other parts of the body). Other conditions present in the balance of the 138 were prolapse of rectum (lining of rectum protruding from anus).

Notwithstanding all the lesions present, all these patients were alive when the report was written and showed no evidence of the lesions returning.

What do we learn from the above facts? The early discovery of these lesions with their removal or correction means that these patients have a much more favorable chance for a long life than if these lesions had not been discovered until after the onset of symptoms.

Many of us have regular examinations, including X-rays, of heart, lungs, stomach, liver, but do not bother about the lower bowel which we think of as just a reservoir for wastes from food and so not an active or important organ.

When we realize that in a series of 500 cases where the individual had no symptoms whatsoever, lesions were found in more than 25 per cent and know that this discovery prevented much illness and perhaps early death, it might be worthwhile for all of us to at least have a barium enema (with use of X-rays). A barium enema is not expensive.

Spiritless Youth Rally

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Corporal Charles Francisco, with the U. S. Army's Seventh Division in Korea. Corporal Francisco, a native of Urbana, Illinois, was inducted in September 1950, and sent to Korea as a machine gunner shortly thereafter.)

With the 17th Infantry Regiment, Seventh Infantry Division, U. S. Army in Korea—What is it like in Korea? What is it like to the men who are here? I think of three things around me—mountains, loneliness and death. I think of rotation and home and the future. And I know that those things are in the minds and bones of most infantrymen in Korea.

As a soldier lies in his foxhole and tries to peer through the mist that covers the top of a mountain he thinks of many things. This is the war in Korea as I see it.

It seems to me that civilian writers covering the war have not made enough mention of the hills. At any rate, the hills have a major bearing on the job of the individual soldier and the entire tactical situation.

Put yourself in the place of any man here. You're no military superman, you're just an average guy carrying around 50-60 pounds of equipment on your back. Your job is to climb, sometimes two and three thousand feet almost straight up, find the enemy, and either kill him or drive him off. There are no paths or footholds so you usually are forced to walk the ridge lines. That puts you right in the enemy sights. It's just a matter of when he decides to open up.

It seems to me that the fighting in Korea is much like the island warfare in the Pacific. Here each hill is an island fortress. Artillery and air soften them up, and then the infantry must go it alone.

Mountains and weather . . . enemies which have proved as effective against the UN forces as the Reds themselves. Last winter it was cold and snow. You've heard about that. So far this summer the temperature has averaged in the humid eighties. When it isn't hot, it's raining . . . steady downpours for two and three days straight.

It's a strange war here in Korea. It's a strange soldier we fight. Reports from intelligence speak of such things as "the Chinese may be waiting for a full moon" or "expect an attack if we get three straight days of rain." The Chinese are superstitious. They frighten easily and they fight fanatically.

Every soldier dreads nightfall. The Reds love to infiltrate at night and launch wild whistle-blowing banzai attacks. The enemy uses his artillery most at night. Unlike most wars there are no clear cut front lines in Korea. The enemy can be any place at any time.

A combat infantryman doesn't have much time to think about the grand philosophy of war. But the American soldier is no machine. He walks hand-in-hand with death. No matter how brave or patriotic or religious he might be he can't forget that each minute could well be his last.

I remember the first man I saw killed. We had been joking about how easy we had it. Then the artillery came in. He was dead. The same shell was close enough to have gotten me but it didn't. Incidents like these encourage the foxhole faith you read about in civilian life.

When you're a part of a war the casualty list isn't just a row of numbers. Every figure is a man who wanted to live and do something with his life just as you do. The next digit could be you.

Then there's the matter of heroes. Before I entered combat I thought heroism was a rare and individual thing. Long ago that was true. But today any man who performs his duties well under fire is a hero for my money. A knight of old may have singlehandedly slain dragons but a modern soldier cannot do hand-to-hand battle with shrapnel.

At least one good thing comes of war . . . teamwork. I don't mean the military teamwork of infantry, artillery, air, etc. Even more significant is the comradeship of men in battle. In my own regiment (17th Infantry) racial or religious prejudice is unheard of. A man soon learns to appraise the guy beside him by his courage under fire. That's where men are made.

I sometimes wonder if war isn't more of a personal fight than it seems. A man seldom has time to consider world ideals. It usually narrows down to kill or be killed. There is no pretense among men in battle. The will to live tears away the protective veil we sometimes wear in civilization. Everyone is afraid at times. But most men fight fear as they fight the enemy.

Korea today is not only a deadly place but also a lonely one. There are no cities, as we know them, in the battle zone. Only hills and wilderness. The infantry would thrill to see such simple things as telephone poles, paved streets, brick buildings and stores.

Many men now in the front lines were only recently removed from civilian life by the draft. They dream about getting back to the work they love. They worry about the long delay in their chosen careers. They wonder how it will affect their future.

Soldiers, as always, have their gripes. Rotation is wonderful, but sometimes it seems awfully slow around. When they see stateside papers with Korean news mentioned briefly on page 3 they wonder if the people back home know or care why this war is being fought.

The men here know why they're fighting. I was amazed when I first arrived in Korea at the difference in attitude about the war. Sure you hear "why not give them the place; it isn't fit to live in anyway." But when you talk seriously with these same men, most of them will admit they were only letting off steam.

After the last big allied offensive we disvovered we can defeat the Communists no matter how many men they have. We threw back everything the Reds had to offer and we had them running when the cease-fire talks opened. We; as no one else, pray for peace. But if it doesn't come we can still whip them.

One thing is certain. Every man here has learned the horror and waste of war. We're happy it's happening to us instead of those we love. Our only hope is, that in waging this isolated war, we have proved to our potential enemies that it will not pay to test our strength in our own backyard.

Today in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 5 — Everything seems so simple nowadays in the attempts of the government here to explain away the breakdown in the cease-fire negotiations in Korea.

It's all just a ruse—so the official propaganda says—to blackmail the United States at San Francisco into making changes in the peace treaty with Japan. Or else, the official suggestions are, it's just a build-up by the Communists to bring on a new offensive in due time.

The trouble with these explanations is that very soon they must inevitably evaporate with the passage of time, and they ignore the fact that Russia has known for some time there were to be no changes made in the peace treaty with Japan.

In a matter of days the San Francisco meeting will be over. The armies in Korea will be just about where they were before. There will have been no blackmailing to get changes in the treaty—just a lot of Russian talk on a Russian-made forum.

Truce parleys, of course, will be resumed in Korea then, because the Communists know that the United Nations want to quit fighting. This is a war that is not being fought to a finish like any other war, and the Communists know they can keep up the bickering over cease-fire terms indefinitely and the UN will be ready just the same at any time to make an agreement.

But the armistice agreement, when signed, will thereupon run up against a planned series of episodes charging "violations." This has been the pattern in all the numerous armistice talks that used to go on between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalists on the mainland of China.

What it boils down to is the fact that UN armies will be bogged down in Korea for months and perhaps years, and there will be no decision. The Communists, after some kind of armistice agreement is signed, will begin their second chapter of "peace" techniques. This will start with a demand that all "foreign troops" be withdrawn from Korea. Under such a program the UN forces would have to go thousands and thousands of miles to their home bases. The Communist Chinese would retreat just a few score or hundred miles across the Yalu river.

Nobody has come forth with any plan to checkmate a recurrence of aggression which could then occur at any time. The real reason is that, despite professions of belief in "collective security," the European nations are not too much concerned with what happens in the Far East and would just as soon let it drift from episode to episode without going to the mat with the Communists in a finish fight. The United States feels bound to do what its allies want to do, even though America has made the primary sacrifice in Korea of both men and money.

A status quo or stalemate, such as the Europeans want, will not, of course, be conceded to them by the Moscow regime. The Russians will select their own battleground and, since they know the allies will not engage in all-out war in the Pacific—the MacArthur hearings told them bluntly how the President and secretary of state feel about all-out war—the opportunity for harassment will not be lost to the Russians. They will concentrate on the Far East.

The latest discovery by the U.N. command, which comes in the form of a bulletin from General Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo, is that all along the Communists, through their aggression in Korea, have been aiming at Japan. Anyone with a sense of strategic values and a global map would have found that out long ago by reading Far Eastern history. But the situation grows more acute now. For, with the signing of a treaty of peace with Japan, American and other occupation armies will have to be diminished. Communistic agitation inside Japan will increase.

The various mutual security pacts being signed with the nations of the Far Pacific are important only on paper. When it comes to invoking them and using force to secure respect for them against aggressors, the same old arguments will be put forth—namely, that it is unwise to put the bulk of our forces into a Pacific war, that Europe is primary and that hence no large-scale war can be fought in the Far East. This is "duck soup" for a Russian strategist. Why, therefore, should he be in any hurry to clean up Korea with a cease-fire or a peace of substance?

The answer may be more apparent 14 months hence, when the American people will be voting on the wisdom or unwisdom of the policies pursued in Korea. For our troops will not be back home by then either.

Washington, Sept. 4 — All the fuss and furor about the public comment by Justice William O. Douglas of the United State Supreme Court that it would be a good idea to extend diplomatic recognition to Red China seems a bit incomprehensible. It's a mistaken view that he holds, but he is a habitual dissenter anyway.

Really, all that the justice said was being said by the administration and a lot of other people about 18 months ago—and, indeed, the British government even today, despite the Chinese aggression in Korea, maintains its diplomatic recognition of Red China.

Justice Douglas, however, didn't recommend recognition because of any friendliness for the Communist cause but because he thinks the maneuver of recognition would pull the Red Chinese away from Moscow.

This sort of thing has been christened "Titoism" in the parlance of diplomacy because Tito still remains a Communist and yet is at swords' points with Soviet Russia and now is being given financial and military assistance as an ally even though his ideological habits remain the same.

But, it will be said, Justice Douglas shouldn't have said anything on such a delicate subject. After all, it wasn't so long ago when the administration was dismissing General MacArthur for reasons connected with his tendency to speak his mind freely on public questions related to the Far East. The administration said then that the world must not hear "two voices" on the subject of foreign policy—the voice of the Department of State and the voice of other officials in our government.

It will be argued that, of course, the judicial branch of the government is a separate and independent branch and not connected with the executive branch. But everybody abroad should have known also that General MacArthur was just a part of the military department and that the State Department alone could make diplomatic policies.

The statement by Justice Douglas will nevertheless carry a good deal of weight abroad because the Supreme Court has tremendous prestige there. Likewise the words of Mr. Douglas who is the idol of the "left wing" in America will be eagerly hailed by the Bevan "left wing" in the British Labor party as corroboration of the viewpoint held by those who dissent from Mr. Attlee in his willingness to go along with the United States for the present on Far Eastern policy.

The demand that comes from Representative Woodruff of Michigan, Republican, that President Truman should remove Justice Douglas isn't as farfetched as it seems. The popular impression is that federal judges may hold office for life and cannot be removed unless they are impeached by Congress for bad judicial conduct. But the constitution doesn't say anything about judicial conduct or life tenure. It simply says justices may hold office "during good behavior."

What does "good behavior" mean? It could mean discretion and silence on controversial questions. It could mean a willingness to let the executive branch of government do the talking on diplomatic issues. But conversely it could mean that it is "bad behavior" for a federal judge to speak freely on any subject. That certainly doesn't sound logical in a country which boasts freedom of speech. But to punish military men for expressing honest convictions and telling the truth under oath to congressional committees doesn't sound logical either. Yet it is done and it is applauded enthusiastically by the "left wing" in America.

Maybe this is only another bit of evidence that the true liberals of today are rare among the "left wingers" and that "left wingers" nowadays are for the most part "coercionists" who want to penalize or intimidate those who express unpopular views even if this means abolishing or whittling down the congressional immunity guaranteed by the constitution.

GREEN LIGHT ON FOOD

In the interests of a clean-food campaign, the British Ministry of Food rigged up a model of a street containing a number of stores and cafes, using different kinds of food packaging and methods of caring for and serving food. With the idea of helping visitors to remember which were safe and which were dangerous, lights on the fronts of the shops flashed green for safe food, red for that which might be contaminated.

For some reason this calls to mind the fact that hoboes have a system of markings by which they indicate the likelihood of good handouts in a neighborhood, even in specific houses. One kind of mark means that a nourishing sandwich is a sure thing; another indicates that a strong-jawed dog is likely to take the seat out a hobo's pants. There are many other marks which the knights of the road find useful.

Why could not more affluent tourists also have signals by which they could tell each other, discreetly, the chances of getting a good meal here or there? No problem is more perplexing for the traveler. There could be marks to tell the stranger which place lives up to the menu and which uses it only as a come-on, which place will have a waitress ready to bring instant comfort and refreshment to the weary pilgrim and which one lets the customers do the waiting. With some such system to assure nourishment and good humor three times a day, summer touring could acquire certain aspects of pleasure.

One good way for a young matron to hang on to her wedding ring, we are told, is to dip it three times a day in dishwater.

THE VACATION SOUVENIR

Few people can spend a vacation away from home without returning with some souvenir of their travel. It may range in size and shape from an Indian tomahawk to a replica of the Taj Mahal carved from solid ivory. It may be priced anywhere from a time to a figure which reminds one of a congressional appropriation.

The souvenir is very often something worthless in itself which the self-respecting householder will later hide in the recesses of his attic with a shudder. It can take the form of a fish mounted on a board which can well be a source of contention between a husband's pride and a wife's idea of what looks good in the parlor next to grandmother's picture.

The children are likely to come home from summer camp with treasures of their own. Parents are lucky if these are inanimate objects which can be stored in a cupboard or drawer. It is very possible that the youngster's souvenir will be some sort of wiggling creature which could cause neighborhood consternation.

Some souvenirs can be defined as things which would be ignored if they were found in the stores in one's home town. The only way a local merchant would be able to move them would be to sell them at a fancy price to people from out of town who were on vacation.

EUROPE'S NEW ERA

There is more than meets the eye in the steps taken to form a Western European army. Its creation might have a profound effect on the governments of the participating nations. Pledged to keep up its share of the new force, each country would lose control of the corresponding amount of its budget. This might be as much as one-third of even one-half of the total annual appropriation.

If this seems objectionable to some, there are compensations. The rival nations would have an interest in having their neighbors prosperous. If Italy, for example, could not meet its share of the cost of the international army, the rest would have to make up the amount. They would prefer under these circumstances to see Italy in sound financial condition. This should make for friendlier, mutually helpful international relations.

Thus there is a prospect that the formation of this defense force will mark a new era in European history, an era of cooperative attitudes never before generally found on the Continent.

Charity which begins at home too often stays there.

TABER VS. COUSINS

John Taber, of New York, has been a member of the House of Representatives about 30 years and is regarded as an extremely shrewd manipulator of figures. When the Republicans are in power, he looks after taxes and appropriations.

Norman Cousins is the editor of "The Saturday Review of Literature," published for the intellectual elite.

The State Department sent Norman Cousins to India to do propaganda for the United States in that country. It was a little difficult for anyone to know why, of all citizens, the State Department selected Norman Cousins, who is not an expert on India or any such matter. Anyhow, Cousins got $4,550.92 for a 75-day trip, out of which he also got material for several articles in "The Saturday Review of Literature," an interview with Nehru which may be worth something, if anybody is interested, and which is to come out as a $2.00 book.

So John Taber asked the State Department what it was all about, sending a letter on May 11 and getting a reply on May 28, which is slow going for a public agency. Mr. Edward W. Barrett said in his reply that Norman Cousins was the first American lecturer to be sent out to explain the United States to the ignorant, and that the State Department plans to send out some more such.

John Taber was not satisfied because he could not find any reason for picking Cousins for such work, so on June 1, he wrote Mr. Barrett again and got a reply on June 27. Taber wanted to see some of Cousins's speeches, but none were available as Cousins only spoke from notes and outlines.

Mr. Barrett apparently had forgotten the order of December 6, 1950, on account of which General MacArthur was dismissed, the order forbidding any American official to discuss American policy without State Department approval. How can the State Department approve what does not exist?

So John Taber wrote some more on July 5, which was answered on July 17, and again on July 11 and got an answer on July 19, which shows a greater speed.

Taber gave the dates because he wanted to say this:

"I cite this two-months' ordeal of trying to get answers to four letters from the State Department as an example of why the whole propaganda program which the State Department is running is a flop. It moves with the speed of molasses on a cold day in Maine. The Department of Public Affairs is so wound up in red tape, paper-pushing, memo-writing and bureaucracy that it is no wonder it gets nothing done. You have heard speech after speech in this House decrying our Voice of America as a boring flop which runs far behind events and which, in no sense of the word, could be described as an alert, up-to-the-minute outfit."

The State Department sent Representative Taber some clippings, but among them was an intra-office memorandum which gives the impression of doctoring at least one clip. Maybe that was an accident.

But from the clippings it would appear that instead of doing propaganda for the United States, Cousins did a job for the World Federalists in India. The United States has never had a formal policy endorsing the ideas of the World Federalists or Union now or the Dukhobors or anybody like that. It is, therefore, impossible to understand why on a $4,550.92 trip to India to do propaganda for the United States, Cousins should have devoted his time to a minor sectarian movement, which does not represent the United States.

Mr. Taber quotes from a newspaper in Colombo, Ceylon, to the effect that Cousins said:

"I believe that it is desperately necessary to have a world-wide government in which nations could maintain their own institutions, accepting a high sovereignty in matters concerned with the security of the people. The world federal government is the fastest growing movement in the United States."

Now, obviously, in the year 1951, none of this was accurate and the last sentence is highly exaggerated.

All of this amounts to nothing. What is important is that propaganda, as a weapon of war, is being badly handled by our government. Apparently, there is not only a lack of efficient direction but there seems to be no purpose. This is unfortunate at a time when Soviet Russia is so efficient in its use of propaganda devices. To summarize: Propaganda requires intelligent direction focussed on an objective.

EXAMINATION OF LOWER BOWEL

The symptoms of cancer in the stomach may come on so quietly that the individual does not suspect any trouble, blaming any slight symptoms present on gas, constipation or nervousness. Sometimes a cancer remains quiet for months; by the time definite symptoms appear it may be too late for operation.

Another part of the digestive tract in which various ailments may be present without the patient suspecting them is the large intestine (lower bowel or colon).

In the American Journal of Surgery, Dr. V. T. Young reports a series of 500 patients who had no complaints as far as the lower bowel was concerned yet 138 (27.6%) were found to have a lesion (disease of some type). Some of these had admitted no symptoms but on questioning confessed that symptoms probably had been present. Some had what they called sight symptoms but felt that everybody had similar symptoms so disregarded them. Persons with small hemorrhoids (piles) were not included in the 500 reported; those with large hemorrhoids were among the 500 cases. There were 64 with large hemorrhoids in the 138 with lesions. There were 44 with polyps, nine with diverticula (little pouches or pockets in the wall of the lower bowel), pruritis (severe itching) in seven, cancer of the bowel in five but fortunately no metastases (spreading to other parts of the body). Other conditions present in the balance of the 138 were prolapse of rectum (lining of rectum protruding from anus).

Notwithstanding all the lesions present, all these patients were alive when the report was written and showed no evidence of the lesions returning.

What do we learn from the above facts? The early discovery of these lesions with their removal or correction means that these patients have a much more favorable chance for a long life than if these lesions had not been discovered until after the onset of symptoms.

Many of us have regular examinations, including X-rays, of heart, lungs, stomach, liver, but do not bother about the lower bowel which we think of as just a reservoir for wastes from food and so not an active or important organ.

When we realize that in a series of 500 cases where the individual had no symptoms whatsoever, lesions were found in more than 25 per cent and know that this discovery prevented much illness and perhaps early death, it might be worthwhile for all of us to at least have a barium enema (with use of X-rays). A barium enema is not expensive.

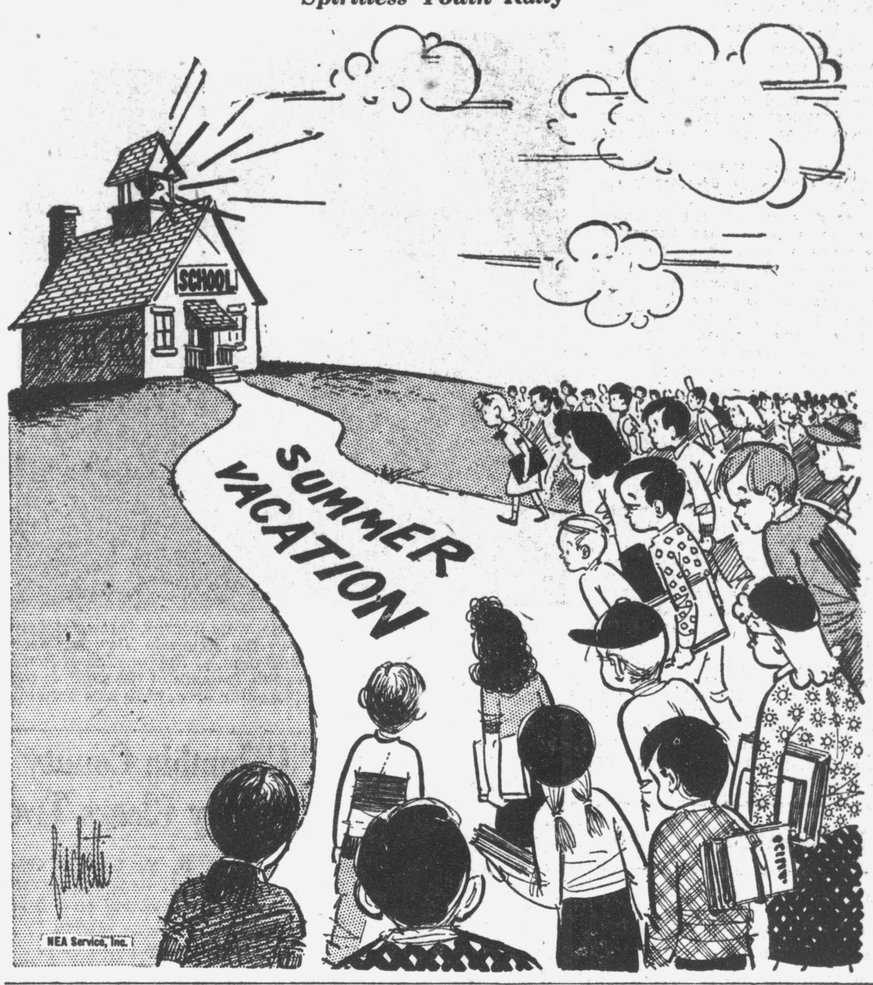
Spiritless Youth Rally



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Corporal Charles Francisco, with the U. S. Army's Seventh Division in Korea. Corporal Francisco, a native of Urbana, Illinois, was inducted in September 1950, and sent to Korea as a machine gunner shortly thereafter.)

With the 17th Infantry Regiment, Seventh Infantry Division, U. S. Army in Korea—What is it like in Korea? What is it like to the men who are here? I think of three things around me—mountains, loneliness and death. I think of rotation and home and the future. And I know that those things are in the minds and bones of most infantrymen in Korea.

As a soldier lies in his foxhole and tries to peer through the mist that covers the top of a mountain he thinks of many things. This is the war in Korea as I see it.

It seems to me that civilian writers covering the war have not made enough mention of the hills. At any rate, the hills have a major bearing on the job of the individual soldier and the entire tactical situation.

Put yourself in the place of any man here. You're no military superman, you're just an average guy carrying around 50-60 pounds of equipment on your back. Your job is to climb, sometimes two and three thousand feet almost straight up, find the enemy, and either kill him or drive him off. There are no paths or footholds so you usually are forced to walk the ridge lines. That puts you right in the enemy sights. It's just a matter of when he decides to open up.

It seems to me that the fighting in Korea is much like the island warfare in the Pacific. Here each hill is an island fortress. Artillery and air soften them up, and then the infantry must go it alone.

Mountains and weather . . . enemies which have proved as effective against the UN forces as the Reds themselves. Last winter it was cold and snow. You've heard about that. So far this summer the temperature has averaged in the humid eighties. When it isn't hot, it's raining . . . steady downpours for two and three days straight.

It's a strange war here in Korea. It's a strange soldier we fight. Reports from intelligence speak of such things as "the Chinese may be waiting for a full moon" or "expect an attack if we get three straight days of rain." The Chinese are superstitious. They frighten easily and they fight fanatically.

Every soldier dreads nightfall. The Reds love to infiltrate at night and launch wild whistle-blowing banzai attacks. The enemy uses his artillery most at night. Unlike most wars there are no clear cut front lines in Korea. The enemy can be any place at any time.

A combat infantryman doesn't have much time to think about the grand philosophy of war. But the American soldier is no machine. He walks hand-in-hand with death. No matter how brave or patriotic or religious he might be he can't forget that each minute could well be his last.

I remember the first man I saw killed. We had been joking about how easy we had it. Then the artillery came in. He was dead. The same shell was close enough to have gotten me but it didn't. Incidents like these encourage the foxhole faith you read about in civilian life.

When you're a part of a war the casualty list isn't just a row of numbers. Every figure is a man who wanted to live and do something with his life just as you do. The next digit could be you.

Then there's the matter of heroes. Before I entered combat I thought heroism was a rare and individual thing. Long ago that was true. But today any man who performs his duties well under fire is a hero for my money. A knight of old may have singlehandedly slain dragons but a modern soldier cannot do hand-to-hand battle with shrapnel.

At least one good thing comes of war . . . teamwork. I don't mean the military teamwork of infantry, artillery, air, etc. Even more significant is the comradeship of men in battle. In my own regiment (17th Infantry) racial or religious prejudice is unheard of. A man soon learns to appraise the guy beside him by his courage under fire. That's where men are made.

I sometimes wonder if war isn't more of a personal fight than it seems. A man seldom has time to consider world ideals. It usually narrows down to kill or be killed. There is no pretense among men in battle. The will to live tears away the protective veil we sometimes wear in civilization. Everyone is afraid at times. But most men fight fear as they fight the enemy.

Korea today is not only a deadly place but also a lonely one. There are no cities, as we know them, in the battle zone. Only hills and wilderness. The infantry would thrill to see such simple things as telephone poles, paved streets, brick buildings and stores.

Many men now in the front lines were only recently removed from civilian life by the draft. They dream about getting back to the work they love. They worry about the long delay in their chosen careers. They wonder how it will affect their future.

Soldiers, as always, have their gripes. Rotation is wonderful, but sometimes it seems awfully slow around. When they see stateside papers with Korean news mentioned briefly on page 3 they wonder if the people back home know or care why this war is being fought.

The men here know why they're fighting. I was amazed when I first arrived in Korea at the difference in attitude about the war. Sure you hear "why not give them the place; it isn't fit to live in anyway." But when you talk seriously with these same men, most of them will admit they were only letting off steam.

After the last big allied offensive we disvovered we can defeat the Communists no matter how many men they have. We threw back everything the Reds had to offer and we had them running when the cease-fire talks opened. We; as no one else, pray for peace. But if it doesn't come we can still whip them.

One thing is certain. Every man here has learned the horror and waste of war. We're happy it's happening to us instead of those we love. Our only hope is, that in waging this isolated war, we have proved to our potential enemies that it will not pay to test our strength in our own backyard.

Today in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 5 — Everything seems so simple nowadays in the attempts of the government here to explain away the breakdown in the cease-fire negotiations in Korea.

It's all just a ruse—so the official propaganda says—to blackmail the United States at San Francisco into making changes in the peace treaty with Japan. Or else, the official suggestions are, it's just a build-up by the Communists to bring on a new offensive in due time.

The trouble with these explanations is that very soon they must inevitably evaporate with the passage of time, and they ignore the fact that Russia has known for some time there were to be no changes made in the peace treaty with Japan.

In a matter of days the San Francisco meeting will be over. The armies in Korea will be just about where they were before. There will have been no blackmailing to get changes in the treaty—just a lot of Russian talk on a Russian-made forum.

Truce parleys, of course, will be resumed in Korea then, because the Communists know that the United Nations want to quit fighting. This is a war that is not being fought to a finish like any other war, and the Communists know they can keep up the bickering over cease-fire terms indefinitely and the UN will be ready just the same at any time to make an agreement.

But the armistice agreement, when signed, will thereupon run up against a planned series of episodes charging "violations." This has been the pattern in all the numerous armistice talks that used to go on between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalists on the mainland of China.

What it boils down to is the fact that UN armies will be bogged down in Korea for months and perhaps years, and there will be no decision. The Communists, after some kind of armistice agreement is signed, will begin their second chapter of "peace" techniques. This will start with a demand that all "foreign troops" be withdrawn from Korea. Under such a program the UN forces would have to go thousands and thousands of miles to their home bases. The Communist Chinese would retreat just a few score or hundred miles across the Yalu river.

Nobody has come forth with any plan to checkmate a recurrence of aggression which could then occur at any time. The real reason is that, despite professions of belief in "collective security," the European nations are not too much concerned with what happens in the Far East and would just as soon let it drift from episode to episode without going to the mat with the Communists in a finish fight. The United States feels bound to do what its allies want to do, even though America has made the primary sacrifice in Korea of both men and money.

A status quo or stalemate, such as the Europeans want, will not, of course, be conceded to them by the Moscow regime. The Russians will select their own battlegrcund and, since they know the allies will not engage in all-out war in the Pacific—the MacArthur hearings told them bluntly how the President and secretary of state feel about all-out war—the opportunity for harassment will not be lost to the Russians. They will concentrate on the Far East.

The latest discovery by the U.N. command, which comes in the form of a bulletin from General Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo, is that all along the Communists, through their aggression in Korea, have been aiming at Japan. Anyone with a sense of strategic values and a global map would have found that out long ago by reading Far Eastern history. But the situation grows more acute now. For, with the signing of a treaty of peace with Japan, American and other occupation armies will have to be diminished. Communistic agitation inside Japan will increase.

The various mutual security pacts being signed with the nations of the Far Pacific are important only on paper. When it comes to invoking them and using force to secure respect for them against aggressors, the same old arguments will be put forth—namely, that it is unwise to put the bulk of our forces into a Pacific war, that Europe is primary and that hence no large-scale war can be fought in the Far East. This is "duck soup" for a Russian strategist. Why, therefore, should he be in any hurry to clean up Korea with a cease-fire or a peace of substance?

The answer may be more apparent 14 months hence, when the American people will be voting on the wisdom or unwisdom of the policies pursued in Korea. For our troops will not be back home by then either.

Washington, Sept. 4 — All the fuss and furor about the public comment by Justice William O. Douglas of the United State Supreme Court that it would be a good idea to extend diplomatic recogntion to Red China seems a bit incomprehensible. It's a mistaken view that he holds, but he is a habitual dissenter anyway.

Really, all that the justice said was being said by the administration and a lot of other people about 18 months ago—and, indeed, the British government even today, despite the Chinese aggression in Korea, maintains its diplomatic recognition of Red China.

Justice Douglas, however, didn't recommend recognition because of any friendliness for the Communist cause but because he thinks the maneuver of recognition would pull the Red Chinese away from Moscow.

This sort of thing has been christened "Titoism" in the parlance of diplomacy because Tito still remains a Communist and yet is at swords' points with Soviet Russia and now is being given financial and military assistance as an ally even though his ideological habits remain the same.

But, it will be said, Justice Douglas shouldn't have said anything on such a delicate subject. After all, it wasn't so long ago when the administration was dismissing General MacArthur for reasons connected with his tendency to speak his mind freely on public questions related to the Far East. The administration said then that the world must not hear "two voices" on the subject of foreign policy—the voice of the Department of State and the voice of other officials in our government.

It will be argued that, of course, the judicial branch of the government is a separate and independent branch and not connected with the executive branch. But everybody abroad should have known also that General MacArthur was just a part of the military department and that the State Department alone could make diplomatic policies.

The statement by Justice Douglas will nevertheless carry a good deal of weight abroad because the Supreme Court has tremendous prestige there. Likewise the words of Mr. Douglas who is the idol of the "left wing" in America will be eagerly hailed by the Bevan "left wing" in the British Labor party as corroboration of the viewpoint held by those who dissent from Mr. Attlee in his willingness to go along with the United States for the present on Far Eastern policy.

The demand that comes from Representative Woodruff of Michigan, Republican, that President Truman should remove Justice Douglas isn't as farfetched as it seems. The popular impression is that federal judges may hold office for life and cannot be removed unless they are impeached by Congress for bad judicial conduct. But the constitution doesn't say anything about judicial conduct or life tenure. It simply says justices may hold office "during good behavior."

What does "good behavior" mean? It could mean discretion and silence on controversial questions. It could mean a willingness to let the executive branch of government do the talking on diplomatic issues. But conversely it could mean that it is "bad behavior" for a federal judge to speak freely on any subject. That certainly doesn't sound logical in a country which boasts freedom of speech. But to punish military men for expressing honest convictions and telling the truth under oath to congressional committees doesn't sound logical either. Yet it is done—and it is applauded enthusiastically by the "left wing" in America.

Maybe this is only another bit of evidence that the true liberals of today are rare among the "left wingers" and that "left wingers" nowadays are for the most part "coercionists" who want to penalize or intimidate those who express unpopular views even if this means abolishing or whittling down the congressional immunity guaranteed by the constitution.

Dewey Will Discuss Trip Abroad With Truman Next Week

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey says a date will be set next week for his meeting with President Truman to discuss the governor's tour of the Far East and Alaska.

Dewey made the statement yesterday at his first news conference since returning to Albany from his 42,000-mile trip.

Asked whether he thought Gen. Dwight Eisenhower could be persuaded to run next year for the Republican presidential nomination, Dewey said:

"I haven't anything to say on politics at this time."

"I just got back," the governor added. "I don't know anything. I've been away two months."

Dewey, twice-defeated as the Republican candidate for president, has called repeatedly for the selection of Eisenhower as the 1952 GOP nominee.

Traveled With Approval

The governor said he had "received a message" from Mr. Truman and that the date for their meeting would be fixed next week. The President has said he wants Dewey to see him to discuss the trip.

Dewey made his tour of the Pacific area with the President's approval.

The governor told the newsmen that some people had suggested he write a book about his trip. He did not elaborate.

Asked by a reporter if it were true that he had received "huge sums" for a proposed magazine article, Dewey replied:

"I haven't seen any of them."

Says Collier's Helped

On July 6, Louis Ruppel, Collier's magazine editor, said that Dewey would write six articles on his impressions concerning the present situation in the Far East. Ruppel also said that "we (Collier's) helped finance the trip."

Dewey also was asked if he had received a demand from Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, that he fire George P. Monaghan, New York city police commissioner. The governor replied: "Yes."

Dewey with a broad grin, added:

"I gave it the treatment to which it was entitled."

Quill and Monaghan have tangled over Quill's effort to unionize New York city policemen.

Monaghan has ordered the police to stay out of the union or face disciplinary action.

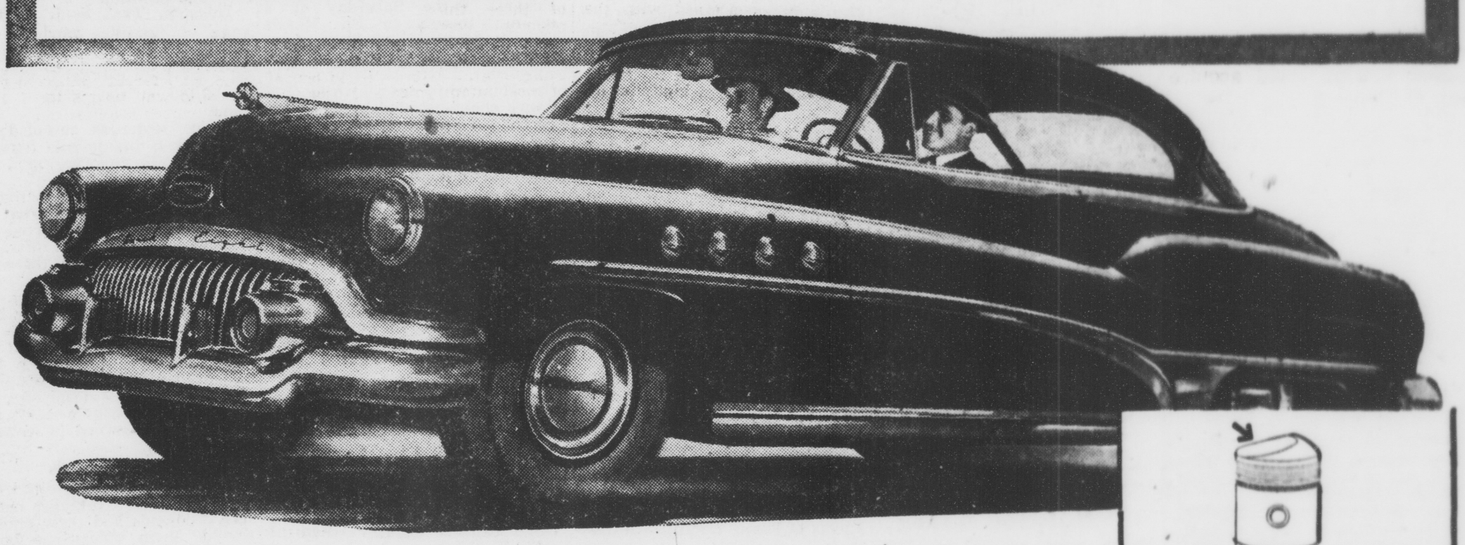
TRAIL BLAZER— with plenty on the ball



How long since you lifted the hood of a car, and took a good look at what's beneath?

We like to have folks do that with a Buick.

You'll find that broad bonnet isn't put there for show. It's packed with horsepower—high, wide and handsome—more horsepower than normal drivers will ever use in full.

And—if you're up to date on modern features—you'll find that this bonnet is packed with these too.

Do you know, for example, that every new engine introduced or previewed in recent years is built on the valve-in-head principle?

Score one for Buick. No Buick engine has ever been built in any other way.

Do you know what it takes to make full use of high compression? A valve-in-head engine!

Score two: Buick has been stepping up compression ratios for years.

But Buick has blazed one trail which other engines still haven't followed—don't ask us why.

Every Buick has a Fireball Engine which, as we've said before, is like having a string of comets by the tail.

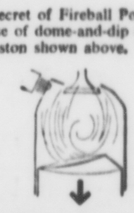
Fact is, in every flame-packed cylinder there is a comet—rolled into a swirling ball by a special turbo-top piston—touched off by a flashing spark every 5 inches you travel in a Buick.

That's why we're proud to show folks that Buicks have a Fireball Engine—and prouder still to have them take one of these thrilling performers out on the road.

Want to try it? Come in and see us soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

The secret of Fireball Power is in the use of dome-and-dip design of the piston shown above.



Here's the piston inside the cylinder. As it moves down, the fuel charge rushes in—sets up a swirl when it hits the piston top.

The piston moves up—compresses the swirling fuel into the comet shape shown here. "Compression ratios" are simply a measure of how much the fuel is compressed.

The ball of fuel is compressed around the spark plug—lets loose its pent-up charge when the spark is fired—delivering a higher percentage of power from each charge of fuel.

TRAIL BLAZER—
with plenty on the ball

How long since you lifted the hood of a car, and took a good look at what's beneath?

We like to have folks do that with a Buick.

You'll find that broad bonnet isn't put there for show. It's packed with horsepower—high, wide and handsome—more horsepower than normal drivers will ever use in full.

And—if you're up to date on modern features—you'll find that this bonnet is packed with these too.

Do you know, for example, that every new engine introduced or previewed in recent years is built on the valve-in-head principle?

Score one for Buick. No Buick engine has ever been built in any other way.

Do you know what it takes to make full use of high compression? A valve-in-head engine!

Score two: Buick has been stepping up compression ratios for years.

But Buick has blazed one trail which other engines still haven't followed—don't ask us why.

Every Buick has a Fireball Engine which, as we've said before, is like having a string of comets by the tail.

Fact is, in every flame-packed cylinder there is a comet—rolled into a swirling ball by a special turbo-top piston—touched off by a flashing spark every 5 inches you travel in a Buick.

That's why we're proud to show folks that Buicks have a Fireball Engine—and prouder still to have them take one of these thrilling performers out on the road.

Want to try it? Come in and see us soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

The secret of Fireball Power is in the use of dome-and-dip design of the piston shown above.

Here's the piston inside the cylinder. As it moves down, the fuel charge rushes in—sets up a swirl when it hits the piston top.

The piston moves up—compresses the swirling fuel into the comet shape shown here. "Compression ratios" are simply a measure of how much the fuel is compressed.

The ball of fuel is compressed around the spark plug—lets loose its pent-up charge when the spark is fired—delivering a higher percentage of power from each charge of fuel.

Edelmuth Predicts Success for Bond Drive in County

As America's First U. S. Defense Bond Drive opened throughout the United States on September 3, William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the Ulster County Defense Bond Committee, emphasized the importance of the Defense Bond program to America's defense mobilization effort and predicted that residents of Ulster county will give the drive their wholehearted support.

"The Defense Bond program," said the former mayor of Kingston "is one of the strongest weapons we have in keeping our country strong and free. Through the purchase of Defense Bonds we not only back up our Armed Forces who stand ready to defend us against aggression, but we also provide for our own, and our family's security.

"The people of Ulster county have in the past given enthusiastic backing to campaigns that have benefited our country. Here, once again, is this great country. I and all volunteers are confident the First Defense Bond Drive will receive all-out support bcause— defense is everybody's job!"

Steel Allowances Cut

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Steel allowances for ordinary consumer goods today were cut to 58 per cent of the pre-Korea level, effective Oct. 1. This is lower than the cuts forecast. Announcing the action, Manly Fleischman, national production administrator, said that if the copper strike continues further cuts in passenger cars, radios, washing machines and other consumer items will be inevitable.

A grave was prepared for him near the final resting place of a more widely known hero of Korea, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army commander during the bitterest phases of the fighting. Worcester Child Dies of Burns

George Huthsteiner, 3rd, seven months old son of Dr. and Mrs. George Huthsteiner of Worcester, Mass., died Tuesday at Kingston Hospital from second and third degree burns which he sustained Monday morning when the infant pulled over an electric bottle warmer in which his mother was warming milk.

The accident happened at the home of Mrs. Helen O'Connor at Hurley. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly issued a verdict of accidental death from second and third degree burns.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who conducted an investigation with Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh, said the infant had been playing on the floor when he apparently pulled the electric cord from the socket, spilling hot water and milk over his face and left side. The child was taken to Kingston Hospital by his mother and grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner, and was attended by Dr. D. S. Myers.

At the time of the accident, Mrs. Huthsteiner and her infant son were visiting at the O'Connor home. Mrs. O'Connor is a sister of Louis Huthsteiner. Besides his parents, the baby is survived by his grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner and his grandmother, Mrs. Ursula Huthsteiner.

Dr. Huthsteiner is associated with the State Hospital at Worcester, Mass.

Adamic Death Is Listed as Suicide

Flemington, N. J., Sept. 5 (AP)—Local authorities today listed the death of Louis Adamic, writer and fighter for minority tolerance, as suicide but invited the FBI to probe the possibility of left-wing murder.

The 52-year-old Yugoslav-born author who recently found Marshall Tito more to his liking than Russia's Stalin was found yesterday in his burning farmhouse in nearby Milford with a bullet in his head and a rifle across his knees.

"There appears to be nothing to indicate anything other than suicide," Hunterdon county prosecutor H. T. Heisel said but added, "I have personally notified the FBI at Newark in case they desire to inspect the premises because of Mr. Adamic's political writings."

After Adamic's part-time secretary revealed that he had been threatened about his forthcoming book on Yugoslavia under Tito, FBI headquarters in Newark said a decision would probably be reached later today on whether to enter the case.

The invitation of the FBI came after Adamic's part- time secretary revealed that four unidentified men threatened him about his forthcoming book on Yuglslavia under Tito. However, S. K. McKee, FBI agent in charge, said today at Newark that the FBI would take no part in the investigations

Tells of Visit

Mrs. Ethel Sharp, a Milford bank clerk who had been helping Adamic prepare his latest work, said the writer was visited by four strangers last fall. She quoted Adamic as saying without any explanation or apparent concern that the men told him "it had just better be a good book."

State Police found kerosene-soaked rags scattered about Adamic's house and his garage and kitchen on fire when they located his body in an upstair bedroom. They said the fire was apparently deliberately set and the bullet "supposedly self-inflicted."

Adamic, a staunch defender of the foreign-born in America and a prolific writer on labor and minority struggles, supported Henry Wallace on the Progressive ticket for president in 1948. He denied any connection with the Communist party and was writing a book to be called "The Eagle and the Roots" about Tito's break with the Russian Reds.

Gang of Juveniles Uses Woman's Love Of Cats to Extort

Houston, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP)—A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to bilk her of what they estimated at $2,000 to $3,000 in less than a year's time.

Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children, aged 9 to 16.

Crime Prevention Detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Horton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annella Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat.

The detectives said Mrs. Edmond rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the lads not to torture the animal any more, she gave them each $1.

Next day the boys again threw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmonds' house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone.

Word Spreads

The word spread to other boys. Soon they were bringing cats to Mrs. Edmonds and threatening to torture them unless she bought the animals at $3 each. Mrs. Edmonds bought the cats.

Almost every day she bought cats, and the detectives said a 13-year-old boy soon became the "brains" for the group.

The boys told the detectives they had gotten from $2,000 to $3,000 from Mrs. Edmonds in ten months.

The gang leader thought of "refinements" to get money. He called and told Mrs. Edmonds he had found a cat with a broken back but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10.

A surprising number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds.

Police investigated last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid. The 11 boys were arrested over the week-end.

Will Move Fast

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Federal attorneys promised to move "as fast as we can"—probably today—to seek a court order to end the copper strike for at least 80 days. President Truman last night called for immediate court action. He acted in San Francisco, where he had gone for the opening of the Japanese peace treaty conference.

Says School Maligned

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 5 (AP)—A grand jury here said a Treadwell High teacher "viciously maligned" the school by charging it harbored a lurid "non-virgins club." The jury report yesterday said there wasn't the slightest trace of evidence to support the story told by Mrs. Maurine D. Hayslip, eighth grade history teacher and wife of a Methodist minister.

Budenz Thinks Man Slain by Red Agents

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP)—Louis P. Budenz, one-time Communist editor and leader, said today he believes it is "quite likely" author Louis Adamic was slain by Soviet underground agents.

Budenz is a former editor of the Daily Worker, New York newspaper which is the official organ of the Communist party in the United States. He turned against the Communists years ago, and since has testified before congressional committees and written and spoken extensively on Communist activities.

He told a U. S. Senate subcommittee in 1948 that he had been assigned by the Communist leadership to "corrupt" Adamic.

Second Petition

the city clerk on June 30 and that was also called illegal by Connelly in that "it lacked a plan for raising the money for salaries."

Ruling on the legality of the second petition, Corporation Counsel Connelly advised the city clerk: "In order for this additional petition to be filed in your office, it must comply with the provisions of Section 19-a of the City Home Rule of the State of New York" . . . which says:

Must Have Plan

'No such proposed local law requiring the expenditure of money shall be accepted by the city clerk or be adopted or become effective unless there shall be submitted as part of such proposed local law, a plan to provide moneys and revenues to meet such proposed expenditures.'

Connelly further ruled that: "Leaving entirely to the Common Council the problem of providing moneys to meet the cost of the salary increases can hardly be deemed a plan, as required by the City Home Rule Law. In fact, to hold such a proposal to be a plan is to render ineffective the provisions of the recent amendment of law adopted by the Legislature of the State of New York.

Petitions Are Alike

"Since local laws contained in both the original and additional petitions are the same, it is my considered opinion that the proposed local law included in the additional petitions also does not comply with Section 19-a of the City Home Rule Law . . ."

Connelly cited, "That the local law proposed in the present additional petition provides that it is to become effective November 7, 1951 and that the Common Council shall issue budget notes in order to pay the increased salaries between that date and December 31, 1951. Such budget notes would be included in and paid out of the budget of the City of Kingston for the year 1952. Subsequent to December 31, 1951 the moneys necessary to meet the salary increases is to be raised by the Common Council from those sources and through the manner by which the Common Council is authorized by law to raise money for salaries . . ."

Court Will Hear

continued and the court granted 20 days to make further motions. Knight is charged with having disposed of feed from the stock of his employer over a period of time.

Charged With Rape

Francis Daniels, Olive, was arraigned on a charge of rape, first degree, and assault, second degree, alleged to have been committed on May 26. It is charged he picked up a city girl who was visiting in the area. A plea of innocent was entered and bail was continued. Abram Molyneaux appears for Daniels.

Ross Crwford, New Paltz, was arraigned on a charge of resisting an officer, a violation of Section 1851 of the Penal Law. It is alleged he resisted Chief of Police Leonard Newkirk of New Paltz when an attempt to arrest defendant was made. Peter Harp appeared for Crawford. The act was committed allegedly on July 14, last. The grand jury reommended that Crawford be tried as a youthful offender. Crawford waived his right to a jury trial and entered a plea of innocent to being a youthful offender. His case will come up on September 17. The indictment was ordered sealed and bail was continued.

Judge Cashin then recessed court until next Monday and excused jurors until 2 o'clock on September 10.

On the call of the trial jurors only seven of those present asked to be excused from service. Judge Cashin excused them.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Automobile shares sparked a mild rally today in the stock market and brought prices up moderately.

Buying came into the motor division in midmorning, evidently in response to the prospect of a price increase under the sponsorship of the Office of Price Stabilization.

Steels and some rails joined in the higher movement with more activity than average. Chemicals and oils, together with a long list of miscellaneous issues, posted higher prices but there was little trading interest shown.

The cuts in steel allotments to producers of durable consumer goods announced by the Defense Production Administration had little immediate impact on the market.

Gulf Oil was the best performer in its division after reporting what might turn out to be a "discovery of major proportions" in a wildcat well in western Canada.

Horses Credited Again

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Horses get credit again this year for giving Saratoga county residents one of the lowest tax rates in the state. The State Tax Commission said yesterday that a total of $20,378,023 had been bet at the pari-mutuel machines during the 24-day Saratoga meeting, which ended Saturday. That means the county treasury, which levies a five per cent local tax on the handle, has $1,018,901 coming. The county board of supervisors will meet next Monday to split the annual horse-racing melon.

U. S. and Britain

pation and Far Eastern commander last April over Korean issues, and to MacArthur's successor, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Both names were greeted with loud applause.

Tribute to Dulles

Mr. Truman also paid tribute to John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser in the State Department and architect of Japanese peace making. Again applause broke out.

But the sections of his speech on which the President placed his heaviest emphasis, speaking slowly and in a loud voice, were those dealing with present world dangers and American steps to meet them, including new defense treaties in the Pacific.

"Unfortunately, today, the world is faced with new threats of aggression," he said.

"Many of the countries represented here are now engaged in a hard fight to uphold the United Nations against international lawbreaking."

At that point he departed from his prepared text and said: "There are thugs among nations just as there are among individuals."

In this situation, Mr. Truman said, it is necessary for unarmed Japan to protect itself against aggression, and it has requested "to enter into a bilateral treaty (with the U. S.) for Japan's immediate security." That pact would provide for American forces in Japan after the peace treaty ends the occupation.

Tackles Question

It was toward the end of his talk that Mr. Truman tackled the question which has focused the attention of delegates ever since they arrived—what will Russia do and what will it mean?

He said that beyond making peace with Japan the most important step required toward general peace in the Pacific is the restoration of peace in Korea. Then he said it should be possible to settle other Pacific problems "which now threaten peace." He went on:

"The United States has made clear on many occasions its desire to explore with other governments at the proper time and in the proper forum, how this might be accomplished.

"There are many well established ways in which next steps can be explored, if there is a genuine desire for peace in all quarters.

"But these are not matters which can be dealt with in our present conference. We have come here to take a single step—but a step of utmost importance.

"This ruled out, so far as the United States is concerned, any compliance with possible Russian proposals to broaden the purposes of the meeting to include other Pacific problems such as Korea.)

"The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace; it offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace, and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it.

"We believe this treaty will have the support of all those nations that honestly desire to reduce the tensions which now grip the world."

No Notes Exchanged

Tokyo, Sept. 5 (AP)—For the first time in days no notes were exchanged today between the United Nations command and Communists on the suspended Korean War cease-fire talks.

Even the Red radios, usually loaded with accusations and denunciations of the allies, were comparatively quiet.

It was believed that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. commander, had completed a message he is due to send top Red commanders. It will reply to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Tehhuai. Sunday they demanded that Ridgway either stop "instigating provocations" in the Kaesong neutral zone of Korea, where the negotiations were held, or call them off.

There was no hint of what Ridgway would say.

Rumors persisted that the U.N. commander might propose the conferences be resumed at a new location. These recurrent stories say he would propose an incident-proof site. Official efforts have failed to squelch the persistent rumors.

Ridgway originally proposed that truce talks be held on the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia off beseiged Wonsan on the Korean east coast. The Reds suggested Kaesong, in territory they hold in South Korea.

Edelmuth Predicts Success for Bond Drive in County

As America's First U. S. Defense Bond Drive opened throughout the United States on September 3, William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the Ulster County Defense Bond Committee, emphasized the importance of the Defense Bond program to America's defense mobilization effort and predicted that residents of Ulster county will give the drive their wholehearted support.

"The Defense Bond program," said the former mayor of Kingston "is one of the strongest weapons we have in keeping our country strong and free. Through the purchase of Defense Bonds we not only back up our Armed Forces who stand ready to defend us against aggression, but we also provide for our own, and our family's security.

"The people of Ulster county have in the past given enthusiastic backing to campaigns that have benefited our country. Here, once again, is this great country. I and all volunteers are confident the First Defense Bond Drive will receive all-out support bcause— defense is everybody's job!"

Steel Allowances Cut

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Steel allowances for ordinary consumer goods today were cut to 58 per cent of the pre-Korea level, effective Oct. 1. This is lower than the cuts forecast. Announcing the action, Manly Fleischman, national production administrator, said that if the copper strike continues further cuts in passenger cars, radios, washing machines and other consumer items will be inevitable.

Indian Is Buried

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—A grave in tree-shaded Arlington National Cemetery marked the end of the trail today for an Indian warrior denied burial in a private cemetery in Iowa because he was not white. A grave was prepared for him near the final resting place of a more widely known hero of Korea, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army commander during the bitterest phases of the fighting. Worcester Child Dies of Burns

George Huthsteiner, 3rd, seven months old son of Dr. and Mrs. George Huthsteiner of Worcester, Mass., died Tuesday at Kingston Hospital from second and third degree burns which he sustained Monday morning when the infant pulled over an electric bottle warmer in which his mother was warming milk.

The accident happened at the home of Mrs. Helen O'Connor at Hurley. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly issued a verdict of accidental death from second and third degree burns.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who conducted an investigation with Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh, said the infant had been playing on the floor when he apparently pulled the electric cord from the socket, spilling hot water and milk over his face and left side. The child was taken to Kingston Hospital by his mother and grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner, and was attended by Dr. D. S. Myers.

At the time of the accident, Mrs. Huthsteiner and her infant son were visiting at the O'Connor home. Mrs. O'Connor is a sister of Louis Huthsteiner. Besides his parents, the baby is survived by his grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner and his grandmother, Mrs. Ursula Huthsteiner.

Adamic Death Is Listed as Suicide

Flemington, N. J., Sept. 5 (AP)—Local authorities today listed the death of Louis Adamic, writer and fighter for minority tolerance, as suicide but invited the FBI to probe the possibility of left-wing murder.

The 52-year-old Yugoslav-born author who recently found Marshall Tito more to his liking than Russia's Stalin was found yesterday in his burning farmhouse in nearby Milford with a bullet in his head and a rifle across his knees.

"There appears to be nothing to indicate anything other than suicide," Hunterdon county prosecutor H. T. Heisel said but added, "I have personally notified the FBI at Newark in case they desire to inspect the premises because of Mr. Adamic's political writings."

After Adamic's part-time secretary revealed that he had been threatened about his forthcoming book on Yugoslavia under Tito, FBI headquarters in Newark said a decision would probably be reached later today on whether to enter the case.

The invitation of the FBI came after Adamic's part- time secretary revealed that four unidentified men threatened him about his forthcoming book on Yugislavia under Tito. However, S. K. McKee, FBI agent in charge, said today at Newark that the FBI would take no part in the investigations

Mrs. Ethel Sharp, a Milford bank clerk who had been helping Adamic prepare his latest work, said the writer was visited by four strangers last fall. She quoted Adamic as saying without any explanation or apparent concern that the men told him "it had just better be a good book."

State Police found kerosene-soaked rags scattered about Adamic's house and his garage and kitchen on fire when they located his body in an upstair bedroom. They said the fire was apparently deliberately set and the bullet "supposedly self-inflicted."

Adamic, a staunch defender of the foreign-born in America and a prolific writer on labor and minority struggles, supported Henry Wallace on the Progressive ticket for president in 1948. He denied any connection with the Communist party and was writing a book to be called "The Eagle and the Roots" about Tito's break with the Russian Reds.

Gang of Juveniles Uses Woman's Love Of Cats to Extort

Houston, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP)—A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to bilk her of what they estimated at $2,000 to $3,000 in less than a year's time.

Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children, aged 9 to 16.

Crime Prevention Detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Horton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annella Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat.

The detectives said Mrs. Edmond rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the lads not to torture the animal any more, she gave them each $1.

Next day the boys again threw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmonds' house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone.

Word Spreads

The word spread to other boys. Soon they were bringing cats to Mrs. Edmonds and threatening to torture them unless she bought the animals at $3 each. Mrs. Edmonds bought the cats.

Almost every day she bought cats, and the detectives said a 13-year-old boy soon became the "brains" for the group.

The boys told the detectives they had gotten from $2,000 to $3,000 from Mrs. Edmonds in ten months.

The gang leader thought of "refinements" to get money. He called and told Mrs. Edmonds he had found a cat with a broken back but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10.

A surprising number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds.

Police investigated last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid. The 11 boys were arrested over the week-end.

Will Move Fast

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Federal attorneys promised to move "as fast as we can"—probably today—to seek a court order to end the copper strike for at least 80 days. President Truman last night called for immediate court action. He acted in San Francisco, where he had gone for the opening of the Japanese peace treaty conference.

Says School Maligned

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 5 (AP)—A grand jury here said a Treadwell High teacher "viciously maligned" the school by charging it harbored a lurid "non-virgins club." The jury report yesterday said there wasn't the slightest trace of evidence to support the story told by Mrs. Maurine D. Hayslip, eighth grade history teacher and wife of a Methodist minister.

Budenz Thinks Man Slain by Red Agents

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP)—Louis P. Budenz, one-time Communist editor and leader, said today he believes it is "quite likely" author Louis Adamic was slain by Soviet underground agents.

Budenz is a former editor of the Daily Worker, New York newspaper which is the official organ of the Communist party in the United States. He turned against the Communists years ago, and since has testified before congressional committees and written and spoken extensively on Communist activities.

He told a U. S. Senate subcommittee in 1948 that he had been assigned by the Communist leadership to "corrupt" Adamic.

Second Petition

the city clerk on June 30 and that was also called illegal by Connelly in that "it lacked a plan for raising the money for salaries."

Ruling on the legality of the second petition, Corporation Counsel Connelly advised the city clerk: "In order for this additional petition to be filed in your office, it must comply with the provisions of Section 19-a of the City Home Rule of the State of New York" . . . which says:

Must Have Plan

'No such proposed local law requiring the expenditure of money shall be accepted by the city clerk or be adopted or become effective unless there shall be submitted as part of such proposed local law, a plan to provide moneys and revenues to meet such proposed expenditures.'

Connelly further ruled that: "Leaving entirely to the Common Council the problem of providing moneys to meet the cost of the salary increases can hardly be deemed a plan, as required by the City Home Rule Law. In fact, to hold such a proposal to be a plan is to render ineffective the provisions of the recent amendment of law adopted by the Legislature of the State of New York.

Petitions Are Alike

"Since local laws contained in both the original and additional petitions are the same, it is my considered opinion that the proposed local law included in the additional petitions also does not comply with Section 19-a of the City Home Rule Law . . ."

Connelly cited, "That the local law proposed in the present additional petition provides that it is to become effective November 7, 1951 and that the Common Council shall issue budget notes in order to pay the increased salaries between that date and December 31, 1951. Such budget notes would be included in and paid out of the budget of the City of Kingston for the year 1952. Subsequent to December 31, 1951 the moneys necessary to meet the salary increases is to be raised by the Common Council from those sources and through the manner by which the Common Council is authorized by law to raise money for salaries . . ."

It is charged he picked up a city girl who was visiting in the area. A plea of innocent was entered and bail was continued. Abram Molyneaux appears for Daniels.

It is alleged he resisted Chief of Police Leonard Newkirk of New Paltz when an attempt to arrest defendant was made. Peter Harp appeared for Crawford. The act was committed allegedly on July 14, last. The grand jury reommended that Crawford be tried as a youthful offender. Crawford waived his right to a jury trial and entered a plea of innocent to being a youthful offender. His case will come up on September 17. The indictment was ordered sealed and bail was continued.

Judge Cashin then recessed court until next Monday and excused jurors until 2 o'clock on September 10.

On the call of the trial jurors only seven of those present asked to be excused from service. Judge Cashin excused them.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Automobile shares sparked a mild rally today in the stock market and brought prices up moderately.

Buying came into the motor division in midmorning, evidently in response to the prospect of a price increase under the sponsorship of the Office of Price Stabilization.

Steels and some rails joined in the higher movement with more activity than average. Chemicals and oils, together with a long list of miscellaneous issues, posted higher prices but there was little trading interest shown.

The cuts in steel allotments to producers of durable consumer goods announced by the Defense Production Administration had little immediate impact on the market.

Gulf Oil was the best performer in its division after reporting what might turn out to be a "discovery of major proportions" in a wildcat well in western Canada.

Horses Credited Again

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Horses get credit again this year for giving Saratoga county residents one of the lowest tax rates in the state. The State Tax Commission said yesterday that a total of $20,378,023 had been bet at the pari-mutuel machines during the 24-day Saratoga meeting, which ended Saturday. That means the county treasury, which levies a five per cent local tax on the handle, has $1,018,901 coming. The county board of supervisors will meet next Monday to split the annual horse-racing melon.

U. S. and Britain

pation and Far Eastern commander last April over Korean issues, and to MacArthur's successor, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Both names were greeted with loud applause.

Tribute to Dulles

Mr. Truman also paid tribute to John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser in the State Department and architect of Japanese peace making. Again applause broke out.

But the sections of his speech on which the President placed his heaviest emphasis, speaking slowly and in a loud voice, were those dealing with present world dangers and American steps to meet them, including new defense treaties in the Pacific.

"Unfortunately, today, the world is faced with new threats of aggression," he said.

"Many of the countries represented here are now engaged in a hard fight to uphold the United Nations against international lawbreaking."

At that point he departed from his prepared text and said: "There are thugs among nations just as there are among individuals."

In this situation, Mr. Truman said, it is necessary for unarmed Japan to protect itself against aggression, and it has requested "to enter into a bilateral treaty (with the U. S.) for Japan's immediate security." That pact would provide for American forces in Japan after the peace treaty ends the occupation.

Tackles Question

It was toward the end of his talk that Mr. Truman tackled the question which has focused the attention of delegates ever since they arrived—what will Russia do and what will it mean?

He said that beyond making peace with Japan the most important step required toward general peace in the Pacific is the restoration of peace in Korea. Then he said it should be possible to settle other Pacific problems "which now threaten peace." He went on:

"The United States has made clear on many occasions its desire to explore with other governments at the proper time and in the proper forum, how this might be accomplished.

"There are many well established ways in which next steps can be explored, if there is a genuine desire for peace in all quarters.

"But these are not matters which can be dealt with in our present conference. We have come here to take a single step —but a step of utmost importance.

(This ruled out, so far as the United States is concerned, any compliance with possible Russian proposals to broaden the purposes of the meeting to include other Pacific problems such as Korea.)

"The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace; it offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace, and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it.

"We believe this treaty will have the support of all those nations that honestly desire to reduce the tensions which now grip the world."

No Notes Exchanged

Tokyo, Sept. 5 (AP)—For the first time in days no notes were exchanged today between the United Nations command and Communists on the suspended Korean War cease-fire talks.

Even the Red radios, usually loaded with accusations and denunciations of the allies, were comparatively quiet.

It was believed that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. commander, had completed a message he is due to send top Red commanders. It will reply to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Tehhuai. Sunday they demanded that Ridgway either stop "instigating provocations" in the Kaesong neutral zone of Korea, where the negotiations were held, or call them off.

There was no hint of what Ridgway would say.

Rumors persisted that the U.N. commander might propose the conferences be resumed at a new location. These recurrent stories say he would propose an incident-proof site. Official efforts have failed to squelch the persistent rumors.

Ridgway originally proposed that truce talks be held on the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia off beseiged Wonsan on the Korean east coast. The Reds suggested Kaesong, in territory they hold in South Korea.

Edelmuth Predicts Success for Bond Drive in County

As America's First U. S. Defense Bond Drive opened throughout the United States on September 3, William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the Ulster County Defense Bond Committee, emphasized the importance of the Defense Bond program to America's defense mobilization effort and predicted that residents of Ulster county will give the drive their wholehearted support.

"The Defense Bond program," said the former mayor of Kingston "is one of the strongest weapons we have in keeping our country strong and free. Through the purchase of Defense Bonds we not only back up our Armed Forces who stand ready to defend us against aggression, but we also provide for our own, and our family's security.

"The people of Ulster county have in the past given enthusiastic backing to campaigns that have benefited our country. Here, once again, is this great country. I and all volunteers are confident the First Defense Bond Drive will receive all-out support because— defense is everybody's job!"

Steel Allowances Cut

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Steel allowances for ordinary consumer goods today were cut to 58 per cent of the pre-Korea level, effective Oct. 1. This is lower than the cuts forecast. Announcing the action, Manly Fleischman, national production administrator, said that if the copper strike continues further cuts in passenger cars, radios, washing machines and other consumer items will be inevitable.

A grave was prepared for him near the final resting place of a more widely known hero of Korea, Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Eighth Army commander during the bitterest phases of the fighting. Worcester Child Dies of Burns

George Huthsteiner, 3rd, seven months old son of Dr. and Mrs. George Huthsteiner of Worcester, Mass., died Tuesday at Kingston Hospital from second and third degree burns which he sustained Monday morning when the infant pulled over an electric bottle warmer in which his mother was warming milk.

The accident happened at the home of Mrs. Helen O'Connor at Hurley. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly issued a verdict of accidental death from second and third degree burns.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who conducted an investigation with Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh, said the infant had been playing on the floor when he apparently pulled the electric cord from the socket, spilling hot water and milk over his face and left side. The child was taken to Kingston Hospital by his mother and grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner, and was attended by Dr. D. S. Myers.

At the time of the accident, Mrs. Huthsteiner and her infant son were visiting at the O'Connor home. Mrs. O'Connor is a sister of Louis Huthsteiner. Besides his parents, the baby is survived by his grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner and his grandmother, Mrs. Ursula Huthsteiner.

Dr. Huthsteiner is associated with the State Hospital at Worcester, Mass.

Adamic Death Is Listed as Suicide

Flemington, N. J., Sept. 5 (AP)—Local authorities today listed the death of Louis Adamic, writer and fighter for minority tolerance, as suicide but invited the FBI to probe the possibility of left-wing murder.

The 52-year-old Yugoslav-born author who recently found Marshall Tito more to his liking than Russia's Stalin was found yesterday in his burning farmhouse in nearby Milford with a bullet in his head and a rifle across his knees.

"There appears to be nothing to indicate anything other than suicide," Hunterdon county prosecutor H. T. Heisel said but added, "I have personally notified the FBI at Newark in case they desire to inspect the premises because of Mr. Adamic's political writings."

After Adamic's part-time secretary revealed that he had been threatened about his forthcoming book on Yugoslavia under Tito, FBI headquarters in Newark said a decision would probably be reached later today on whether to enter the case.

The invitation of the FBI came after Adamic's part- time secretary revealed that four unidentified men threatened him about his forthcoming book on Yuglslavia under Tito. However, S. K. McKee, FBI agent in charge, said today at Newark that the FBI would take no part in the investigations

Mrs. Ethel Sharp, a Milford bank clerk who had been helping Adamic prepare his latest work, said the writer was visited by four strangers last fall. She quoted Adamic as saying without any explanation or apparent concern that the men told him "it had just better be a good book."

State Police found kerosene-soaked rags scattered about Adamic's house and his garage and kitchen on fire when they located his body in an upstair bedroom. They said the fire was apparently deliberately set and the bullet "supposedly self-inflicted."

Adamic, a staunch defender of the foreign-born in America and a prolific writer on labor and minority struggles, supported Henry Wallace on the Progressive ticket for president in 1948. He denied any connection with the Communist party and was writing a book to be called "The Eagle and the Roots" about Tito's break with the Russian Reds.

Gang of Juveniles Uses Woman's Love Of Cats to Extort

Houston, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP)—A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to bilk her of what they estimated at $2,000 to $3,000 in less than a year's time.

Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children, aged 9 to 16.

Crime Prevention Detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Horton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annella Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat.

The detectives said Mrs. Edmond rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the lads not to torture the animal any more, she gave them each $1.

Next day the boys again threw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmonds' house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone.

Word Spreads

The word spread to other boys. Soon they were bringing cats to Mrs. Edmonds and threatening to torture them unless she bought the animals at $3 each. Mrs. Edmonds bought the cats.

Almost every day she bought cats, and the detectives said a 13-year-old boy soon became the "brains" for the group.

The boys told the detectives they had gotten from $2,000 to $3,000 from Mrs. Edmonds in ten months.

The gang leader thought of "refinements" to get money. He called and told Mrs. Edmonds he had found a cat with a broken back but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10.

A surprising number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds.

Police investigated last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid. The 11 boys were arrested over the week-end.

Will Move Fast

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Federal attorneys promised to move "as fast as we can"—probably today—to seek a court order to end the copper strike for at least 80 days. President Truman last night called for immediate court action. He acted in San Francisco, where he had gone for the opening of the Japanese peace treaty conference.

Says School Maligned

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 5 (AP)—A grand jury here said a Treadwell High teacher "viciously maligned" the school by charging it harbored a lurid "non-virgins club." The jury report yesterday said there wasn't the slightest trace of evidence to support the story told by Mrs. Maurine D. Hayslip, eighth grade history teacher and wife of a Methodist minister.

Budenz Thinks Man Slain by Red Agents

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP)—Louis P. Budenz, one-time Communist editor and leader, said today he believes it is "quite likely" author Louis Adamic was slain by Soviet underground agents.

Budenz is a former editor of the Daily Worker, New York newspaper which is the official organ of the Communist party in the United States. He turned against the Communists years ago, and since has testified before congressional committees and written and spoken extensively on Communist activities.

He told a U. S. Senate subcommittee in 1948 that he had been assigned by the Communist leadership to "corrupt" Adamic.

Second Petition

the city clerk on June 30 and that was also called illegal by Connelly in that "it lacked a plan for raising the money for salaries."

Ruling on the legality of the second petition, Corporation Counsel Connelly advised the city clerk: "In order for this additional petition to be filed in your office, it must comply with the provisions of Section 19-a of the City Home Rule of the State of New York" . . . which says:

Must Have Plan

"No such proposed local law requiring the expenditure of money shall be accepted by the city clerk or be adopted or become effective unless there shall be submitted as part of such proposed local law, a plan to provide moneys and revenues to meet such proposed expenditures.'

Connelly further ruled that: "Leaving entirely to the Common Council the problem of providing moneys to meet the cost of the salary increases can hardly be deemed a plan, as required by the City Home Rule Law. In fact, to hold such a proposal to be a plan is to render ineffective the provisions of the recent amendment of law adopted by the Legislature of the State of New York.

Petitions Are Alike

"Since local laws contained in both the original and additional petitions are the same, it is my considered opinion that the proposed local law included in the additional petitions also does not comply with Section 19-a of the City Home Rule Law . . ."

Connelly cited, "That the local law proposed in the present additional petition provides that it is to become effective November 7, 1951 and that the Common Council shall issue budget notes in order to pay the increased salaries between that date and December 31, 1951. Such budget notes would be included in and paid out of the budget of the City of Kingston for the year 1952. Subsequent to December 31, 1951 the moneys necessary to meet the salary increases is to be raised by the Common Council from those sources and through the manner by which the Common Council is authorized by law to raise money for salaries . . ."

Charged With Rape

Francis Daniels, Olive, was arraigned on a charge of rape, first degree, and assault, second degree, alleged to have been committed on May 26. It is charged he picked up a city girl who was visiting in the area. A plea of innocent was entered and bail was continued. Abram Molyneaux appears for Daniels.

Ross Crwford, New Paltz, was arraigned on a charge of resisting an officer, a violation of Section 1851 of the Penal Law. It is alleged he resisted Chief of Police Leonard Newkirk of New Paltz when an attempt to arrest defendant was made. Peter Harp appeared for Crawford. The act was committed allegedly on July 14, last. The grand jury reommended that Crawford be tried as a youthful offender. Crawford waived his right to a jury trial and entered a plea of innocent to being a youthful offender. His case will come up on September 17. The indictment was ordered sealed and bail was continued.

Judge Cashin then recessed court until next Monday and excused jurors until 2 o'clock on September 10.

On the call of the trial jurors only seven of those present asked to be excused from service. Judge Cashin excused them.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Automobile shares sparked a mild rally today in the stock market and brought prices up moderately.

Buying came into the motor division in midmorning, evidently in response to the prospect of a price increase under the sponsorship of the Office of Price Stabilization.

Steels and some rails joined in the higher movement with more activity than average. Chemicals and oils, together with a long list of miscellaneous issues, posted higher prices but there was little trading interest shown.

The cuts in steel allotments to producers of durable consumer goods announced by the Defense Production Administration had little immediate impact on the market.

Gulf Oil was the best performer in its division after reporting what might turn out to be a "discovery of major proportions" in a wildcat well in western Canada.

Horses Credited Again

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Horses get credit again this year for giving Saratoga county residents one of the lowest tax rates in the state. The State Tax Commission said yesterday that a total of $20,378,023 had been bet at the pari-mutuel machines during the 24-day Saratoga meeting, which ended Saturday. That means the county treasury, which levies a five per cent local tax on the handle, has $1,018,901 coming. The county board of supervisors will meet next Monday to split the annual horse-racing melon.

U. S. and Britain

pation and Far Eastern commander last April over Korean issues, and to MacArthur's successor, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Both names were greeted with loud applause.

Tribute to Dulles

Mr. Truman also paid tribute to John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser in the State Department and architect of Japanese peace making. Again applause broke out.

But the sections of his speech on which the President placed his heaviest emphasis, speaking slowly and in a loud voice, were those dealing with present world dangers and American steps to meet them, including new defense treaties in the Pacific.

"Unfortunately, today, the world is faced with new threats of aggression," he said.

"Many of the countries represented here are now engaged in a hard fight to uphold the United Nations against international lawbreaking."

At that point he departed from his prepared text and said: "There are thugs among nations just as there are among individuals."

In this situation, Mr. Truman said, it is necessary for unarmed Japan to protect itself against aggression, and it has requested "to enter into a bilateral treaty (with the U. S.) for Japan's immediate security." That pact would provide for American forces in Japan after the peace treaty ends the occupation.

Tackles Question

It was toward the end of his talk that Mr. Truman tackled the question which has focused the attention of delegates ever since they arrived—what will Russia do and what will it mean?

He said that beyond making peace with Japan the most important step required toward general peace in the Pacific is the restoration of peace in Korea. Then he said it should be possible to settle other Pacific problems "which now threaten peace." He went on:

"The United States has made clear on many occasions its desire to explore with other governments at the proper time and in the proper forum, how this might be accomplished.

"There are many well established ways in which next steps can be explored, if there is a genuine desire for peace in all quarters.

"But these are not matters which can be dealt with in our present conference. We have come here to take a single step—but a step of utmost importance.

(This ruled out, so far as the United States is concerned, any compliance with possible Russian proposals to broaden the purposes of the meeting to include other Pacific problems such as Korea.)

"The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace; it offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace, and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it.

"We believe this treaty will have the support of all those nations that honestly desire to reduce the tensions which now grip the world."

No Notes Exchanged

Tokyo, Sept. 5 (AP)—For the first time in days no notes were exchanged today between the United Nations command and Communists on the suspended Korean War cease-fire talks.

Even the Red radios, usually loaded with accusations and denunciations of the allies, were comparatively quiet.

It was believed that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. commander, had completed a message he is is due to send top Red commanders. It will reply to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai. Sunday they demanded that Ridgway either stop "instigating provocations" in the Kaesong neutral zone of Korea, where the negotiations were held, or call them off.

There was no hint of what Ridgway would say.

Rumors persisted that the U.N. commander might propose the conferences be resumed at a new location. These recurrent stories say he would propose an incident-proof site. Official efforts have failed to squelch the persistent rumors.

Ridgway originally proposed that truce talks be held on the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia off beseiged Wonsan on the Korean east coast. The Reds suggested Kaesong, in territory they hold in South Korea.

BILL MARTIN

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 4—The adventures of Vivien Kellems and the Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., indicate that people who simply refuse to comply and remit the money have nothing to fear. That is to say, no need to fear criminal penalties because, plainly, the Treasury, the Department of Justice, Congress and the White House are afraid of the people. They don't dare apply the criminal penalties against individuals, especially respectable domestic women, knowing that juries would acquit them and that the people would come to realize that the government had embezzled billions in a gigantic fraud put over by Congress. The till is empty. The crooks stole it all as fast as it came in, and they all are afraid that even their own packed Supreme Court, ignorant and politically venal as it is, would have to reject not only the federal check-off but the corrupt body and soul of Social Security and bring on a terrible crash. Congress would have to do some nimble scrambling to head off a revolution then.

If you visualize the situation that those congressmen and senators knowingly prescribed to enforce the theft of billions to back the government payrolls of the Democratic organization, you understand why they are afraid. They were going to send to prison ten thousand, perhaps a million American women, mothers of countless children, wives of the taxpayers who put up the money for their wanton follies. They were willing to write the criminal penalty to frighten the American women into stealing money with contributions of their own, not to amass a "fund" for Social Security for the maids but to gather more money for them to squander on a million worthless political bums planted in their foul bureaucracy.

But they were afraid to come straight out so they provided that the criminal penalty should be the same as that proved in another law. And that one was not spelled out, either, but was the same as another provided in still another law. And so on, until a lawyer has run down these other laws and finds eventually that the criminal penalty for willful refusal to collect the check-off from a worker, whether for income tax or social security, is the same as that for failure to pay the tax on a pistol, which is the same as that for failure to break the stamp on a new deck of cards and so on into absurdity. That venture into obscurity wasn't accidental. They planned it that way because they were afraid of the people.

There is nothing to fear in the power of attachment exercised in the case of the Marshall girls. This compels the treasury to serve three papers in each petty case four times a year. This takes days and days of time of government executives, lawyers, clerks and treasury agents and it is plainly a losing proposition for the treasury. The individual amounts are trifling. Mrs. Smith is nicked for $2.12 for the second quarter on a yard-boy who didn't even know he was playing, plus 11 cents penalty. Four times a year, the treasury has to go to her bank and serve an attachment and two other legal papers prepared by clerks and lawyers and the agents may have to drive a hundred miles in each instance.

But Vivien Kellems and the Marshall girls noticed that nothing was said about sending them to prison and that seemed mighty queer because they certainly did what they did wilfully and defiantly. Criminal prosecution would dramatize the situation. Nobody in the government is willing to risk that.

Martin Dies, of Texas, who has taken the case of the Marshall girls, to carry it to the Supreme Court, estimates that at least half of the housewives of Texas have violated the Social Security check-off by simply ignoring it. The job of proceeding against all of them, according to the Marshall, (Tex.) plan, would be fantastic so you may be confident that their violations will be ignored. If a million or two or ten million others also ignore it, the law will become a dead letter and the consequences of that would be so disturbing that Congress would be forced to repeal the whole business.

What, then, of the millions of people who have paid billions into the treasury for social security to be embezzled during these years? No question about it, they or their heirs must be reimbursed. The employers must be reimbursed, too, because the money taken from them for this fraud was the proceeds of extortion. But, somehow we could manage. Then for a substitute if the people really want Social Security, we could have an honest, voluntary system paid for by the workers who expect to receive the benefits, not by the employers who have no duty in the situation. After all workers are people, not serfs of the employers. It is as much their privilege as their duty to manage their own affairs and provide for their own old age by their own earnings.

Contributions are coming into finance the court test of the Marshall girls. I have forwarded $160 to date. I hope contributors will not send their donations for this cause to me but to Mrs. Winifred Furrh, Marshall, Tex., who will acknowledge them.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

When federal regulation of the salaries of major league baseball players becomes an accomplished fact, as it has through the Wage Stabilization law, one can get a clear idea of what the politicians will do when a depression comes along.

Consider this situation: Stanley Musial, the star outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team and perhaps the greatest hitter in the national pastime today, received a substantial salary increase this year. The owner of his club wanted to pay it. Stanley richly deserved the increase.

But the Salary Stabilization Board said: "Go slow — maybe this salary increase isn't legal!" And so, as I am writing these lines, a college president, a well-known newspaper writer and columnist and Ty Cobb—that all-time baseball great—are acting as a committee to determine the legality of the whole business.

There is only one Stanley Musial in America. I'll wager that every major league manager would choose Stanley first in his choice of star outfielders. Yet the interpretation of the Wage Stabilization law prompts the authorities to reach way down in the artist's class and say: "No, you can't have this salary increase. It would aid the inflation spiral!"

The wages, it seems to me, of a million steel workers, railroad employes and automobile assemblers are one thing. There is where the wage inflation comes from principally.

But when Stanley Musial, an artist of the first order and probably the greatest baseball player in the world today, is brought into the same economic picture and some question is raised about his salary, I say that America has come to a dangerous point in the political control of our economic life.

I am not making a mountain out of a molehill either. In the United States, we have come to a place where all sorts of regulatory laws are passed. And then, with a hundred situations developing that come under the supervision, we call on people to say whether this artist's salary and that professional champion's pay are legal.

I know that this wage business is serious today. But I think that Stanley Musial's salary increase would contribute about as much to the inflationary spiral as my winter spending in Nassau did when I was there last year.

My concern of this whole matter centers about the intimate and intricate government controls of our economic life. When the government possesses powers to say to Mr. Musial: "No, sir, you cannot have this salary increase!" a sad and dangerous day has arrived.

Stanley Musial is one man in 150,000,000 people. What in the world will the government do in 1961 and 1971 if America experiences a depression faintly resembling that of the nineteen thirties.

In our country there is a small army of economists who, for reasonable fees, will appear as experts in a hundred different fields that need some clarification We were told, for example, about fifteen years ago, that the Federal debt didn't mean anything: that we owed it to ourselves. In those days, economic rationalization was most common.

Well, the way Federal regulation is going now I can see Washington crowded with economists acting as experts to the politicians who, completely hedged in by the problems of their own making, take the advice of the economists and pass dozens of laws badly conceived as is the regulation governing Stanley Musial's salary.

Sometime America will experience a depression. The worse it is, the surer it will be that Federal control will settle down on this great land and our free enterprise system will go into eclipse.

It is highly important, I think, that all investors recognize what forces are settling down on America and through our legislative bodies hold off the insidious powers that threaten the country.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 4—The adventures of Vivien Kellems and the Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., indicate that people who simply refuse to comply and remit the money have nothing to fear. That is to say, no need to fear criminal penalties because, plainly, the Treasury, the Department of Justice, Congress and the White House are afraid of the people. They don't dare apply the criminal penalties against individuals, especially respectable domestic women, knowing that juries would acquit them and that the people would come to realize that the government had embezzled billions in a gigantic fraud put over by Congress. The till is empty. The crooks stole it all as fast as it came in, and they all are afraid that even their own packed Supreme Court, ignorant and politically venal as it is, would have to reject not only the federal check-off but the corrupt body and soul of Social Security and bring on a terrible crash. Congress would have to do some nimble scrambling to head off a revolution then.

If you visualize the situation that those congressmen and senators knowingly prescribed to enforce the theft of billions to back the government payrolls of the Democratic organization, you understand why they are afraid. They were going to send to prison ten thousand, perhaps a million American women, mothers of countless children, wives of the taxpayers who put up the money for their wanton follies. They were willing to write the criminal penalty to frighten the American women into stealing money with contributions of their own, not to amass a "fund" for Social Security for the maids but to gather more money for them to squander on a million worthless political bums planted in their foul bureaucracy.

But they were afraid to come straight out so they provided that the criminal penalty should be the same as that proved in another law. And that one was not spelled out, either, but was the same as another provided in still another law. And so on, until a lawyer has run down these other laws and finds eventually that the criminal penalty for willful refusal to collect the check-off from a worker, whether for income tax or social security, is the same as that for failure to pay the tax on a pistol, which is the same as that for failure to break the stamp on a new deck of cards and so on into absurdity. That venture into obscurity wasn't accidental. They planned it that way because they were afraid of the people.

There is nothing to fear in the power of attachment exercised in the case of the Marshall girls. This compels the treasury to serve three papers in each petty case four times a year. This takes days and days of time of government executives, lawyers, clerks and treasury agents and it is plainly a losing proposition for the treasury. The individual amounts are trifling. Mrs. Smith is nicked for $2.12 for the second quarter on a yard-boy who didn't even know he was playing, plus 11 cents penalty. Four times a year, the treasury has to go to her bank and serve an attachment and two other legal papers prepared by clerks and lawyers and the agents may have to drive a hundred miles in each instance.

But Vivien Kellems and the Marshall girls noticed that nothing was said about sending them to prison and that seemed mighty queer because they certainly did what they did wilfully and defiantly. Criminal prosecution would dramatize the situation. Nobody in the government is willing to risk that.

Martin Dies, of Texas, who has taken the case of the Marshall girls, to carry it to the Supreme Court, estimates that at least half of the housewives of Texas have violated the Social Security check-off by simply ignoring it. The job of proceeding against all of them, according to the Marshall, (Tex.) plan, would be fantastic so you may be confident that their violations will be ignored. If a million or two or ten million others also ignore it, the law will become a dead letter and the consequences of that would be so disturbing that Congress would be forced to repeal the whole business.

What, then, of the millions of people who have paid billions into the treasury for social security to be embezzled during these years? No question about it, they or their heirs must be reimbursed. The employers must be reimbursed, too, because the money taken from them for this fraud was the proceeds of extortion. But, somehow we could manage. Then for a substitute if the people really want Social Security, we could have an honest, voluntary system paid for by the workers who expect to receive the benefits, not by the employers who have no duty in the situation. After all workers are people, not serfs of the employers. It is as much their privilege as their duty to manage their own affairs and provide for their own old age by their own earnings.

Contributions are coming into finance the court test of the Marshall girls. I have forwarded $160 to date. I hope contributors will not send their donations for this cause to me but to Mrs. Winifred Furrh, Marshall, Tex., who will acknowledge them.

Investor Forum

When federal regulation of the salaries of major league baseball players becomes an accomplished fact, as it has through the Wage Stabilization law, one can get a clear idea of what the politicians will do when a depression comes along.

Consider this situation: Stanley Musial, the star outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team and perhaps the greatest hitter in the national pastime today, received a substantial salary increase this year. The owner of his club wanted to pay it. Stanley richly deserved the increase.

But the Salary Stabilization Board said: "Go slow — maybe this salary increase isn't legal!" And so, as I am writing these lines, a college president, a well-known newspaper writer and columnist and Ty Cobb—that all-time baseball great—are acting as a committee to determine the legality of the whole business.

There is only one Stanley Musial in America. I'll wager that every major league manager would choose Stanley first in his choice of star outfielders. Yet the interpretation of the Wage Stabilization law prompts the authorities to reach way down in the artist's class and say: "No, you can't have this salary increase. It would aid the inflation spiral!"

The wages, it seems to me, of a million steel workers, railroad employes and automobile assemblers are one thing. There is where the wage inflation comes from principally.

But when Stanley Musial, an artist of the first order and probably the greatest baseball player in the world today, is brought into the same economic picture and some question is raised about his salary, I say that America has come to a dangerous point in the political control of our economic life.

I am not making a mountain out of a molehill either. In the United States, we have come to a place where all sorts of regulatory laws are passed. And then, with a hundred situations developing that come under the supervision, we call on people to say whether this artist's salary and that professional champion's pay are legal.

I know that this wage business is serious today. But I think that Stanley Musial's salary increase would contribute about as much to the inflationary spiral as my winter spending in Nassau did when I was there last year.

My concern of this whole matter centers about the intimate and intricate government controls of our economic life. When the government possesses powers to say to Mr. Musial: "No, sir, you cannot have this salary increase!" a sad and dangerous day has arrived.

Stanley Musial is one man in 150,000,000 people. What in the world will the government do in 1961 and 1971 if America experiences a depression faintly resembling that of the nineteen thirties.

In our country there is a small army of economists who, for reasonable fees, will appear as experts in a hundred different fields that need some clarification We were told, for example, about fifteen years ago, that the Federal debt didn't mean anything: that we owed it to ourselves. In those days, economic rationalization was most common.

Well, the way Federal regulation is going now I can see Washington crowded with economists acting as experts to the politicians who, completely hedged in by the problems of their own making, take the advice of the economists and pass dozens of laws badly conceived as is the regulation govering Stanley Musial's salary.

Sometime America will experience a depression. The worse it is, the surer it will be that Federal control will settle down on this great land and our free enterprise system will go into eclipse.

It is highly important, I think, that all investors recognize what forces are settling down on America and through our legislative bodies hold off the insidious powers that threaten the country.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here Is a Case Of Bad Judgment

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please decide for us," requests a Dallas correspondent, "whether I am more to be pitied or scorned. In the accompanyng hand I made a losing play, but I maintain that it was bad luck rather than bad judgment.

"West opened the four of clubs, dummy played low, and I (holding the East cards) put up the jack. South won with the ace of clubs, led to the ace of hearts, and then returned a low diamond from the dummy. Here is where I made the unsuccessful play of putting up the ace of diamonds. I knew that South had one diamond at most because of his leap to three hearts over one diamond doubled. If South had the singleton king I could not afford to play low.

"As it happened, South ruffed and forced out my king of hearts by leading the queen. I returned a spade to West's ace, and a second round of spades was won by dummy's king. Declarer led the queen of diamonds from dummy, discarding a spade from his own hand. West could win with the king, but nothing could stop declarer from getting to dummy with the king of clubs to discard his losing club on the jack of diamonds.

"South could not have made the contract if I had played a low diamond on the first round of that suit. Did I make a bad play or did I have bad luck"

I'm sorry to say that my correspondent made a bad play. Many players will recognize themselves in this sad tale. They say to themselves: "If I let declarer sneak a trick home with a singleton king of diamonds, I might just as well jump out of the window." And they proceed on the theory that they'd rather kick the hand around than risk being fooled.

East's proper line of thought is very simple. If South has the king of diamonds, the contract cannot be defeated. It doesn't matter whether East takes his ace or loses it. Dummy's black kings are both sure entries, and the diamonds can surely be brought in.

The only hope is that South is void of diamonds. Therefore East should play a low diamond and take his chances.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 3—Callers in the village center the latter part of the week included Mr. and Mrs. Wilmott of Staten Island. Mr. Wilmott who is engaged in biological research, spent several summer vacations at the Jacob V. Merrihew farmhouse in previous years. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Hughes and son Robert, of Westfield, N. J., were recent visitors at the home of Mrs. Hughes' uncle and aunt. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Van Steenburgh.

John Settlemeir, Pheasant Inn proprietor is ill with sciatica.

Orpha Satterlee, Kingston woman who died Friday, was well known throughout northern Olive in early life. She was a daughter of Henry Satterlee, one time Boiceville hill road farmer and road commissioner.

Mr. Charles O. Winnie, whose death took place Friday in Brooklyn, is well remembered by older residents of the town. The former Lydia Locke was a daughter of Hugh Locke, a storekeeper in the Bishop's Falls neighborhood at the turn of the century.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Earl Schoonmaker, president of the Patrolman's Assn. for 1951 presented me with their annual program book. This year the book is dedicated to James Welch, who was appointed patrolman on December 30, 1913. He retired November 30, 1950 and died the following March 22, 1951. Also Joseph Fallon who was appointed patrolman on June 11, 1928 and died on June 29, 1951. Two other retired patrolmen shown in the book are William Roedell appointed May 29, 1921 became Sgt. on April 1, 1940, Lieut. on Nov. 1, 1946 and Capt. on Aug. 30, 1948. George Bowers, appointed patrolman July 1, 1929 and retired June 30, 1951.

There is a good coverage of the history of the police department from the time it was first organized, 60 years ago, on May 15th, 1891 with Stephen D. Hood as the first chief. Thomas J. Murray and Michael J. Cahill were sergeants. This program book also has the picture of the original police force, giving dates when they were appointed, retired and died.

There is an interesting item on our local police radio system which was installed and put in operation on April 28, 1935, which reads in part: "The ultimate object to be reached by a system of ultra high frequency radio transmission was to furnish the citizens of Kingston with rapid and efficient police service. Through the means of this system immediate communication is established by police headquarters to policemen in radio cars who are touring the city and who, while doing so, give their attention to business districts, factory buildings and premises, public buildings, residential sections, traffic investigations, and other incidental duties usually performed by a modern police department."

The article further states: "It is interesting to note that during the past 60 years there has been but one unsolved murder case on the records of Kingston's police department." Two officers of the department have lost their lives in the performance of duty . . . "It was early Tuesday evening, Feb. 6, 1919, that Officer James Lawrence placed James M. Byrd, under arrest for public intoxication, and was escorting him up the sidewalk to the city hall when Byrd's companions came to his assistance. In the melee Byrd got hold of an ugly knife and stabbed Officer Lawrence fatally. He then broke away and ran, but was captured half an hour later. He was found hiding behind some lumber within a stone's throw of the city hall. He was later tried and found guilty and in July 22, 1920, was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison."

Patrolman John G. Boyd, died from injuries received when the trolley car on which he was riding was struck by a West Shore train on the Broadway crossing. There is much more on the history of the department in the program book. But it is interesting to note at present the following equipment is operated by the Kingston Police Department: Finger printing system, teletype set up, radio transmitting unit, also have two motorcycles, five police radio cars with three-way system, headquarters to car; car to headquarters and car to car and 21 police call boxes. There are 39 men on the force. That gives us pretty good protection for a city of our size.

Most people, it has been found, are unable to hold a camera and shoot a picture at less than 1/25th of a second.

Real Estate Listing Service Is Started

A new listing service for real estate sellers, buyers and brokers has been initiated in this city by W. Kenneth Kukuk under the name of Associated Listings. The office will be at 2 John street.

Associated Listings, which operates under a New York state license, will serve as a clearing house of listings. Kukuk explained that property which is for sale will be listed by him in brochure form and will be sent to the 50 brokers in Kingston for the use of their sales organization.

Kukuk is well known in this city, having formerly operated a funeral home. He served with American Graves Registration Command in the European Theatre of Operations, and recently has been associated with the real estate business.

The listing service, unique for this city, was undertaken after a survey of the real estate sales system in this vicinity by the Marolla organization of Philadelphia showed that such a clearing house "was a prime requisite for the mutual betterment of real estate buyers, sellers and brokers," Kukuk reported.

Here Is a Case Of Bad Judgment

By OSWALD JACOBY

"Please decide for us," requests a Dallas correspondent, "whether I am more to be pitied or scorned. In the accompanying hand I made a losing play, but I maintain that it was bad luck rather than bad judgment.

"West opened the four of clubs, dummy played low, and I (holding the East cards) put up the jack. South won with the ace of clubs, led to the ace of hearts, and then returned a low diamond from the dummy. Here is where I made the unsuccessful play of putting up the ace of diamonds. I knew that South had one diamond at most because of his leap to three hearts over one diamond doubled. If South had the singleton king I could not afford to play low.

"As it happened, South ruffed and forced out my king of hearts by leading the queen. I returned a spade to West's ace, and a second round of spades was won by dummy's king. Declarer led the queen of diamonds from dummy, discarding a spade from his own hand. West could win with the king, but nothing could stop declarer from getting to dummy with the king of clubs to discard his losing club on the jack of diamonds.

"South could not have made the contract if I had played a low diamond on the first round of that suit. Did I make a bad play or did I have bad luck"

I'm sorry to say that my correspondent made a bad play. Many players will recognize themselves in this sad tale. They say to themselves: "If I let declarer sneak a trick home with a singleton king of diamonds, I might just as well jump out of the window." And they proceed on the theory that they'd rather kick the hand around than risk being fooled.

East's proper line of thought is very simple. If South has the king of diamonds, the contract cannot be defeated. It doesn't matter whether East takes his ace or loses it. Dummy's black kings are both sure entries, and the diamonds can surely be brought in.

The only hope is that South is void of diamonds. Therefore East should play a low diamond and take his chances.

Earl Schoonmaker, president of the Patrolman's Assn. for 1951 presented me with their annual program book. This year the book is dedicated to James Welch, who was appointed patrolman on December 30, 1913. He retired November 30, 1950 and died the following March 22, 1951. Also Joseph Fallon who was appointed patrolman on June 11, 1928 and died on June 29, 1951. Two other retired patrolmen shown in the book are William Roedell appointed May 29, 1921 became Sgt. on April 1, 1940, Lieut. on Nov. 1, 1946 and Capt. on Aug. 30, 1948. George Bowers, appointed patrolman July 1, 1929 and retired June 30, 1951.

There is a good coverage of the history of the police department from the time it was first organized, 60 years ago, on May 15th, 1891 with Stephen D. Hood as the first chief. Thomas J. Murray and Michael J. Cahill were sergeants. This program book also has the picture of the original police force, giving dates when they were appointed, retired and died.

There is an interesting item on our local police radio system which was installed and put in operation on April 28, 1935, which reads in part: "The ultimate object to be reached by a system of ultra high frequency radio transmission was to furnish the citizens of Kingston with rapid and efficient police service. Through the means of this system immediate communication is established by police headquarters to policemen in radio cars who are touring the city and who, while doing so, give their attention to business districts, factory buildings and premises, public buildings, residential sections, traffic investigations, and other incidental duties usually performed by a modern police department."

The article further states: "It is interesting to note that during the past 60 years there has been but one unsolved murder case on the records of Kingston's police department." Two officers of the department have lost their lives in the performance of duty . . . "It was early Tuesday evening, Feb. 6, 1919, that Officer James Lawrence placed James M. Byrd, under arrest for public intoxication, and was escorting him up the sidewalk to the city hall when Byrd's companions came to his assistance. In the melee Byrd got hold of an ugly knife and stabbed Officer Lawrence fatally. He then broke away and ran, but was captured half an hour later. He was found hiding behind some lumber within a stone's throw of the city hall. He was later tried and found guilty and in July 22, 1920, was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison."

Patrolman John G. Boyd, died from injuries received when the trolley car on which he was riding was struck by a West Shore train on the Broadway crossing. There is much more on the history of the department in the program book. But it is interesting to note at present the following equipment is operated by the Kingston Police Department: Finger printing system, teletype set up, radio transmitting unit, also have two motorcycles, five police radio cars with three-way system, headquarters to car; car to headquarters and car to car and 21 police call boxes. There are 39 men on the force. That gives us pretty good protection for a city of our size.

Real Estate Listing Service Is Started

A new listing service for real estate sellers, buyers and brokers has been initiated in this city by W. Kenneth Kukuk under the name of Associated Listings. The office will be at 2 John street.

Associated Listings, which operates under a New York state license, will serve as a clearing house of listings. Kukuk explained that property which is for sale will be listed by him in brochure form and will be sent to the 50 brokers in Kingston for the use of their sales organization.

Kukuk is well known in this city, having formerly operated a funeral home. He served with American Graves Registration Command in the European Theatre of Operations, and recently has been associated with the real estate business.

The listing service, unique for this city, was undertaken after a survey of the real estate sales system in this vicinity by the Marolla organization of Philadelphia showed that such a clearing house "was a prime requisite for the mutual betterment of real estate buyers, sellers and brokers," Kukuk reported.

Real Estate Listing Service Is Started

A new listing service for real estate sellers, buyers and brokers has been initiated in this city by W. Kenneth Kukuk under the name of Associated Listings. The office will be at 2 John street.

Associated Listings, which operates under a New York state license, will serve as a clearing house of listings. Kukuk explained that property which is for sale will be listed by him in brochure form and will be sent to the 50 brokers in Kingston for the use of their sales organization.

Kukuk is well known in this city, having formerly operated a funeral home. He served with American Graves Registration Command in the European Theatre of Operations, and recently has been associated with the real estate business.

The listing service, unique for this city, was undertaken after a survey of the real estate sales system in this vicinity by the Marolla organization of Philadelphia showed that such a clearing house "was a prime requisite for the mutual betterment of real estate buyers, sellers and brokers," Kukuk reported.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TWOFOLD CELEBRATION

A reader asks: "How may the occasion of my parents' silver wedding anniversary be given some prominence on my wedding day?"

Your mother might wear a silver grey dress and hat, and a corsage of silver flowers, and your father wear a silver boutonniere. There might also be a second, much smaller, wedding cake with their initials and 1926 on it.

First Name Calling

Dear Mrs. Post: What can a mother do when her best friends tell her children to call them by their first names? There seems no way to hold out against their wishes and the children's natural inclination. First names are easy to remember and the children never hear them called by any others.

Answer: If her friends tell the children to call them by their first names, it is entirely right for them to do as they are told.

No Toothpicks

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper to have toothpicks on a side table in the dining room in case someone would like to have one on the way out?

Answer: According to best taste toothpicks are improper outside of the privacy of your bathroom where they serve as valuable aides to the efficiency of your toothbrush.

Wait for It to Cool

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to pour coffee, tea or cocoa into the saucer so it will cool off faster?

Answer: Unthinkable from the standpoint of good taste.

Notables Invited To Benefit Play

Woodstock, Sept. 5—Town Supervisor Kenneth Wilson has extended invitations to Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of Kingston, State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, speaker of the House at Albany, and other notables to attend the opening performance of Bettina's Promise or the Broken Divining Rod, the comedy about Stockwood which the Woodstock Foundation is presenting Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 14 and 15, at the Woodstock Playhouse.

In his letter of invitation, Wilson calls the presentation of Bettina's Promise a "civic occasion," pointing out that it is written, acted and directed by Woodstock residents and is laid in a town with which all Woodstock residents are familiar, described by the authors as Stockwood.

Dignitaries invited by Wilson, besides those mentioned, include Chief Justice John T. Loughran of the State Court of Appeals; Cluett Schantz; sheriff of Ulster county; Conrad Heiselman, former mayor of Kingston; Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, Supreme Court Justice Harry Schirick, County Judge John Cashin and John Egan, attorney for the Woodstock Town Board.

Bettina's Promise or The Broken Divining Rod, by Virginia Hubbell and Fritzi Striebel, is being given for the benefit of the Woodstock Fondation. In his letter, Wilson says that "a growing number of artists are being helped to further their careers by the Woodstock Foundation." He also advises his guests that the showing of the play will be "a most enjoyable occasion."

Play Authors Will Be Feated at Party

Woodstock, Sept. 5—A party for Virginia Hubbell and Fritzi Striebel, the authors of Bettina's Promise or the Brooklyn Divining Rod, Woodstock Foundation play, will be given Friday, Sept. 7, at the Woodstock Country Club, beginning at 5 p. m.

A highlight of the party will be a broadcast of scenes from the play at 5 p. m., with Carl Hubbell, Judy Small, Al Bare and Sam Eskin.

Mrs. Hubbell and Fritzi Streibel will go to New York Monday to be interviewed on Bill Slater's program, Luncheon at Sardi's, over a coast-to-coast hookup.

In addition to talking about their play, the authors will tell the nation about the unique work the Foundation is doing to aid artists. The program will be heard over WOR and the Mutual network.

Woodstock, Sept. 5—Jessie Stagg's ceramic class entertained at a reception and show of their recent work at Mrs. Stagg's studio Sunday afternoon. Mrs. F. B. Matthews, of Kingston, and Mrs. Arnold served as hostesses for the afternoon and also exhibited ceramic pieces.

Of exceptional variety, the ceramic work on view was both excellent in quality and in design. The show included work done by the wheel, slab and coil methods, as well as a number of sculptured pieces. The glazes employed also were of unusual beauty adding to the high quality of the exhibition. In the sculpture group was a particularly appealing figurine of a little old lady sitting amongst her small ducks, and a handsomely modeled dog about four inches high.

Children's Paintings Now on Exhibition

Woodstock, Sept. 5 — Frances Stein, a Woodstock painter who has been working with children, is currently showing her students' paintings at her studio on the Old Wagon Road, Lower Ohayo Mountain, near the village.

The walls of Mrs. Stein's studio are covered entirely with the works of these prolific young painters, vivid in color, both fresh and appealing. Mrs. Stein's approach is individual, encouraging freedom of expression and the joy of creation in her students, with the tiny ones stimulated to sing as they work.

The work of the following students, who range in ages from three to 10 years, is now on view: Beth Gottlieb, 3; Freddy Rothman, 3; Leslie Gottlieb, 3; Stevy Lowy, 6; Louis Gillman, 6; Paul Gorrin, 7; Frances Halsband, 7; Judd Rothman, 8; Maxine Shwartzbaum, 8; and Joan Lowy, 10.

The exhibit will continue through Sept. 8.

Mrs. Stein has announced that next summer she will conduct morning sessions for children during July and August.

Most Rugged Tank Now Rolls Off Factory Line

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—The army's newest tank is rolling off the assembly lines at the American Locomotive Company Plant here. The firm says it's the most rugged ever built.

American Locomotive also describes the improved "General Patton" tank as "fast on it's feet." The company adds that it has greater firepower, including a 90mm gun, and offers greater protection for its crew than the former type.

The company and the Army Ordnance Corps said yesterday that the tanks produced here were the first of the new model to be manufactured by a private concern. The army arsenal in Detroit also is producting the new model.

Two Scientists Say They Know Flesh And Bone Secret

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Two California scientists say they have discovered the basic structure of flesh and bone—that living tissues are largely like a coil of rope, twisted strands of gold, or a woman's pleated skirt.

The discoveries were reported yesterday to the American Chemical Society by doctors Linus Pauling and Robert B. Corey, of the California Institute of Technology. The society is holding its diamond jubilee meeting here with 18,000 chemists from 43 countries attending.

Coils, twists and pleats, Pauling and Corey said, from the structure of proteins, the substances which make most living tissues like sinews, skin, bone and blood.

Long chains, known as polypeptides, make up the porteins. These chains contain thousands of "beads," the tiny molecules of acids.

When coiled like a rope, the scientists say, the chains make hair, wool, muscle, finger nails and several other protein forms.

If three chains are twisted around each other, they add, the result is skin, bone, tendons and some parts of blood.

A variation on the coil is the arrangement of the chains like the pleats of a women's skirt, but zig-zag across, instead of up-and-down.

There are uncounted thousands of different proteins. The chains can be made of various combinations of about 20 different acids, and other substances or molecules attach themselves along the chain.

But this discovery reduces proteins to three original forms—coils, twists and pleats.

TWOFOLD CELEBRATION

A reader asks: "How may the occasion of my parents' silver wedding anniversary be given some prominence on my wedding day?"

Your mother might wear a silver grey dress and hat, and a corsage of silver flowers, and your father wear a silver boutonniere. There might also be a second, much smaller, wedding cake with their initials and 1926 on it.

First Name Calling

Dear Mrs. Post: What can a mother do when her best friends tell her children to call them by their first names? There seems no way to hold out against their wishes and the children's natural inclination. First names are easy to remember and the children never hear them called by any others.

Answer: If her friends tell the children to call them by their first names, it is entirely right for them to do as they are told.

No Toothpicks

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper to have toothpicks on a side table in the dining room in case someone would like to have one on the way out?

Answer: According to best taste toothpicks are improper outside of the privacy of your bathroom where they serve as valuable aides to the efficiency of your toothbrush.

Wait for It to Cool

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to pour coffee, tea or cocoa into the saucer so it will cool off faster?

Answer: Unthinkable from the standpoint of good taste.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Notables Invited To Benefit Play

Woodstock, Sept. 5—Town Supervisor Kenneth Wilson has extended invitations to Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of Kingston, State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, speaker of the House at Albany, and other notables to attend the opening performance of Bettina's Promise or the Broken Divining Rod, the comedy about Stockwood which the Woodstock Foundation is presenting Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 14 and 15, at the Woodstock Playhouse.

In his letter of invitation, Wilson calls the presentation of Bettina's Promise a "civic occasion," pointing out that it is written, acted and directed by Woodstock residents and is laid in a town with which all Woodstock residents are familiar, described by the authors as Stockwood.

Dignitaries invited by Wilson, besides those mentioned, include Chief Justice John T. Loughran of the State Court of Appeals; Cluett Schantz; sheriff of Ulster county; Conrad Heiselman, former mayor of Kingston; Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, Supreme Court Justice Harry Schirick, County Judge John Cashin and John Egan, attorney for the Woodstock Town Board.

Bettina's Promise or The Broken Divining Rod, by Virginia Hubbell and Fritzi Striebel, is being given for the benefit of the Woodstock Fondation. In his letter, Wilson says that "a growing number of artists are being helped to further their careers by the Woodstock Foundation." He also advises his guests that the showing of the play will be "a most enjoyable occasion."

Play Authors Will Be Feated at Party

Woodstock, Sept. 5—A party for Virginia Hubbell and Fritzi Striebel, the authors of Bettina's Promise or the Brooklyn Divining Rod, Woodstock Foundation play, will be given Friday, Sept. 7, at the Woodstock Country Club, beginning at 5 p. m.

A highlight of the party will be a broadcast of scenes from the play at 5 p. m., with Carl Hubbell, Judy Small, Al Bare and Sam Eskin.

Mrs. Hubbell and Fritzi Streibel will go to New York Monday to be interviewed on Bill Slater's program, Luncheon at Sardi's, over a coast-to-coast hookup.

In addition to talking about their play, the authors will tell the nation about the unique work the Foundation is doing to aid artists. The program will be heard over WOR and the Mutual network.

Woodstock, Sept. 5—Jessie Stagg's ceramic class entertained at a reception and show of their recent work at Mrs. Stagg's studio Sunday afternoon. Mrs. F. B. Matthews, of Kingston, and Mrs. Arnold served as hostesses for the afternoon and also exhibited ceramic pieces.

Of exceptional variety, the ceramic work on view was both excellent in quality and in design. The show included work done by the wheel, slab and coil methods, as well as a number of sculptured pieces. The glazes employed also were of unusual beauty adding to the high quality of the exhibition. In the sculpture group was a particularly appealing figurine of a little old lady sitting amongst her small ducks, and a handsomely modeled dog about four inches high.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Woodstock, Sept. 5—Town Supervisor Kenneth Wilson has extended invitations to Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk of Kingston, State Senator Arthur H. Wicks, speaker of the House at Albany, and other notables to attend the opening performance of Bettina's Promise or the Broken Divining Rod, the comedy about Stockwood which the Woodstock Foundation is presenting Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 14 and 15, at the Woodstock Playhouse.

In his letter of invitation, Wilson calls the presentation of Bettina's Promise a "civic occasion," pointing out that it is written, acted and directed by Woodstock residents and is laid in a town with which all Woodstock residents are familiar, described by the authors as Stockwood.

Dignitaries invited by Wilson, besides those mentioned, include Chief Justice John T. Loughran of the State Court of Appeals; Cluett Schantz; sheriff of Ulster county; Conrad Heiselman, former mayor of Kingston; Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth, Supreme Court Justice Harry Schirick, County Judge John Cashin and John Egan, attorney for the Woodstock Town Board.

Bettina's Promise or The Broken Divining Rod, by Virginia Hubbell and Fritzi Striebel, is being given for the benefit of the Woodstock Fondation. In his letter, Wilson says that "a growing number of artists are being helped to further their careers by the Woodstock Foundation." He also advises his guests that the showing of the play will be "a most enjoyable occasion."

Play Authors Will Be Feated at Party

Woodstock, Sept. 5—A party for Virginia Hubbell and Fritzi Striebel, the authors of Bettina's Promise or the Brooklyn Divining Rod, Woodstock Foundation play, will be given Friday, Sept. 7, at the Woodstock Country Club, beginning at 5 p. m.

A highlight of the party will be a broadcast of scenes from the play at 5 p. m., with Carl Hubbell, Judy Small, Al Bare and Sam Eskin.

Mrs. Hubbell and Fritzi Streibel will go to New York Monday to be interviewed on Bill Slater's program, Luncheon at Sardi's, over a coast-to-coast hookup.

In addition to talking about their play, the authors will tell the nation about the unique work the Foundation is doing to aid artists. The program will be heard over WOR and the Mutual network.

Ceramic Class Group Entertains at Review

Woodstock, Sept. 5—Jessie Stagg's ceramic class entertained at a reception and show of their recent work at Mrs. Stagg's studio Sunday afternoon. Mrs. F. B. Matthews, of Kingston, and Mrs. Arnold served as hostesses for the afternoon and also exhibited ceramic pieces.

Of exceptional variety, the ceramic work on view was both excellent in quality and in design. The show included work done by the wheel, slab and coil methods, as well as a number of sculptured pieces. The glazes employed also were of unusual beauty adding to the high quality of the exhibition. In the sculpture group was a particularly appealing figurine of a little old lady sitting amongst her small ducks, and a handsomely modeled dog about four inches high.

Mrs. Stein's approach is individual, encouraging freedom of expression and the joy of creation in her students, with the tiny ones stimulated to sing as they work.

The work of the following students, who range in ages from three to 10 years, is now on view: Beth Gottlieb, 3; Freddy Rothman, 3; Leslie Gottlieb, 3; Stevy Lowy, 6; Louis Gillman, 6; Paul Gorrin, 7; Frances Halsband, 7; Judd Rothman, 8; Maxine Shwartzbaum, 8; and Joan Lowy, 10.

Most Rugged Tank Now Rolls Off Factory Line

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—The army's newest tank is rolling off the assembly lines at the American Locomotive Company Plant here. The firm says it's the most rugged ever built.

American Locomotive also describes the improved "General Patton" tank as "fast on it's feet." The company adds that it has greater firepower, including a 90mm gun, and offers greater protection for its crew than the former type.

The company and the Army Ordnance Corps said yesterday that the tanks produced here were the first of the new model to be manufactured by a private concern. The army arsenal in Detroit also is producting the new model.

Two Scientists Say They Know Flesh And Bone Secret

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Two California scientists say they have discovered the basic structure of flesh and bone—that living tissues are largely like a coil of rope, twisted strands of gold, or a woman's pleated skirt.

The discoveries were reported yesterday to the American Chemical Society by doctors Linus Pauling and Robert B. Corey, of the California Institute of Technology. The society is holding its diamond jubilee meeting here with 18,000 chemists from 43 countries attending.

Coils, twists and pleats, Pauling and Corey said, from the structure of proteins, the substances which make most living tissues like sinews, skin, bone and blood.

Long chains, known as polypeptides, make up the porteins. These chains contain thousands of "beads," the tiny molecules of acids.

When coiled like a rope, the scientists say, the chains make hair, wool, muscle, finger nails and several other protein forms.

If three chains are twisted around each other, they add, the result is skin, bone, tendons and some parts of blood.

A variation on the coil is the arrangement of the chains like the pleats of a women's skirt, but zig-zag across, instead of up-and-down.

There are uncounted thousands of different proteins. The chains can be made of various combinations of about 20 different acids, and other substances or molecules attach themselves along the chain.

But this discovery reduces proteins to three original forms—coils, twists and pleats.

Yields Only One Hit; Rienzo in Relief

Boulevard Gulf used a couple of infielders as pitchers against Jones Dairy in the opening game of the Shaughnessy finals of the City Baseball League yesterday, and got away with it.

A surprise starter to his teammates and a bigger surprise to the crowd, veteran first sacker Allan Vogt was an even greater puzzle to the hard hitting Dairymen.

Vogt softballed his way to a one-hit stint in 4 2/3 innings before he incurred arm trouble and required a lift from Mike Rienzo, another infielder.

The two contrived to blank the Dairymen in a five-inning contest, 2 to 0, in a distinguished victory against Tommy Fisher. Sal Misasi's pinch single in the fifth was the only Jones Dairy hit.

No game is scheduled tonight with the series resuming on Thursday at 6 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

Two Runs in Fourth

Fisher had an overpowering fast ball that caused the late swinging Gulfmen to deposit most of their safeties—six in all—into right field, which is the wrong field for a predominantly right handed batting order.

Rienzo embellished his hitless 1/3 inning stint with a power blast over the right field fence to launch the Boulevard fourth. After Vogt grounded out, Joe Shattan singled, stole second and scored on Bob Lyons' one bagger.

Jones Dairy had only one runner reach second base on a steal by Don Jones. Boulevard had runners on second and third with one out in the second via an error and Joe Shattan's double but Fisher fanned Bob Lyons and induced Red Hinkley to ground out.

Messinger's Memos: Vogt's stuff was so soft and fluffy that spectators thought he would be murdered. But usually it turns out the other way against batters who are tuned to swift deliveries all season. Manager Schatzel went to the bench and came up with three pinch hitters in the fifth in an effort to get back in the ball game, but only Sal Misasi could connect. It led to no runs but ruined Vogt's bid for a no-hitter. Joe Shattan's double in the second was a gift from right fielder Brinkman who misjudged the ball momentarily and then came fast but failed in a shoestring attempt. "Dolph" Munson made a spectacular one-handed catch on Jones in the fifth inning that had the crowd buzzing. The fans gave Vogt a rousing cheer when he left the game in the fifth. Mike Rienzo came on and got the last out. No game tonight. Next Game on Thursday.

McDermott Ready For Relief Duty

Boston, Sept. 5 (AP)—Maury McDermott, the Red Sox unpredictable lefthander, "will be ready for relief duty, but won't start against the Yankees," Manager Steve O'Neil said before entraining to New York.

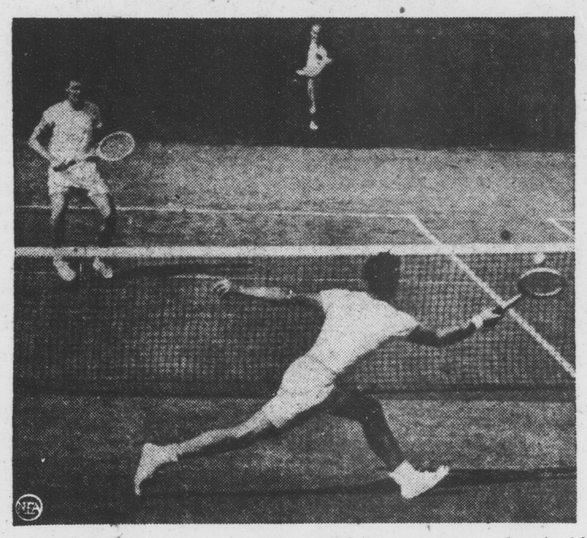
Maury, who was shelved by a fungus infection in Washington on Aug. 19, was later returned to Boston and the Sancta Maria Hospital, where he was confined for five days.

McDermott, who has been working out with the club since last Thursday, accompanied them to New York.

O'Neill said he could use McDermott right now, but would rather wait and give the youngster plenty of time to regain his strength.

Newark, N. J.—George Araujo, 135, Providence, R. I., knocked out Jose Colon Garcia, 131, Puerto Rico (2).

TITLE GOES DOWN UNDER



Frank Sedgman (rear) stands poised for the return shot in his match with Vic Seixas at Forest Hills, N. Y. Sergman won, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1, to become the first non-American to win the U. S. tennis title since 1936. Sedgman is an Australian. (NEA Telephoto)

Sedgman Wins National Title

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Frank Sedgman of Australia already has the men's cup stowed away in his locker and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., was expected to win her first women's title at the tender age of 16 as the national tennis championships went into their 12th and—it was hoped—final program at the West Side Club today.

Sedgman, first foreigner to lift the trophy since Fred Perry took it back to England in 1936, scored an impressive and one-sided victory over Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in yesterday's final before 12,000 fans, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

That gave the 23-year-old Aussie ace all the American laurels that were open to him. He and his Davis Cup teammate, Ken McGregor, won the National doubles in a play-off match on the opening day of the tournament, and in the final contest on yesterday's card he teamed with Doris Hart of Miami to win the mixed doubles from Mervyn Rose of Australia and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-3, 6-2.

In today's women's final, Miss Connolly, the lass who laces into a tennis ball as though she meant to flatten it, faced Miss Fry and the consensus was that she had what it took to become the youngest champion in the history of the tournament. She will not be 17 for another two weeks, whereas Helen Wills was close on 18 when she won her first title in 1923.

Maureen, who is about to embrace a newspaper career as a copy girl for the San Diego Union, reached the final yesterday by finishing off Doris Hart, the Wimbledon champion and tourney favorite, 6-4, 6-4. She had won the first set the previous evening before rain forced an over-night suspension.

Colonials Close Shop; Were Fifth In Second Half

Spokesman Says Losses Were Not Too Great

While Kingston Colonial personnel was scattering to their homes in all sectors of the Eastern seaboard, the four top teams in the Canadian-American League were preparing to open the semi-final series in the post season Shaughnessy playoffs tonight at Oneonta and Pittsfield.

The champion Oneonta Red Sox, winners of both halves of the league's split season, will entertain third-place Amsterdam Rugmakers. Fourth-place Gloversville travels to Pittsfield.

Each series will be on a best-of-five basis. The first two games are scheduled in Oneonta and Pittsfield.

Oneonta Outstanding

According to final standings released by President Albert E. Houghton's office, the Colonials finished fifth in second round and had an overall seasonal record of 33 wins and 84 losses. This was 50 games off the terrific pace of 83-34 set by the championship Oneonta Red Sox.

Oneonta led the Pittsfield Electrics by 9½ games. The Phillies farm club won 72 and lost 42. The remainder of the field was clearly outclassed by the first and second place clubs.

KBC Status Quo

A final check with Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials revealed today that the club had suffered losses that were "not too bad." The club spokesman declined to reveal the exact amount of the deficit incurred by the Colonials in their 1951 operations.

"The payroll has been met fully and there are only a few small outstanding debts that will be cleared up in the next few days," he said. "Some fall promotions may be staged by the club."

General Manager Addison Jones was scheduled to confer with Manager John Sosh today before the Colonial skipper departed for his home in Allentown, Pa.

Sosh made a commendable showing with the Colonials after he got the roster squared shortly after the second half got under way. At the end of the season, the Colonial pitching with Rick Ostrander, Vince Canepa, Charlie Ayers, Bobby Kunze and Charlie Borden was the best in the league.

A meeting of the Can-Am League directors is expected to be called after the Shaughnessy playoffs and a decision on the future of the league may be made at that time.

According to best available information, the Oneonta Red Sox, who were given stout backing by the Boston Red Sox in player talent, are the only club that has indicated a willingness to consider a 1952 setup.

The Pittsfield Electrics are said to have been disappointed with their working agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies, while Rome and Gloversville suffered heavy losses at the gate.

Every team in the circuit suffered substantial losses ranging from $7,500 to $15,000, according to estimates made at the last meeting of the Can-Am directors.

Minor Opening

The City Minor Bowling League opens its 1951-52 schedule on Monday, Sept. 10, at 7 p. m. at the Bowlodrome.

Fain-Kell Duel In Junior Loop

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The battle of the infielders for the American League batting crown continues with first sacker Ferris Fain of Philadelphia leading third baseman George Kell of Detroit by only two percentage points.

In averages computed through Monday's games, Fain headed the league with .331 to Kell's .329. If Fain finishes on top he will be the first Philadelphia player to win the A.L. hitting title since Jimmy Foxx did it in 1933 with .356.

Slipping Orestes Minoso of Chicago still held to third place with a four-point drop to .324. He was followed by Boston's Ted Williams with .322; Gil Coan, Washington, 321; Johnny Pesky, Boston, .314; Gil McDougald, New York, .312; Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .310; and Bobby Avila and Larry Doby, both of Cleveland, with .309 each.

Musial Heading For 1951 Crown

New York, Sept. 5 (AP) — Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals can just about lay clam to the 1951 National League batting championship again.

In the last eight days the Cardinal star hit safely 15 times in 33 trips to the plate, to hoist his average to .368. This is 27 points higher than Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, in second place with .341.

Holmes Defeats Wheatcroft For County Tennis Honors

Cops Kiwanis Finals In Four Sets

Solving Irving Wheatcroft's blistering serves with ease, Bill Holmes of Saugerties swept to his second straight Ulster county singles tennis crown in the Kiwanis Club tournament finals on Labor Day at Hasbrouck Park.

The scores were 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 and 6-2.

The match was marked by long rallies and spots of brilliant play by both finalists but Holmes had the superior equipment and drive.

Holmes won the opening set with not too much trouble and it seemed like a straight-set victory was in the making. Unable to get his first service in play and weak off the baseline, Wheatcroft went to the net on inadequate approach shots and was repeatedly forced into volley errors.

It appeared that Holmes was luring his opponent to the net to unleash a hard hitting passing shot more than anything else. The weakening of Wheatcroft's service put him at a disadvantage early in the match, permitting Holmes to get in the first decisive blows.

Loses Rallies

Wheatcroft improved his service and passing shots in the second set and got good length on the ball to take the set, 6-2. He concentrated on Holmes' backhand, forcing the defending champion to miss many backhand shots or else give such weak returns they were easily smothered by short volleys.

The third set found Holmes back at the peak of his game and his great control, no matter how far he had to range, took the starch out of Wheatcroft's powerful attack and shattered down his control.

Holmes was master of the forecourt in the fourth set and returned Wheatcroft's service for aces. It was his uncanny ability to return deep shots even deeper that broke up Wheatcraft's game.

The Saugerties ace kept Wheatcroft under heavy pressure throughout and proved himself a real champion. His backhand and forehand shots were extremely effective and scored repeated aces or set up the winning shot.

Vogt Pitches Boulevard Gulf to Surprise 2-0 Win Over Dairymen

Yields Only One Hit; Rienzo in Relief

Boulevard Gulf used a couple of infielders as pitchers against Jones Dairy in the opening game of the Shaughnessy finals of the City Baseball League yesterday, and got away with it.

A surprise starter to his teammates and a bigger surprise to the crowd, veteran first sacker Allan Vogt was an even greater puzzle to the hard hitting Dairymen.

Vogt softballed his way to a one-hit stint in 4 2/3 innings before he incurred arm trouble and required a lift from Mike Rienzo, another infielder.

The two contrived to blank the Dairymen in a five-inning contest, 2 to 0, in a distinguished victory against Tommy Fisher. Sal Misasi's pinch single in the fifth was the only Jones Dairy hit.

No game is scheduled tonight with the series resuming on Thursday at 6 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

Two Runs in Fourth

Fisher had an overpowering fast ball that caused the late swinging Gulfmen to deposit most of their safeties—six in all—into right field, which is the wrong field for a predominantly right handed batting order.

Rienzo embellished his hitless 1/3 inning stint with a power blast over the right field fence to launch the Boulevard fourth. After Vogt grounded out, Joe Shattan singled, stole second and scored on Bob Lyons' one bagger.

Jones Dairy had only one runner reach second base on a steal by Don Jones. Boulevard had runners on second and third with one out in the second via an error and Joe Shattan's double but Fisher fanned Bob Lyons and induced Red Hinkley to ground out.

Messinger's Memos: Vogt's stuff was so soft and fluffy that spectators thought he would be murdered. But usually it turns out the other way against batters who are tuned to swift deliveries all season. Manager Schatzel went to the bench and came up with three pinch hitters in the fifth in an effort to get back in the ball game, but only Sal Misasi could connect. It led to no runs but ruined Vogt's bid for a no-hitter. Joe Shattan's double in the second was a gift from right fielder Brinkman who misjudged the ball momentarily and then came fast but failed in a shoestring attempt. "Dolph" Munson made a spectacular one-handed catch on Jones in the fifth inning that had the crowd buzzing. The fans gave Vogt a rousing cheer when he left the game in the fifth. Mike Rienzo came on and got the last out. No game tonight. Next Game on Thursday.

McDermott Ready For Relief Duty

Boston, Sept. 5 (AP)—Maury McDermott, the Red Sox unpredictable lefthander, "will be ready for relief duty, but won't start against the Yankees," Manager Steve O'Neil said before entraining to New York.

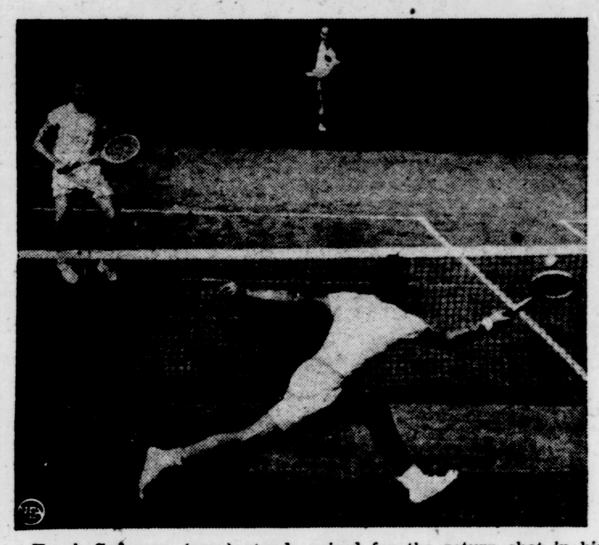
Maury, who was shelved by a fungus infection in Washington on Aug. 19, was later returned to Boston and the Sancta Maria Hospital, where he was confined for five days.

McDermott, who has been working out with the club since last Thursday, accompanied them to New York.

O'Neill said he could use McDermott right now, but would rather wait and give the youngster plenty of time to regain his strength.

Newark, N. J.—George Araujo, 135, Providence, R. I., knocked out Jose Colon Garcia, 131, Puerto Rico (2).

TITLE GOES DOWN UNDER



Frank Sedgman (rear) stands poised for the return shot in his match with Vic Seixas at Forest Hills, N. Y. Sergman won, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1, to become the first non-American to win the U. S. tennis title since 1936. Sedgman is an Australian. (NEA Telephoto)

Sedgman Wins National Title

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Frank Sedgman of Australia already has the men's cup stowed away in his locker and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., was expected to win her first women's title at the tender age of 16 as the national tennis championships went into their 12th and—it was hoped—final program at the West Side Club today.

Sedgman, first foreigner to lift the trophy since Fred Perry took it back to England in 1936, scored an impressive and one-sided victory over Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in yesterday's final before 12,000 fans, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

That gave the 23-year-old Aussie ace all the American laurels that were open to him. He and his Davis Cup teammate, Ken McGregor, won the National doubles in a play-off match on the opening day of the tournament, and in the final contest on yesterday's card he teamed with Doris Hart of Miami to win the mixed doubles from Mervyn Rose of Australia and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-3, 6-2.

In today's women's final, Miss Connolly, the lass who laces into a tennis ball as though she meant to flatten it, faced Miss Fry and the consensus was that she had what it took to become the youngest champion in the history of the tournament. She will not be 17 for another two weeks, whereas Helen Wills was close on 18 when she won her first title in 1923.

Maureen, who is about to embrace a newspaper career as a copy girl for the San Diego Union, reached the final yesterday by finishing off Doris Hart, the Wimbledon champion and tourney favorite, 6-4, 6-4. She had won the first set the previous evening before rain forced an over-night suspension.

S. honors against jumping teams from Brazil, Canada, Ireland and Mexico, with Argentina and Spain possible contestants.

Horses worth a conservative $1,000,000 will strut their equine best as the championship climax to 1,200 earlier horse shows throughout the country.

Colonials Close Shop; Were Fifth In Second Half

Spokesman Says Losses Were Not Too Great

While Kingston Colonial personnel was scattering to their homes in all sectors of the Eastern seaboard, the four top teams in the Canadian-American League were preparing to open the semi-final series in the post season Shaughnessy playoffs tonight at Oneonta and Pittsfield.

The champion Oneonta Red Sox, winners of both halves of the league's split season, will entertain third-place Amsterdam Rugmakers. Fourth-place Gloversville travels to Pittsfield.

Each series will be on a best-of-five basis. The first two games are scheduled in Oneonta and Pittsfield.

Oneonta Outstanding

According to final standings released by President Albert E. Houghton's office, the Colonials finished fifth in second round and had an overall seasonal record of 33 wins and 84 losses. This was 50 games off the terrific pace of 83-34 set by the championship Oneonta Red Sox.

Oneonta led the Pittsfield Electrics by 9½ games. The Phillies farm club won 72 and lost 42. The remainder of the field was clearly outclassed by the first and second place clubs.

KBC Status Quo

A final check with Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials revealed today that the club had suffered losses that were "not too bad." The club spokesman declined to reveal the exact amount of the deficit incurred by the Colonials in their 1951 operations.

"The payroll has been met fully and there are only a few small outstanding debts that will be cleared up in the next few days," he said. "Some fall promotions may be staged by the club."

General Manager Addison Jones was scheduled to confer with Manager John Sosh today before the Colonial skipper departed for his home in Allentown, Pa.

Sosh made a commendable showing with the Colonials after he got the roster squared shortly after the second half got under way. At the end of the season, the Colonial pitching with Rick Ostrander, Vince Canepa, Charlie Ayers, Bobby Kunze and Charlie Borden was the best in the league.

A meeting of the Can-Am League directors is expected to be called after the Shaughnessy playoffs and a decision on the future of the league may be made at that time.

According to best available information, the Oneonta Red Sox, who were given stout backing by the Boston Red Sox in player talent, are the only club that has indicated a willingness to consider a 1952 setup.

The Pittsfield Electrics are said to have been disappointed with their working agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies, while Rome and Gloversville suffered heavy losses at the gate.

Every team in the circuit suffered substantial losses ranging from $7,500 to $15,000, according to estimates made at the last meeting of the Can-Am directors.

New York — Squared Away ($12.10) won six-furlong feature at Aqueduct.

Boston, Sept. 5 (AP)—Maury McDermott, the Red Sox unpredictable lefthander, "will be ready for relief duty, but won't start against the Yankees," Manager Steve O'Neil said before entraining to New York.

Maury, who was shelved by a fungus infection in Washington on Aug. 19, was later returned to Boston and the Sancta Maria Hospital, where he was confined for five days.

McDermott, who has been working out with the club since last Thursday, accompanied them to New York.

O'Neill said he could use McDermott right now, but would rather wait and give the youngster plenty of time to regain his strength.

Newark, N. J.—George Araujo, 135, Providence, R. I., knocked out Jose Colon Garcia, 131, Puerto Rico (2).

Betty Flint Cops Class B Honors In Woodstock

Miss Betty Flint of Twaalfskill shot low gross of 94 in the Class B. division of the annual Woodstock Ladies Invitational golf tournament last week at the country club.

Mrs. Lewis Shaw of the Dutchess County Club in Poughkeepsie, fired an 84 to win Class A honors, while Mrs. Dorothy Platt of the home club posted the best Class C score with a 101.

Mrs. Ivan Whitmore of Wiltwyck had low net of 72 in Class A and local golfers swept honors in everything except low gross in Class C. Mrs. William Kelly of Twaalfskill had 102 for second low gross; Mrs. Charles Vogel of Twaalfskill posted low net of 69 and Mrs. William Zwick and Mrs. George Rifenbary of Wiltwyck tied for second low net at 70.

Low net honors in Class B went to Mrs. Adelaide Fogel of Woodstock with a 69. Mrs. Richard Perkins and Mrs. Alice Mart, of Dutchess and Woodstock respectively, had 70 and 72 for second and third low net.

Special prize winners were Lucille Ball, Rip Van Winkle, for lowest score on fourth hole; Mrs. Jessie Burnett, Wiltwyck, lowest score on eighth hole; Mrs. William Lapine, Wiltwyck, highest score on fifth hole; and most honest golfer, Mrs. Gladys Hancock of Woodstock.

The tournament attracted entries from Dutchess CC, Wiltwyck, Twaalfskill, Rip Van Winkle, Windham and Woodstock.

Arrangements for the tournament were made by the ladies golf committee headed by Mrs. Joseph Marr, chairman; assisted by Mrs. Harold Mellin, Mrs. Ed Dullmeyer and Mrs. F. Platt. A buffet luncheon was served to the golfers and their guests by a ladies committee of the club. Members of the committee were the Mesdames V. Milora, D. Waterous, J. Egan, T. King and G. Brown.

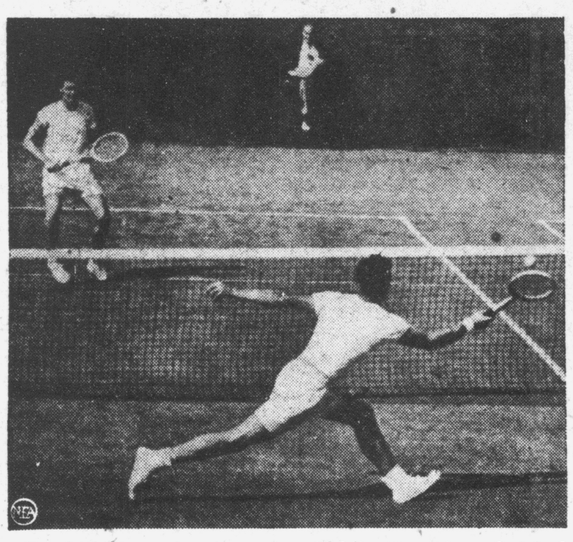
TITLE GOES DOWN UNDER



Frank Sedgman (rear) stands poised for the return shot in his match with Vic Seixas at Forest Hills, N. Y. Sergman won, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1, to become the first non-American to win the U. S. tennis title since 1936. Sedgman is an Australian. (NEA Telephoto)

Sedgman Wins National Title

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Frank Sedgman of Australia already has the men's cup stowed away in his locker and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., was expected to win her first women's title at the tender age of 16 as the national tennis championships went into their 12th and—it was hoped—final program at the West Side Club today.

Sedgman, first foreigner to lift the trophy since Fred Perry took it back to England in 1936, scored an impressive and one-sided victory over Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in yesterday's final before 12,000 fans, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

That gave the 23-year-old Aussie ace all the American laurels that were open to him. He and his Davis Cup teammate, Ken McGregor, won the National doubles in a play-off match on the opening day of the tournament, and in the final contest on yesterday's card he teamed with Doris Hart of Miami to win the mixed doubles from Mervyn Rose of Australia and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-3, 6-2.

In today's women's final, Miss Connolly, the lass who laces into a tennis ball as though she meant to flatten it, faced Miss Fry and the consensus was that she had what it took to become the youngest champion in the history of the tournament. She will not be 17 for another two weeks, whereas Helen Wills was close on 18 when she won her first title in 1923.

Maureen, who is about to embrace a newspaper career as a copy girl for the San Diego Union, reached the final yesterday by finishing off Doris Hart, the Wimbledon champion and tourney favorite, 6-4, 6-4. She had won the first set the previous evening before rain forced an over-night suspension.

KID STUFF

Sixteen-year-old Maureen Connolly, of San Diego, Calif., smiles after downing Doris Hart, 6-4, 6-4, to move into the finals of the U. S. women's tennis championship at Forest Hills, N. Y. If she beats Shirley Fry for the title, she'll be the youngest player to win the championship. (NEA Telephoto)

Horse Show Opens On October 30

A total of 124 events, including 22 championships, worth $31,777 in prizes, will be highlighted at the 63rd National Horse Show to be held October 30-Nov. 6 at Madison Square Garden by the all-civilian U. S. Equestrian team competing against foreign military jumpers in a preview to the 1952 Olympics.

Women, who were on the U. S. team last year for the first time in international jumping history, and helped capture seven firsts and a total of 33 ribbons at Harrisburg and Toronto, as well as in the National Horse Show in New York, will defend U. S. honors against jumping teams from Brazil, Canada, Ireland and Mexico, with Argentina and Spain possible contestants.

Horses worth a conservative $1,000,000 will strut their equine best as the championship climax to 1,200 earlier horse shows throughout the country.

Colonials Close Shop; Were Fifth In Second Half

Spokesman Says Losses Were Not Too Great

While Kingston Colonial personnel was scattering to their homes in all sectors of the Eastern seaboard, the four top teams in the Canadian-American League were preparing to open the semi-final series in the post season Shaughnessy playoffs tonight at Oneonta and Pittsfield.

The champion Oneonta Red Sox, winners of both halves of the league's split season, will entertain third-place Amsterdam Rugmakers. Fourth-place Gloversville travels to Pittsfield.

Each series will be on a best-of-five basis. The first two games are scheduled in Oneonta and Pittsfield.

Oneonta Outstanding

According to final standings released by President Albert E. Houghton's office, the Colonials finished fifth in second round and had an overall seasonal record of 33 wins and 84 losses. This was 50 games off the terrific pace of 83-34 set by the championship Oneonta Red Sox.

Oneonta led the Pittsfield Electrics by 9½ games. The Phillies farm club won 72 and lost 42. The remainder of the field was clearly outclassed by the first and second place clubs.

KBC Status Quo

A final check with Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials revealed today that the club had suffered losses that were "not too bad." The club spokesman declined to reveal the exact amount of the deficit incurred by the Colonials in their 1951 operations.

"The payroll has been met fully and there are only a few small outstanding debts that will be cleared up in the next few days," he said. "Some fall promotions may be staged by the club."

General Manager Addison Jones was scheduled to confer with Manager John Sosh today before the Colonial skipper departed for his home in Allentown, Pa.

Sosh made a commendable showing with the Colonials after he got the roster squared shortly after the second half got under way. At the end of the season, the Colonial pitching with Rick Ostrander, Vince Canepa, Charlie Ayers, Bobby Kunze and Charlie Borden was the best in the league.

A meeting of the Can-Am League directors is expected to be called after the Shaughnessy playoffs and a decision on the future of the league may be made at that time.

According to best available information, the Oneonta Red Sox, who were given stout backing by the Boston Red Sox in player talent, are the only club that has indicated a willingness to consider a 1952 setup.

The Pittsfield Electrics are said to have been disappointed with their working agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies, while Rome and Gloversville suffered heavy losses at the gate.

Every team in the circuit suffered substantial losses ranging from $7,500 to $15,000, according to estimates made at the last meeting of the Can-Am directors.

Minor Opening

The City Minor Bowling League opens its 1951-52 schedule on Monday, Sept. 10, at 7 p. m. at the Bowlodrome.

Fain-Kell Duel In Junior Loop

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The battle of the infielders for the American League batting crown continues with first sacker Ferris Fain of Philadelphia leading third baseman George Kell of Detroit by only two percentage points.

In averages computed through Monday's games, Fain headed the league with .331 to Kell's .329. If Fain finishes on top he will be the first Philadelphia player to win the A.L. hitting title since Jimmy Foxx did it in 1933 with .356.

Slipping Orestes Minoso of Chicago still held to third place with a four-point drop to .324. He was followed by Boston's Ted Williams with .322; Gil Coan, Washington, 321; Johnny Pesky, Boston, .314; Gil McDougald, New York, .312; Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .310; and Bobby Avila and Larry Doby, both of Cleveland, with .309 each.

Gus Zernial of Philadelphia kept ahead with 29 homers.

Musial Heading For 1951 Crown

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals can just about lay claim to the 1951 National League batting championship again.

In the last eight days the Cardinal star hit safely 15 times in 33 trips to the plate, to hoist his average to .368. This is 27 points higher than Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, in second place with .341.

Holmes Defeats Wheatcroft For County Tennis Honors

Cops Kiwanis Finals In Four Sets

Solving Irving Wheatcroft's blistering serves with ease, Bill Holmes of Saugerties swept to his second straight Ulster county singles tennis crown in the Kiwanis Club tournament finals on Labor Day at Hasbrouck Park.

The scores were 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 and 6-2.

The match was marked by long rallies and spots of brilliant play by both finalists but Holmes had the superior equipment and drive.

Holmes won the opening set with not too much trouble and it seemed like a straight-set victory was in the making. Unable to get his first service in play and weak off the baseline, Wheatcroft went to the net on inadequate approach shots and was repeatedly forced into volley errors.

It appeared that Holmes was luring his opponent to the net to unleash a hard hitting passing shot more than anything else. The weakening of Wheatcroft's service put him at a disadvantage early in the match, permitting Holmes to get in the first decisive blows.

Loses Rallies

Wheatcroft improved his service and passing shots in the second set and got good length on the ball to take the set, 6-2. He concentrated on Holmes' backhand, forcing the defending champion to miss many backhand shots or else give such weak returns they were easily smothered by short volleys.

The third set found Holmes back at the peak of his game and his great control, no matter how far he had to range, took the starch out of Wheatcroft's powerful attack and shattered down his control.

Holmes was master of the forecourt in the fourth set and returned Wheatcroft's service for aces. It was his uncanny ability to return deep shots even deeper that broke up Wheatcraft's game.

The Saugerties ace kept Wheatcroft under heavy pressure throughout and proved himself a real champion. His backhand and forehand shots were extremely effective and scored repeated aces or set up the winning shot.

THE SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're home now and that's where we win."

That's the opinion expressed today by Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, in talking of the stirring American League pennant race that finds his Yanks in first place by four percentage points over the Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks, who engage the ever-dangerous Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series at the stadium tonight, backed into the lead yesterday as the Indians dropped a 3-1 decision in 11 innings to the Chicago White Sox in the only game played in either league.

	W	L	Pct.	GB	GL
New York	82	48	.631	..	24
Cleveland	84	50	.627	..	20
Boston	77	51	.602	4	26

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage oved their two foes. The bombers have a two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "loss column" and have four games more to play than the tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home while the Indians have only three of 20 left at home. The Red Sox have 12 out of 26 in their friendly Fenway Park.

Stengel admits that the Red Sox, who meet the Yanks nine more times are to be respected. However Old Case said, "I'm certainly not afraid of them. I've said right along the Yankees were going to win and I have no reason to change my mind."

Raschi in Opener

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Kiely, (4-3) rookie lefthander, is Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to pitch the important opener at the stadium.

Eddie Lopat (18-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's double header against Bill Wight (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

The Yankees have won 42 and lost 15 games at home including four out of five wins from Boston. The Red Sox have won 34 and lost 31 away from home but boast of a 43-20 record at Fenway Park, including eight straight over New York. The Yanks clash with the Red Sox at Boston in a three game series beginning Sept. 21.

While the Red Sox and Yankees tangle the Indians and the Detroit Tigers clash in Cleveland tonight in their last home game until the final two days of the season when they again meet the fifth place Tigers. The Indians are 51-23 at home, and 33-27 on foreign soil.

Lemon Beaten

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,021 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon allowed only three hits until the fatal eleventh. One of the blows was former Indian Ed Robinson's 25th homer in the sixth. Robinson's blow matched a fourth inning homer by Clevelands Luke Easter

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentiously passed. At this point Bob Kennedy, rifled armed outfielder, replaced Barney McCosky in rightfield for the Indians but the move didn't pan out. Ray Coleman flied to Kennedy but Fox beat Bob's throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scampered to second on a wild pitch and scored the insurance run on a double by Jim Busby.

Polio Check Is Made

Provo, Utah, Sept. 5 (AP)—Hundreds of Utah county children flocked to clinics yesterday in a test to determine if paralysis in polio can be prevented. Officials in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis project hope to inoculate 5,000 by the end of the week. Half of the children received a blood fraction, gamma globulin, which it is hoped will prove effective against paralyzing effects of polio. The other half received a harmless gelatin solution as a check.

Albany Hurler Stops Lanesville

Bob Kane, a 19-year-old right hander of the Dwyer's All Stars, yielded only five hits and struck out 15 to edge Bud Smith of the Lanesville A.C., 3 to 0, Monday on the Lanesville diamond.

Smith, who has piled up big strikeout totals all season, gave up the same number of hits and struck out 10. Kane also aided his own cause with a pair of doubles and knocked in one of the Albany club's tallies. He was the only player on either side with more than one hit.

THE SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're home now and that's where we win."

That's the opinion expressed today by Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, in talking of the stirring American League pennant race that finds his Yanks in first place by four percentage points over the Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks, who engage the ever-dangerous Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series at the stadium tonight, backed into the lead yesterday as the Indians dropped a 3-1 decision in 11 innings to the Chicago White Sox in the only game played in either league.

	W	L	Pct.	GB	GL
New York	82	48	.631	..	24
Cleveland	84	50	.627	..	20
Boston	77	51	.602	4	26

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage oved their two foes. The bombers have a two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "loss column" and have four games more to play than the tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home while the Indians have only three of 20 left at home. The Red Sox have 12 out of 26 in their friendly Fenway Park.

Stengel admits that the Red Sox, who meet the Yanks nine more times are to be respected. However Old Case said, "I'm certainly not afraid of them. I've said right along the Yankees were going to win and I have no reason to change my mind."

Raschi in Opener

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Kiely, (4-3) rookie lefthander, is Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to pitch the important opener at the stadium.

Eddie Lopat (18-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's double header against Bill Wight (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

The Yankees have won 42 and lost 15 games at home including four out of five wins from Boston. The Red Sox have won 34 and lost 31 away from home but boast of a 43-20 record at Fenway Park, ipcluding eight straight over New York. The Yanks clash with the Red Sox at Boston in a three game series beginning Sept. 21.

While the Red Sox and Yankees tangle the Indians and the Detroit Tigers clash in Cleveland tonight in their last home game until the final two days of the season when they again meet the fifth place Tigers. The Indians are 51-23 at home, and 33-27 on foreign soil.

Lemon Beaten

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,021 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon allowed only three hits until the fatal eleventh. One of the blows was former Indian Ed Robinson's 25th homer in the sixth. Robinson's blow matched a fourth inning homer by Clevelands Luke Easter

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentionally passed. At this point Bob Kennedy, rifled armed outfielder, replaced Barney McCosky in rightfield for the Indians but the move didn't pan out. Ray Coleman flied to Kennedy but Fox beat Bob's throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scampered to second on a wild pitch and scored the insurance run on a double by Jim Busby.

Polio Check Is Made

Provo, Utah, Sept. 5 (AP)—Hundreds of Utah county children flocked to clinics yesterday in a test to determine if paralysis in polio can be prevented. Officials in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis project hope to inoculate 5,000 by the end of the week. Half of the children received a blood fraction, gamma globulin, which it is hoped will prove effective against paralyzing effects of polio. The other half received a harmless gelatin solution as a check.

Albany Hurler Stops Lanesville

Bob Kane, a 19-year-old right hander of the Dwyer's All Stars, yielded only five hits and struck out 15 to edge Bud Smith of the Lanesville A.C., 3 to 0, Monday on the Lanesville diamond.

Smith, who has piled up big strikeout totals all season, gave up the same number of hits and struck out 10. Kane also aided his own cause with a pair of doubles and knocked in one of the Albany club's tallies. He was the only player on either side with more than one hit.

THE SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're home now and that's where we win."

That's the opinion expressed today by Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, in talking of the stirring American League pennant race that finds his Yanks in first place by four percentage points over the Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks, who engage the ever-dangerous Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series at the stadium tonight, backed into the lead yesterday as the Indians dropped a 3-1 decision in 11 innings to the Chicago White Sox in the only game played in either league.

	W	L	Pct.	GB	GL
New York	82	48	.631	..	24
Cleveland	84	50	.627	..	20
Boston	77	51	.602	4	26

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage oved their two foes. The bombers have a two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "loss column" and have four games more to play than the tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home while the Indians have only three of 20 left at home. The Red Sox have 12 out of 26 in their friendly Fenway Park.

Stengel admits that the Red Sox, who meet the Yanks nine more times are to be respected. However Old Case said, "I'm certainly not afraid of them. I've said right along the Yankees were going to win and I have no reason to change my mind."

Raschi in Opener

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Kiely, (4-3) rookie lefthander, is Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to pitch the important opener at the stadium.

Eddie Lopat (18-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's double header against Bill Wight (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

The Yankees have won 42 and lost 15 games at home including four out of five wins from Boston. The Red Sox have won 34 and lost 31 away from home but boast of a 43-20 record at Fenway Park, including eight straight over New York. The Yanks clash with the Red Sox at Boston in a three game series beginning Sept. 21.

While the Red Sox and Yankees tangle the Indians and the Detroit Tigers clash in Cleveland tonight in their last home game until the final two days of the season when they again meet the fifth place Tigers. The Indians are 51-23 at home, and 33-27 on foreign soil.

Lemon Beaten

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,021 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon allowed only three hits until the fatal eleventh. One of the blows was former Indian Ed Robinson's 25th homer in the sixth. Robinson's blow matched a fourth inning homer by Clevelands Luke Easter

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentiously passed. At this point Bob Kennedy, rifled armed outfielder, replaced Barney McCosky in rightfield for the Indians but the move didn't pan out. Ray Coleman flied to Kennedy but Fox beat Bob's throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scampered to second on a wild pitch and scored the insurance run on a double by Jim Busby.

Bowling

Marge Jansen led the kickoff session of the 1951-52 Friendship Bowling League with a 481 series last night at the Bowlatorium.

The veteran ace reeled off counts of 144, 176 and 161 to gain a 17-pin margin over runnerup Rose Mellert. Elizabeth Bruck posted 562, Phyl Gehringer 458 and Evelyn Dolson had 443.

Will Pieper opened his Central Rec League season with a 602 series on games of 209, 158 and 235. Ronnie Mauro posted 201—557; Joe Sangi 548; Frank Bartroff 231—539, and Ray Houghtaling 207—537.

Albany Hurler Stops Lanesville

Bob Kane, a 19-year-old right hander of the Dwyer's All Stars, yielded only five hits and struck out 15 to edge Bud Smith of the Lanesville A.C., 3 to 0, Monday on the Lanesville diamond.

Smith, who has piled up big strikeout totals all season, gave up the same number of hits and struck out 10. Kane also aided his own cause with a pair of doubles and knocked in one of the Albany club's tallies. He was the only player on either side with more than one hit.

Six Are Named To Cup Squad

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—A six-man squad will carry the hopes of the United States to Australia in December for the final rounds of the Davis Cup competition.

The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association named Tony Trabert, of Cincinnati, Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., Budge Patty of Los Angeles, Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., Victor Seixas of Philadelphia and Billy Talbert of New York city.

Trabert is scheduled to report to the Navy later this month but he is expected to try for a leave of absence to accompany the squad.

Ripley New Cage Coach at Point

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Elmer Ripley, veteran of 25 years as a basketball coach, has been named to succeed John Mauer as head basketball mentor at the United States Military Academy.

Mauer recently resigned to take a similar job at the University of Florida.

Ripley, whose appointment was announced yesterday, coached at John Carroll the last two seasons.

Polio Check Is Made

Provo, Utah, Sept. 5 (AP)—Hundreds of Utah county children flocked to clinics yesterday in a test to determine if paralysis in polio can be prevented. Officials in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis project hope to inoculate 5,000 by the end of the week. Half of the children received a blood fraction, gamma globulin, which it is hoped will prove effective against paralyzing effects of polio. The other half received a harmless gelatin solution as a check.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received and considered by the undersigned School District Clerk of Central School District No. 3 of the Towns of Marbletown, Rochester and Rosendale, Ulster County, New York, at the Town Building, Stone Ridge, in Ulster County, New York (P.O. Address: Stone Ridge, New York), at 2 o'clock P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time (1 o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time,) on the 19th day of September, 1951, at which time and place the bids will be opened for the purchase at not less than par and accrued interest of $610,000 School Building (Serial) Bonds, 1951, of said School District, of the denomination of $1,000 each, dated July 1, 1951, maturing $17,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1953 to 1962, both inclusive, $20,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1963 to 1969, both inclusive, and $25,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1970 to 1981, both inclusive, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually January 1 and July 1. Principal and interest of said bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America at THE KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY, in Kingston, New York. Bonds will be in bearer form with coupons attached and may be converted into fully registered bonds and will be valid and legally binding general obligations of said School District, all the taxable real property within which will be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes to pay said bonds and interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

The State Constitution requires the School District to pledge its faith and credit for the payment of the principal of the bonds and the interest thereon and to make annual appropriations for the amounts required for the payment of such interest and the redemption of the bonds. The State Constitution also provides that if at any time the appropriating authorities fail to make the required appropriations for the annual debt service on the bonds and certain other obligations of the School District, a sufficient sum shall be set apart from the first revenues thereafter received and shall be applied for such purposes; also that the fiscal officer of the School District may be required to set apart and apply such revenues as aforesaid at the suit of any holder of such obligations.

Each bid must be for all of said $610,000 bonds and state a single rate of interest therefor. Unless all bids are rejected, the award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase said bonds at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding the rate above specified, stated in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum, without reference to premium, provided, however that if two or more bidders offer to purchase said bonds at the same lowest rate of interest, then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids, and any bid not complying with this Notice of Sale will be rejected. Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned School District Clerk and should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds" and must be accompanied with a certified or cashier's check drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of said School District for $12,200 as a good faith deposit to secure the School District against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit. Said bonds are issued pursuant to the Constitution and statutes of the State of New York, including among others, the Education Law and the Local Finance Law, for the purpose of the construction and equipment of a new school building in said School district, the period of probable usefulness of which is thirty years.

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds, the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds, and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

Said bonds will be delivered at New York, New York, or at such other place as may be agreed with the purchaser about October 10, 1951.

The approving opinion of Messrs. Vandewater, Sykes, Heckler & Galloway, Attorneys of New York City, will be furnished to the purchaser without cost. The usual no litigation statement will be included in the closing papers.

The population of the School District is estimated to be 3500. The Debt Statement to be filed pursuant to Section 109.00 of the Local Finance Law in connection with the sale of the bonds herein described, prepared as of August 31st, 1951, will show the full valuation of real property subject to taxation by the School District to be $7,526,176.00, its debt limit to be $752,617.00, and its bonded indebtedness including the bonds herein described to be $610,000.00. Such statement will show net bonded indebtedness of $540,313.00 after deducting indebtedness of $69,687.00 estimated to be supported by a building quota. Bond anticipation notes in the amount of $200,000.00 heretofore issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds have not been included in computing such indebtedness. Such notes will be redeemed from the proceeds of the bonds. A detailed report of essential facts will be furnished to any interested bidder upon request.

The Eastern Investment Banking Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee has indicated that the proposed sale and delivery of such bonds appears to be in harmony with the principles of the Voluntary Credit Restraint Program.

list of claims totalled nearly $60,000.

It is claimed that the boy suffered a compound leg fracture when he was thrown from, pushed or pulled from a hand operated merry-go-round in the park. James C. Plunket is the attorney.

In another claim Sadie M. and Nathan Dederick, 206 Tremper avenue, ask for $20,000 for a fall last June 26 on Abruyn street on what is alleged was a sidewalk in dangerous condition. Of the total $15,000 is sought for alleged injuries of the legs, arms and body of Mrs. Dederick and $5,000 for loss of services and costs to the husband. Arthur A. Davis, Jr. is the attorney.

Summons Filed

The law firm of Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman filed a summons and complaint following the prior filing of a claim to recover $5,000 for Mae Ryan of the Saugerties-Woodstock road, who claims she was injured Oct. 31, 1950 during the repair of a sidewalk at 42 North Front street.

The action is brought against Bartolo Liccardo, as owner, and Louis J. Scafidi, as tenant, of the property, and against the city. It is charged that in changing the grade or level of the sidewalk, a step arrangement was necessary at the store entrance, and the claimant tripped on this and fell against a Coca-Cola machine. The original claim was filed on Dec. 26, 1950.

Julius G. Radatz, 69 Glen street, seeks $2,500 for a fall last June 20 over a water cock "constructed and maintained by the city" on Warren street. He suffered arm and leg injuries, lacerations of the nose and face, contusions and abrasions, the claim said. He had parked a truck and was carrying packages at the time. Guido J. Napoletano is the attorney.

Dr. Morris Zevin, of Providence, R. I., seeks to recover $146.05 for damages to his automobile which "drove over a depressed street water catch basin July 30 in front of 65 Lucas avenue. A bill was filed with the claim.

Monkey Took Glasses

Harry J. Smith, of Wawarsing, seeks to recover for the loss of his eye glasses which he says were taken from him by the monkey at Forsyth Park recently.

Smith said he was not aware of what was in the cage, and explained that there was "large enough hole so that the monkey could reach a good distance. He took the eye glasses from my face and completely destroyed them within seconds." The incident has put him to considerable trouble, he said, because he cannot drive without glasses. He felt the cages in the park should be repaired.

The railroad and bus committee approved the Third Ward bus petition which contained 950 names, and said it felt there was "a definite need" of bus service in the ward. The report was adopted by the council.

Action on the B.P.W. request for $28,000 for the Washington avenue-Elizabeth street sewer project was left with the finance committee which is expected to give its report at a special meeting next week.

Snow Removal

A BPW snow-removal claim of $46,250.58 for the 1950-51 season was approved. Of the total $32,739.18 was for salaries and wages, $9,221.84 for maintenance and equipment, and $4,289.56 for materials and supplies.

A letter from Harry Rigby, Jr., temporary chairman of the city's 300th anniversary committee, thanking the aldermen for their recent $300 appropriation to the committee, was read and filed.

R. L. Whitbeck, in a letter as spokesman for a group of citizens asked that the laws and rules committee give serious consideration to naming the new access street between Cornell and Thomas streets, "Rodie Street," or "Rodie Place," in honor of William S. and Robert S. Rodie, both now deceased.

They were "well known and civic-minded citizens of our city. During their lifetime each contributed greatly to projects which cumulatively have made our city a better place in which to live," the letter said. The lands taken for the street, it said, have been owned or controlled by the Rodie family for more than half a century. The letter addressed to Alderman Abram Relyea, chairman of the laws and rules committee, was referred to that committee.

A petition by Sam and Mary Lawrence for a zoning change on a property at 2-10 Walnut street, was referred to the laws and rules committee. It contained 22 names and explained that the petitioners have conducted a dry cleaning business for three years, and now seek to have the property officially designated as a business zone property.

Carney Gets Floor

Elmer Carney was granted privilege of the floor on request of Third Ward Alderman Radel.

Carney said he had appeared before the council a year ago in April for guidance on the proposal to develop Florence street extension. He said he was moving for his own rights and in behalf of veterans who wanted to build in the area.

The project failed to progress, he said, and declared: "I feel that I am being discriminated against by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk." One time, he said, he had several veterans with him to discuss the proposal. There was also a veterans' advisor, he said, and they waited a half hour, and were told that the mayor was going to a ball game and could not talk to them at the time.

Carney said he was forced "to secure two or three different deeds." and met with other difficulties and confusion in attempting to get action on the project and he now seeks water service.

"I was told that if I put in a septic tank the street would be graded," he said. The tank was put in, he said, but there has been no further action. After two months, he charged, he was getting "The good old run-around . . . I believe you people will do something for me." At one point in his argument he declared: "I believe you think I have enough guts to take this to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary."

Alderman Radel said he was familiar with Carney's problem and the water condition on the property and he moved that the health board be contacted for an investigation.

Changed to Resolution

Voting started and got only as far as Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms when Radel changed it to a resolution which was referred to both the health and water boards.

Alderman Storms said he was too confused and felt that he could not vote on the proposal at the time. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly then suggested that City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was in the audience, and probably could explain the city's position.

The engineer said the water department would not act until the street is graded and it appeared to be a question for the BPW to decide at this point. Carney said he agreed with this "to some extent," but, he held, the people there are willing to pay the required 75 per cent of the cost of grading. He agreed, that there was a "hard physical condition," involved on the property, but felt that action should be taken." Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, explained at one time, that the council has no jurisdiction on the proposal.

The resolution offered by Radel asked that both the health and water boards be requested to investigate the conditions of water supply at the residence of Elmer Carney as to its health conditions and supply source.

Other resolutions by Radel asked for the repair of Tubby and Van Gaasbeck streets, which he said, were the worst of other streets in the ward in a "dangerous, serious state of disrepair." The resolution charged that "during the first nine months of 1951 there has been no visible evidence of any street repairs." It was referred to the B.P.W.

Other resolutions by the alderman asked for a stop-sign at Hazel and Stephan streets, on Hazel street, and a school warning sign on Clifton avenue, and for a catch basin on the west side of Grant street between Lincoln and Meade streets where water forms during rain. The former two were referred to the traffic control committee and the other to the B.P.W.

The resolutions asking for the school warning signs said they should be placed at points to be determined by the police chief. Children travel the street on their way to school, and "apparently no corrective measures are being taken to slow down vehicle traffic to a normal legal speed," the resolution said.

Educators to Meet

The first fall meeting of the Ulster Educators will be held Monday, Sept. 10, at the Highland Central School at 8 p. m. All committee members are requested to attend.

$610,000
NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received and considered by the undersigned School District Clerk of Central School District No. 3 of the Towns of Marbletown, Rochester and Rosendale, Ulster County, New York, at the Town Building, Stone Ridge, in Ulster County, New York (P.O. Address: Stone Ridge, New York), at 2 o'clock P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time (1 o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time,) on the 19th day of September, 1951, at which time and place the bids will be opened for the purchase at not less than par and accrued interest of $610,000 School Building (Serial) Bonds, 1951, of said School District, of the denomination of $1,000 each, dated July 1, 1951, maturing $17,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1953 to 1962, both inclusive, $20,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1963 to 1969, both inclusive, and $25,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1970 to 1981, both inclusive, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually January 1 and July 1. Principal and interest of said bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America at THE KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY in Kingston, New York. Bonds will be in bearer form with coupons attached and may be converted into fully registered bonds and will be valid and legally binding general obligations of said School District, all the taxable real property within which will be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes to pay said bonds and interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

The State Constitution requires the School District to pledge its faith and credit for the payment of the principal of the bonds and the interest thereon and to make annual appropriations for the amounts required for the payment of such interest and the redemption of the bonds. The State Constitution also provides that if at any time the appropriating authorities fail to make the required appropriations for the annual debt service on the bonds and certain other obligations of the School District, a sufficient sum shall be set apart from the first revenues thereafter received and shall be applied for such purposes; also that the fiscal officer of the School District may be required to set apart and apply such revenues as aforesaid at the suit of any holder of such obligations.

Each bid must be for all of said $610,000 bonds and state a single rate of interest therefor. Unless all bids are rejected, the award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase said bonds at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding the rate above specified, stated in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum, without reference to premium, provided, however that if two or more bidders offer to purchase said bonds at the same lowest rate of interest, then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids, and any bid not complying with this Notice of Sale will be rejected. Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned School District Clerk and should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds" and must be accompanied with a certified or cashier's check drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of said School District for $12,200 as a good faith deposit to secure the School District against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit. Said bonds are issued pursuant to the Constitution and statutes of the State of New York, including among others, the Education Law and the Local Finance Law, for the purpose of the construction and equipment of a new school building in said School district, the period of probable usefulness of which is thirty years.

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds, the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds, and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

Said bonds will be delivered at New York, New York, or at such other place as may be agreed with the purchaser about October 10, 1951.

The approving opinion of Messrs. Vandewater, Sykes, Heckler & Galloway, Attorneys of New York City, will be furnished to the purchaser without cost. The usual no litigation statement will be included in the closing papers.

The population of the School District is estimated to be 3500. The Debt Statement to be filed pursuant to Section 109.00 of the Local Finance Law in connection with the sale of the bonds herein described, prepared as of August 31st, 1951, will show the full valuation of real property subject to taxation by the School District to be $7,526,176.00, its debt limit to be $752,617.00, and its bonded indebtedness including the bonds herein described to be $610,000.00. Such statement will show net bonded indebtedness of $540,313.00 after deducting indebtedness of $69,687.00 estimated to be supported by a building quota. Bond anticipation notes in the amount of $200,000.00 heretofore issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds have not been included in computing such indebtedness. Such notes will be redeemed from the proceeds of the bonds. A detailed report of essential facts will be furnished to any interested bidder upon request.

The Eastern Investment Banking Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee has indicated that the proposed sale and delivery of such bonds appears to be in harmony with the principles of the Voluntary Credit Restraint Program.

list of claims totalled nearly $60,000.

It is claimed that the boy suffered a compound leg fracture when he was thrown from, pushed or pulled from a hand operated merry-go-round in the park. James C. Plunket is the attorney.

In another claim Sadie M., and Nathan Dederick, 206 Tremper avenue, ask for $20,000 for a fall last June 26 on Abruyn street on what is alleged was a sidewalk in dangerous condition. Of the total $15,000 is sought for alleged injuries of the legs, arms and body of Mrs. Dederick and $5,000 for loss of services and costs to the husband. Arthur A. Davis, Jr. is the attorney.

Summons Filed

The law firm of Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman filed a summons and complaint following the prior filing of a claim to recover $5,000 for Mae Ryan of the Saugerties-Woodstock road, who claims she was injured Oct. 31, 1950 during the repair of a sidewalk at 42 North Front street.

The action is brought against Bartolo Liccardo, as owner, and Louis J. Scafidi, as tenant, of the property, and against the city. It is charged that in changing the grade or level of the sidewalk, a step arrangement was necessary at the store entrance, and the claimant tripped on this and fell against a Coca-Cola machine. The original claim was filed on Dec. 26, 1950.

Julius G. Radatz, 69 Glen street, seeks $2,500 for a fall last June 20 over a water cock "constructed and maintained by the city" on Warren street. He suffered arm and leg injuries, lacerations of the nose and face, contusions and abrasions, the claim said. He had parked a truck and was carrying packages at the time. Guido J. Napoletano is the attorney.

Dr. Morris Zevin, of Providence, R. I., seeks to recover $146.05 for damages to his automobile which "drove over a depressed street water catch basin July 30 in front of 65 Lucas avenue. A bill was filed with the claim.

Monkey Took Glasses

Harry J. Smith, of Wawarsing, seeks to recover for the loss of his eye glasses which he says were taken from him by the monkey at Forsyth Park recently.

Smith said he was not aware of what was in the cage, and explained that there was "large enough hole so that the monkey could reach a good distance. He took the eye glasses from my face and completely destroyed them within seconds." The incident has put him to considerable trouble, he said, because he cannot drive without glasses. He felt the cages in the park should be repaired.

The railroad and bus committee approved the Third Ward bus petition which contained 950 names, and said it felt there was "a definite need" of bus service in the ward. The report was adopted by the council.

Action on the B.P.W. request for $28,000 for the Washington avenue-Elizabeth street sewer project was left with the finance committee which is expected to give its report at a special meeting next week.

Snow Removal

A BPW snow-removal claim of $46,250.58 for the 1950-51 season was approved. Of the total $32,739.18 was for salaries and wages, $9,221.84 for maintenance and equipment, and $4,289.56 for materials and supplies.

A letter from Harry Rigby, Jr., temporary chairman of the city's 300th anniversary committee, thanking the aldermen for their recent $300 appropriation to the committee, was read and filed.

R. L. Whitbeck, in a letter as spokesman for a group of citizens asked that the laws and rules committee give serious consideration to naming the new access street between Cornell and Thomas streets, "Rodie Street," or "Rodie Place," in honor of William S. and Robert S. Rodie, both now deceased.

They were "well known and civic-minded citizens of our city. During their lifetime each contributed greatly to projects which cumulatively have made our city a better place in which to live," the letter said. The lands taken for the street, it said, have been owned or controlled by the Rodie family for more than half a century. The letter addressed to Alderman Abram Relyea, chairman of the laws and rules committee, was referred to that committee.

A petition by Sam and Mary Lawrence for a zoning change on a property at 2-10 Walnut street, was referred to the laws and rules committee. It contained 22 names and explained that the petitioners have conducted a dry cleaning business for three years, and now seek to have the property officially designated as a business zone property.

Carney Gets Floor

Elmer Carney was granted privilege of the floor on request of Third Ward Alderman Radel.

Carney said he had appeared before the council a year ago in April for guidance on the proposal to develop Florence street extension. He said he was moving for his own rights and in behalf of veterans who wanted to build in the area.

The project failed to progress, he said, and declared: "I feel that I am being discriminated against by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk." One time, he said, he had several veterans with him to discuss the proposal. There was also a veterans' advisor, he said, and they waited a half hour, and were told that the mayor was going to a ball game and could not talk to them at the time.

Carney said he was forced "to secure two or three different deeds." and met with other difficulties and confusion in attempting to get action on the project and he now seeks water service.

"I was told that if I put in a septic tank the street would be graded," he said. The tank was put in, he said, but there has been no further action. After two months, he charged, he was getting "The good old run-around . . . I believe you people will do something for me." At one point in his argument he declared: "I believe you think I have enough guts to take this to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary."

Alderman Radel said he was familiar with Carney's problem and the water condition on the property and he moved that the health board be contacted for an investigation.

Changed to Resolution

Voting started and got only as far as Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms when Radel changed it to a resolution which was referred to both the health and water boards.

Alderman Storms said he was too confused and felt that he could not vote on the proposal at the time. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly then suggested that City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was in the audience, and probably could explain the city's position.

The engineer said the water department would not act until the street is graded and it appeared to be a question for the BPW to decide at this point. Carney said he agreed with this "to some extent," but, he held, the people there are willing to pay the required 75 per cent of the cost of grading. He agreed, that there was a "hard physical condition," involved on the property, but felt that action should be taken." Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, explained at one time, that the council has no jurisdiction on the proposal.

The resolution offered by Radel asked that both the health and water boards be requested to investigate the conditions of water supply at the residence of Elmer Carney as to its health conditions and supply source.

Other resolutions by Radel asked for the repair of Tubby and Van Gaasbeck streets, which he said, were the worst of other streets in the ward in a "dangerous, serious state of disrepair." The resolution charged that "during the first nine months of 1951 there has been no visible evidence of any street repairs." It was referred to the B.P.W.

Other resolutions by the alderman asked for a stop-sign at Hazel and Stephan streets, on Hazel street, and a school warning sign on Clifton avenue, and for a catch basin on the west side of Grant street between Lincoln and Meade streets where water forms during rain. The former two were referred to the traffic control committee and the other to the B.P.W.

The resolutions asking for the school warning signs said they should be placed at points to be determined by the police chief. Children travel the street on their way to school, and "apparently no corrective measures are being taken to slow down vehicle traffic to a normal legal speed," the resolution said.

CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 3 OF THE TOWNS OF MARBLETOWN, ROCHESTER AND ROSENDALE, ULSTER COUNTY, NEW YORK
NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received and considered by the undersigned School District Clerk of Central School District No. 3 of the Towns of Marbletown, Rochester and Rosendale, Ulster County, New York, at the Town Building, Stone Ridge, in Ulster County, New York (P.O. Address: Stone Ridge, New York), at 2 o'clock P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time (1 o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time,) on the 19th day of September, 1951, at which time and place the bids will be opened for the purchase at not less than par and accrued interest of $610,000 School Building (Serial) Bonds, 1951, of said School District, of the denomination of $1,000 each, dated July 1, 1951, maturing $17,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1953 to 1962, both inclusive, $20,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1963 to 1969, both inclusive, and $25,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1970 to 1981, both inclusive, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually January 1 and July 1. Principal and interest of said bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America at THE KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY, in Kingston, New York. Bonds will be in bearer form with coupons attached and may be converted into fully registered bonds and will be valid and legally binding general obligations of said School District, all the taxable real property within which will be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes to pay said bonds and interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

The State Constitution requires the School District to pledge its faith and credit for the payment of the principal of the bonds and the interest thereon and to make annual appropriations for the amounts required for the payment of such interest and the redemption of the bonds. The State Constitution also provides that if at any time the appropriating authorities fail to make the required appropriations for the annual debt service on the bonds and certain other obligations of the School District, a sufficient sum shall be set apart from the first revenues thereafter received and shall be applied for such purposes; also that the fiscal officer of the School District may be required to set apart and apply such revenues as aforesaid at the suit of any holder of such obligations.

Each bid must be for all of said $610,000 bonds and state a single rate of interest therefor. Unless all bids are rejected, the award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase said bonds at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding the rate above specified, stated in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum, without reference to premium, provided, however that if two or more bidders offer to purchase said bonds at the same lowest rate of interest, then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids, and any bid not complying with this Notice of Sale will be rejected. Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned School District Clerk and should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds" and must be accompanied with a certified or cashier's check drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of said School District for $12,200 as a good faith deposit to secure the School District against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit. Said bonds are issued pursuant to the Constitution and statutes of the State of New York, including among others, the Education Law and the Local Finance Law, for the purpose of the construction and equipment of a new school building in said School district, the period of probable usefulness of which is thirty years.

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds, the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds, and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

Said bonds will be delivered at New York, New York, or at such other place as may be agreed with the purchaser about October 10, 1951.

The approving opinion of Messrs. Vandewater, Sykes, Heckler & Galloway, Attorneys of New York City, will be furnished to the purchaser without cost. The usual no litigation statement will be included in the closing papers.

The population of the School District is estimated to be 3500. The Debt Statement to be filed pursuant to Section 109.00 of the Local Finance Law in connection with the sale of the bonds herein described, prepared as of August 31st, 1951, will show the full valuation of real property subject to taxation by the School District to be $7,526,176.00, its debt limit to be $752,617.00, and its bonded indebtedness including the bonds herein described to be $610,000.00. Such statement will show net bonded indebtedness of $540,313.00 after deducting indebtedness of $69,687.00 estimated to be supported by a building quota. Bond anticipation notes in the amount of $200,000.00 heretofore issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds have not been included in computing such indebtedness. Such notes will be redeemed from the proceeds of the bonds. A detailed report of essential facts will be furnished to any interested bidder upon request.

The Eastern Investment Banking Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee has indicated that the proposed sale and delivery of such bonds appears to be in harmony with the principles of the Voluntary Credit Restraint Program.

list of claims totalled nearly $60,000.

It is claimed that the boy suffered a compound leg fracture when he was thrown from, pushed or pulled from a hand operated merry-go-round in the park. James C. Plunket is the attorney.

In another claim Sadie M. and Nathan Dederick, 206 Tremper avenue, ask for $20,000 for a fall last June 26 on Abruyn street on what is alleged was a sidewalk in dangerous condition. Of the total $15,000 is sought for alleged injuries of the legs, arms and body of Mrs. Dederick and $5,000 for loss of services and costs to the husband. Arthur A. Davis, Jr. is the attorney.

Summons Filed

The law firm of Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman filed a summons and complaint following the prior filing of a claim to recover $5,000 for Mae Ryan of the Saugerties-Woodstock road, who claims she was injured Oct. 31, 1950 during the repair of a sidewalk at 42 North Front street.

The action is brought against Bartolo Liccardo, as owner, and Louis J. Scafidi, as tenant, of the property, and against the city. It is charged that in changing the grade or level of the sidewalk, a step arrangement was necessary at the store entrance, and the claimant tripped on this and fell against a Coca-Cola machine. The original claim was filed on Dec. 26, 1950.

Julius G. Radatz, 69 Glen street, seeks $2,500 for a fall last June 20 over a water cock "constructed and maintained by the city" on Warren street. He suffered arm and leg injuries, lacerations of the nose and face, contusions and abrasions, the claim said. He had parked a truck and was carrying packages at the time. Guido J. Napoletano is the attorney.

Dr. Morris Zevin, of Providence, R. I., seeks to recover $146.05 for damages to his automobile which "drove over a depressed street water catch basin July 30 in front of 65 Lucas avenue. A bill was filed with the claim.

Monkey Took Glasses

Harry J. Smith, of Wawarsing, seeks to recover for the loss of his eye glasses which he says were taken from him by the monkey at Forsyth Park recently.

Smith said he was not aware of what was in the cage, and explained that there was "large enough hole so that the monkey could reach a good distance. He took the eye glasses from my face and completely destroyed them within seconds." The incident has put him to considerable trouble, he said, because he cannot drive without glasses. He felt the cages in the park should be repaired.

The railroad and bus committee approved the Third Ward bus petition which contained 950 names, and said it felt there was "a definite need" of bus service in the ward. The report was adopted by the council.

Action on the B.P.W. request for $28,000 for the Washington avenue-Elizabeth street sewer project was left with the finance committee which is expected to give its report at a special meeting next week.

Snow Removal

A BPW snow-removal claim of $46,250.58 for the 1950-51 season was approved. Of the total $32,739.18 was for salaries and wages, $9,221.84 for maintenance and equipment, and $4,289.56 for materials and supplies.

A letter from Harry Rigby, Jr., temporary chairman of the city's 300th anniversary committee, thanking the aldermen for their recent $300 appropriation to the committee, was read and filed.

R. L. Whitbeck, in a letter as spokesman for a group of citizens asked that the laws and rules committee give serious consideration to naming the new access street between Cornell and Thomas streets, "Rodie Street," or "Rodie Place," in honor of William S. and Robert S. Rodie, both now deceased.

They were "well known and civic-minded citizens of our city. During their lifetime each contributed greatly to projects which cumulatively have made our city a better place in which to live," the letter said. The lands taken for the street, it said, have been owned or controlled by the Rodie family for more than half a century. The letter addressed to Alderman Abram Relyea, chairman of the laws and rules committee, was referred to that committee.

A petition by Sam and Mary Lawrence for a zoning change on a property at 2-10 Walnut street, was referred to the laws and rules committee. It contained 22 names and explained that the petitioners have conducted a dry cleaning business for three years, and now seek to have the property officially designated as a business zone property.

Carney Gets Floor

Elmer Carney was granted privilege of the floor on request of Third Ward Alderman Radel.

Carney said he had appeared before the council a year ago in April for guidance on the proposal to develop Florence street extension. He said he was moving for his own rights and in behalf of veterans who wanted to build in the area.

The project failed to progress, he said, and declared: "I feel that I am being discriminated against by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk." One time, he said, he had several veterans with him to discuss the proposal. There was also a veterans' advisor, he said, and they waited a half hour, and were told that the mayor was going to a ball game and could not talk to them at the time.

Carney said he was forced "to secure two or three different deeds." and met with other difficulties and confusion in attempting to get action on the project and he now seeks water service.

"I was told that if I put in a septic tank the street would be graded," he said. The tank was put in, he said, but there has been no further action. After two months, he charged, he was getting "The good old run-around . . . I believe you people will do something for me." At one point in his argument he declared: "I believe you think I have enough guts to take this to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary."

Alderman Radel said he was familiar with Carney's problem and the water condition on the property and he moved that the health board be contacted for an investigation.

Changed to Resolution

Voting started and got only as far as Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms when Radel changed it to a resolution which was referred to both the health and water boards.

Alderman Storms said he was too confused and felt that he could not vote on the proposal at the time. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly then suggested that City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was in the audience, and probably could explain the city's position.

The engineer said the water department would not act until the street is graded and it appeared to be a question for the BPW to decide at this point. Carney said he agreed with this "to some extent," but, he held, the people there are willing to pay the required 75 per cent of the cost of grading. He agreed, that there was a "hard physical condition," involved on the property, but felt that action should be taken." Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, explained at one time, that the council has no jurisdiction on the proposal.

The resolution offered by Radel asked that both the health and water boards be requested to investigate the conditions of water supply at the residence of Elmer Carney as to its health conditions and supply source.

Other resolutions by Radel asked for the repair of Tubby and Van Gaasbeck streets, which he said, were the worst of other streets in the ward in a "dangerous, serious state of disrepair." The resolution charged that "during the first nine months of 1951 there has been no visible evidence of any street repairs." It was referred to the B.P.W.

Other resolutions by the alderman asked for a stop-sign at Hazel and Stephan streets, on Hazel street, and a school warning sign on Clifton avenue, and for a catch basin on the west side of Grant street between Lincoln and Meade streets where water forms during rain. The former two were referred to the traffic control committee and the other to the B.P.W.

The resolutions asking for the school warning signs said they should be placed at points to be determined by the police chief. Children travel the street on their way to school, and "apparently no corrective measures are being taken to slow down vehicle traffic to a normal legal speed," the resolution said.

Port Ewen Reformed Church Plans Centennial Ceremony

Elaborate plans for the appropriate celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Port Ewen Reformed Church on Sunday and Monday, September 9 and 10, are already well underway, the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor, has announced.

This celebration is the red-letter day for the churches of the rapidly growing Town of Esopus district.

Earlier this year, members of the congregation of the Ulster Park Reformed Church celebrated the 160th anniversary of the mother church. The Rev. Mr. Christiana also is pastor of that church.

This year's centennial of the Reformed Church of Port Ewen is the exact date on which the church was originally organized in 1851.

Three special services have been arranged to celebrate the occasion, the first at the regular 11 a. m. worship service Sunday, Sept. 9. Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, the historical sermon will be preached by Dr. David Van Strien, president of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America.

The third special program is the homecoming banquet scheduled Monday night, September 10, at 6:30 o'clock at which time all former living pastors of the church will attend with their families.

During the Sunday morning worship service, the historical address will be presented covering the history of the past 100 years.

At the centennial celebration of the church of Book of Golden Memories will be dedicated to the memory of those who formerly belonged to the church or Sunday school.

Originally, the Port Ewen Reformed Church was formed under the title of "North Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of Klyne" during an extra session of the Classis of Ulster meeting in Marbletown on July 30, 1851.

First Elders

Elders comprising the first consistory included Abram I. Houghtaling, Jeremiah I. Houghtaling and Joshua Van Akin. The three deacons were Ebenezar Van Akin, William H. Houghtaling and Philip A. Schryver.

The lot upon which the church edifice was built and now stands was deeded August 12, 1852, by Jeremiah I. Houghtaling, Jane Ann Houghtaling, Sarah Houghtaling, Cornelius Houghtaling, Rachael, his wife; Hezekiah Houghtaling and William H. Houghtaling, and wife, Electa; Charles Rudnitska and Margaret M., his wife.

The church building was erected in 1853 and the first parsonage was built in 1855 after the Pennsylvania Coal Company deeded a lot to the consistory of the North Reformed Church of Klyne February 21, 1855. The first parsonage was destroyed by fire in 1900 and in 1901 the present parsonage was erected.

A new building on the church grounds was dedicated in the fall of 1928. Plans for the new construction were started December 3, 1927, when a committee was appointed including Elders C. D. Van Orde and A. B. Secor and Deacon Chauncey Freer to obtain estimates.

On April 18, 1928, Charles Neice was given the contract for the new building at an estimate of $7,730. The new heating system was installed by Samuel Tinney at a cost of $2,250.

Among the renovations to the church during the pastorate of the Rev. George Berens, who came to the church in 1938, was the conversion of the old woodshed into a garage, a bathroom was installed in the parsonage, a room was furnished for the young people, Girl Scouts nd Boy Scouts, new concrete sidewalks were laid in front of the church property and around the parsonage.

The interior of the church was redecorated, the Men's Club constructed bowling alleys in the basement of the church hall, the exterior of the church was painted and restrooms and toilets were placed in the church hall.

Further refurbishing of the church and church property has been realized during the present pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Christiana who came to the church March 28, 1947.

Among the additions included a new carpet being laid in the church by the consistory, the parsonage was redecorated at a cost of $450 and the kitchen was remodeled and the side porch was inclosed with glass in the winter and screens for the summer. Port Ewen Reformed Church Plans Centennial Ceremony

Elaborate plans for the appropriate celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Port Ewen Reformed Church on Sunday and Monday, September 9 and 10, are already well underway, the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor, has announced.

This celebration is the red-letter day for the churches of the rapidly growing Town of Esopus district.

Earlier this year, members of the congregation of the Ulster Park Reformed Church celebrated the 160th anniversary of the mother church. The Rev. Mr. Christiana also is pastor of that church.

This year's centennial of the Reformed Church of Port Ewen is the exact date on which the church was originally organized in 1851.

Three special services have been arranged to celebrate the occasion, the first at the regular 11 a. m. worship service Sunday, Sept. 9. Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, the historical sermon will be preached by Dr. David Van Strien, president of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America.

The third special program is the homecoming banquet scheduled Monday night, September 10, at 6:30 o'clock at which time all former living pastors of the church will attend with their families.

During the Sunday morning worship service, the historical address will be presented covering the history of the past 100 years.

At the centennial celebration of the church of Book of Golden Memories will be dedicated to the memory of those who formerly belonged to the church or Sunday school.

Originally, the Port Ewen Reformed Church was formed under the title of "North Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of Klyne" during an extra session of the Classis of Ulster meeting in Marbletown on July 30, 1851.

First Elders

Elders comprising the first consistory included Abram I. Houghtaling, Jeremiah I. Houghtaling and Joshua Van Akin. The three deacons were Ebenezar Van Akin, William H. Houghtaling and Philip A. Schryver.

The lot upon which the church edifice was built and now stands was deeded August 12, 1852, by Jeremiah I. Houghtaling, Jane Ann Houghtaling, Sarah Houghtaling, Cornelius Houghtaling, Rachael, his wife; Hezekiah Houghtaling and William H. Houghtaling, and wife, Electa; Charles Rudnitska and Margaret M., his wife.

The church building was erected in 1853 and the first parsonage was built in 1855 after the Pennsylvania Coal Company deeded a lot to the consistory of the North Reformed Church of Klyne February 21, 1855. The first parsonage was destroyed by fire in 1900 and in 1901 the present parsonage was erected.

A new building on the church grounds was dedicated in the fall of 1928. Plans for the new construction were started December 3, 1927, when a committee was appointed including Elders C. D. Van Orde and A. B. Secor and Deacon Chauncey Freer to obtain estimates.

On April 18, 1928, Charles Neice was given the contract for the new building at an estimate of $7,730. The new heating system was installed by Samuel Tinney at a cost of $2,250.

Among the renovations to the church during the pastorate of the Rev. George Berens, who came to the church in 1938, was the conversion of the old woodshed into a garage, a bathroom was installed in the parsonage, a room was furnished for the young people, Girl Scouts nd Boy Scouts, new concrete sidewalks were laid in front of the church property and around the parsonage.

The interior of the church was redecorated, the Men's Club constructed bowling alleys in the basement of the church hall, the exterior of the church was painted and restrooms and toilets were placed in the church hall.

Further refurbishing of the church and church property has been realized during the present pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Christiana who came to the church March 28, 1947.

Among the additions included a new carpet being laid in the church by the consistory, the parsonage was redecorated at a cost of $450 and the kitchen was remodeled and the side porch was inclosed with glass in the winter and screens for the summer. One hundred and 50 new hymnals were bought for the church, five new art glass memorial windows were placed in the church and the church roof was painted at a cost of $200.

An air conditioner also has been placed on the parsonage furnace and the interior of the church was completely redecorated at a cost of $525. The chimney on the parsonage was relaid and a new roof on the parsonage. Members of the Dorcas Society remodeled the kitchen in the church hall and redecorated the church hall.

The present consistory of the Port Ewen Reformed Church includes as elders Floyd Beesmer, clerk; Herbert Christian, Arthur Windram, Harry Secor and Elwin Cunningham, financial secretary; and deacons Howard Sismilich, Henry Polhemus, Walter Carney, Hezekiah Houghtaling, Ray Lounsbury, treasurer. The Rev. Mr. Christiana, as pastor, is president of the consistory.

Former Ministers

Among the former ministers who have served the church since 1852 were the Rev. Wesley Taylor, 1953; the Rev. A. H. Myers, 1854; the Rev. C. L. Van Dyck, 1857; the Rev. A. M. Arcularius, 1866; the Rev. B. C. Lippincott, 1881; the Rev. William Burton, 1898; the Rev. C. H. Polhemus, stated supply pastor in 1900 and installed as pastor 1901; the Rev. John Muyskens, Jr., 1912; the Rev. Homer L. Sheffer, 1916; the Rev. Leonard Appledoorn, 1918; the Rev. Martin F. Luther, 1922; the Rev. John Philip Goertz, 1927; and the Rev. George Berens, 1938.

Among the former pastors who are expected to attend the homecoming celebration dinner September 10 are the Rev. Mr. Appledoorn, Albany, retired; the Rev. and Mrs. Sheffer, New Jersey; the Rev. and Mrs. Goertz, Wheeling, W. Va., and the Rev. and Mrs. Berens, of Greenwich. Mrs. Martin F. Luther, widow of the former pastor, and her daughter, who reside in Kingston, also will attend.

ANSWER: Yes, taking the car without the owner's permission is theft under the law and the Insurance Company assumes full responsibility under the terms of the policy.

Connally Sees Stormy Debate

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Texas) said today he foresees long, stormy debate before the Senate will ratify a peace treaty with Japan.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told a reporter he believes there is "no question" that the Senate will approve the treaty ultimately.

A storm signal was raised by Senator Jenner (R-Ind.), who said he found a "threat to our security still hidden" in terms of the proposed peace treaty.

In a statement yesterday, Jenner said secrecy surrounds the treaty itself and companion pacts proposed on one hand between the United States and Japan, and on the other between Japan and Nationalist China.

Battles Are Waged for Other Hills

Cease-Fire Negotiators Fail to Exchange Any Papers

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, Stpt. 5 (AP)—U. S. Second Division infantrymen smashed their way to the top of a bloody ridge in East Korea today. They were locked in bitter battles for three other heights.

Second Division troops drove through heavy Red resistance and captured the hill mass north of Yanggu. Then they pressed forward to assault another height to the north. Reds, dug securely into crags and ridges, checked the American drive.

In the same sector other Second Division soldiers were locked in a heavy day-long fight with Communists atop two towering crests. The Americans have been trying to knock the Reds off these crests for a week. The Communists have withstood daily infantry assaults and continuous artillery bombardment.

The Second Division action, in the center of a limited United Nations offensive, was the only significant engagement on the front Wednesday. Yanggu, at the eastern end of Hwachon Reservior, is seven miles north of the 38th Parallel. Censors would not permit correspondents to say how much farther north the battle line is.

Marines Are Stopped

To the east the Second Division, entrenched Reds stopped South Korean marines trying to push out west of the punch bowl. Other South Korean marines patrolled far north of the bowl, roughly 20 miles from the east coast.

North Korean Reds attacked three points on a ridge line dominating the valley. The attacks began before midnight and continued four hours. The Communists finally pulled back. They still hold some parts of the ridgeline.

Elsewhere along the battle front only brief patrol clashes were reported. At one point a small group of Reds infiltrated through UN lines.

UN troops killed, wounded or captured the equivalent of three Red divisions last month, the UN ground commander reported today, mostly on the eastern front.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet's conservative estimate of at least 26,000 Red casualties covered a period in which action was limited while both sides held truce talks—now broken off.

Van Fleet said that, even after frontline estimates were carefully evaluated and cut down, the figures showed 15,000 Reds killed, 10,000 wounded and more than 1,000 captured.

The pace of Red casualties undoubtedly increased the past few days. Waves of Communists were committed in repeated counterattacks aimed at stalling an allied

Civil Service Asks More Pay for All

One Claim for $30,000 Is Presented; Total Is Nearly $60,000—Petition Favored

A new wave of claims against the city ranging from $30,000 to the price of a pair of glasses allegedly snatched by a park monkey, marked last night's Common Council action in adopting a law that will make it harder to collect for injuries suffered in sidewalk falls.

The new law would leave the city open to claim only upon failure of neglect to make repairs after notice of a defective or dangerous condition has been given. It received its second and third readings and was adopted.

A railroad and bus committee report favoring the Third Ward petition for bus service was adopted and a request for $28,000 for the Elizabeth street sewer project was left with the finance committee.

Resolution Referred

Elmer Carney sought the council's assistance in a bid to obtain water service on his Florence street extension property, and a resolution by Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel asking the health and water boards to investigate was referred to both by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly. James J. Carroll, 10th Ward alderman, seconded the resolution.

Carney's plea led to some discussion which ended when Alderman Radel withdrew a motion to be voted upon and substituted the resolution.

Claims Son Injured

Highest of six claims read at last night's session and referred to the corporation counsel was that of James Rundle, Jr., 67 O'Neil street, "an infant under the age of 14 years," for $25,000 for injuries suffered in a mishap at Forsyth Park last May 26, and $5,000 for the boy's father for "loss of services," medical expenses and other damages. Would Raise Cash by Sales Tax, if Necessary, They Say

A pay boost for all city employes with the money raised by a two-per-cent sales tax, if necessary, is asked in a resolution by the executive committee of the Ulster County Chapter, Civil Service Employes Association, Inc., introduced at last night's Common Council session.

The resolution asked for the "same salary increases" sought in the referendum move of the local police and firemen. It was referred to the finance committee.

The resolution:

September 4, 1951.

The Honorable Common Council
of the City of Kingston
City Hall

Gentlemen:

The employes of the City of Kingston, members of Ulster Chapter of the Civil Service Employes' Association, Inc., respectfully submit the following resolution adopted at a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Chapter:

"It is hereby resolved that the Honorable Common Council of the City of Kingston be asked to provide for all the other City employes, the same salary increases that are being asked for by the police and firemen under the referendum presented to the Common Council for action by the voters of the City of Kingston, at the next General Election."

It is our belief that all city employes be treated alike in salary adjustments, and further that it is the duty of City government to carry out this principle in making such adjustments.

In making this request, consideration has been made for the increased cost of living, which by statement of the Federal Department of Labor, is now at the highest point since 1930, and viewing the prospect of further economic increases in living during the months to come, it will still rise higher.

If the citizens of Kingston, by their vote, approve the referendum for the police and fire de-

Truman Says Conferenc Will Show Who Seeks Peace, Who in Favor of War

Top Russian Delegate Hears Talk, Refuses Comment

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—The United States and Britain faced an immediate showdown with Russia today over control of the Japanese treaty conference after President Truman challenged the Soviets to make good on their talk of peace by signing the treaty.

The Kremlin's chief delegate, unsmiling Andrei Gromyko, grimly heard the President's challenge at the conference opening last night.

"The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace," Mr. Truman said emphatically. "It offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it."

Gromyko, who had joined briefly in the swelling applause of historic assemblage when Mr. Truman rose to speak, sat with folded hands throughout the talk. Later he told reporters he had no comment.

Speaks With Diplomats

Still later at an American reception for all the delegates, the Soviet deputy foreign minister shook hands with the American President and spoke briefly with some of the diplomats present.

Under British and American plans the conference should end Saturday with the signing of the treaty by all but a few of the 52 delegations present. Privately members of both delegations say Russian tactics may force it to run over into next week.

Publicly Gromyko has said nothing since arriving. But today the hour was at hand for him to speak up and presumably indicate for the first time his strategy—whether to try to wreck or merely protest the British-American sponsored treaty.

Today's task was to organize the conference and set—by majority vote—the rules which will govern its discussions.

Mr. Truman in his speech pictured the Japanese treaty as affording Japan, defeated and broken in World War 2 and reorganized under the six-year American occupation, an opportunity "to win the friendship and trust of other peoples over the years to come." He reminded the Japanese, however, "the United States has not forgotten Pearl Harbor or Bataan." And he made it plain that the softening of its memories will depend on Japan's future conduct.

Speaking in San Francisco's high-vaulted Opera House, where the United Nations was born six years ago, Mr. Truman depicted the treaty now projected as faithful to the UN charter and Japan as a nation now peaceful and democratized.

For the remaking of Japan he paid tribute to the "outstanding leadership" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whom he ousted as occu-

Court Will Hear Civil Cases First; Several Arraigned

Jurors Are Excused Until 2 P.M. September 10; One Case Reported Settled

The September trial term of County Court opened Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with County Judge John M. Cashin presiding. A day calendar of civil cases was made up for Monday, September 10, at 2 o'clock and Judge Cashin directed that cases on the day calendar must be ready for disposition when reached.

Jurors were excused until next Monday at 2 o'clock to which time the court recessed.

Only one case on the civil calendar was announced settled at the call. That was No. 38, a negligence action brought by John Andola against Grace Van B. Roberts and Wasye Lysenko. Michael Nardone for plaintiff and Cook & Cook for defendants.

Several arraignments were made by District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and several cases on the criminal calendar were set down for disposition on Monday, September 17, at 2 o'clock.

Arraigned on Abandonment

Herman Bronson, Marlborough, was arraigned on a charge of violation of Sections 480 and 50 of the Pelan Law, abandonment of his wife and family. Bronson was present in court with his wife and three children and a plea of not guilty was entered when Bronson said he was taking care of his family. He was told to keep on working and take care of his family. George Rusk appears for the defendant.

Robert Allen, charged with assault, second degree, arising out of an incident in a town of Wawarsing tavern on June 8, last, entered a plea of innocent to the two counts in the indictment. John Bonomi appeared for defendant. Bail was continued and counsel was granted 20 days to make further motions.

Jansen Knight of Shawangunk, arraigned on a charge of grand larceny, first degree, alleged to have been a continuing operation over a period of several years from December 1949 to May 1951, entered a plea of innocent. Barber of Barber & Hotaling of Walden appeared for defendant. Bail was

Pasquale Liguori, 48, of 621 Vanderbilt avenue, Brooklyn, received very severe injuries Tuesday afternoon when he slipped from a rock dam near the Joseph Pallonetti property at Milton while hunting wild mushrooms. At St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, where he was taken by ambulance, his condition was reported today as critical. He suffered a fractured skull, fractured ribs, very bad lacerations of the head and a partial fracture of the neck when he landed on his head on jagged rocks at the foot of the ten foot high dam.

Liguori, with two companions from Brooklyn had gone to the rear of the Joseph Pallonetti property at Milton in search of mushrooms. He attempted to cross a rock dam on the Carl Pfluger premises which adjoins the Pallonetti farm and slipped from the dam. State police from the Highland station were summoned and reported he had fallen on his head and chest on the sharp rocks.

Aided by members of the Milton Fire Department who responded and state police, Liguori was removed from the rocks some 400 feet to a clearing where he was placed in the ambulance.

Five Persons Hurt In 3 Accidents

City Truck Worker Has Leg Injury; Boy Also Injured

Two persons were injured in two city traffic mishaps yesterday and three others were hurt in one of two accidents early today.

Charles Steinmiller, 60, of 30 Progress street, suffered a leg injury while at work on a city truck at 3:50 p. m. yesterday at Broadway and St. James street.

A report at police headquarters today said the truck was stopped by Milfred Wendland, 155 Stephan street, the driver, at the intersection for a traffic light, and when he started up again the vehicle went over the right leg of Steinmiller, a helper on the truck.

Steinmiller, the report said, "got his leg caught under the wheel," as he jumped off of the vehicle. He was taken to Kingston Hospital.

Three persons were hurt, none seriously, in an accident at First avenue and Moore street, reported at 5:30 a. m. today.

Officers Kenneth Stratton and Carl Janasiewicz said that one of the cars, owned by Joseph McGrane, of Tietjen avenue, and operated by Joseph Robert Ruzzo, 21, of 103 Albany avenue, was headed south on First avenue at the time of the mishap.

The other a sedan, owned and operated by Richard F. Keller, 19, of 18 Hanratty street, was going east on Moore street. Keller suffered a head injury; John Johnston, 18, of 6 Hanratty street, injuries of the ribs and an arm, and James Johnston, same address, was "shaken up," police said.

Both vehicles were towed from the scene and the report said that a wire fence, concrete leading to the porch, and the lawn of the Richard Demski property, 112 First avenue, were damaged.

Walter Green, 49 Court avenue, reported to the police at 7:05 p. m., yesterday, that while driving his sedan out of a driveway at that address, Joseph Aiello, 6, of 26 Boulder avenue, "rode a tricycle into the side of the car." The boy suffered a bruise on the

Pork Products Lead Cut in Items; Seven Are Costlier

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Wholesale food prices this week dropped to a new 1951 low, according to the Dun & Bradstreet food index.

The index fell from $6.89 last week to $6.82 in the sharpest week-to-week decline since early July. The index still was 2.6 per cent above the year-ago level of $6.65, however.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of one pound each of 31 foods in general use. This week it's at the lowest level since the $6.80 of last December 19. The 1951 high to date was $7.31 on Feb. 20.

Eleven of the 31 foods represented were lower in wholesale

New Peak Is Set

Holiday Death Toll Is 658; Traffic Takes 461 Lives

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The nation's record death toll of 658 from violent accidents over the Labor Day week-end was one of the highest for any holiday period in several years.

There were 461 traffic deaths, a new high for a Labor Day holiday. The toll was more than double the 225 fatalities which could be expected for a three-day non-holiday week-end. It was far in excess of the National Safety Council's original forecast of 390.

In addition to the traffic deaths in the 78-hour period, 97 persons drowned and 100 lost their lives in a variety of accidents, including plane crashes, fires and falls.

Will Fire 5,000 Persons

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—The Veterans Administration said today it will fire about 5,000 employes by Oct. 10 to meet budget cuts. The agency said the reduction will be nationwide and will include all administrative activities. Excluded are employes of the Department of Medicine and Surgery, who staff VA's 151 veterans hospitals and its numerous clinics. The agency's appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952, limits VA's expenditures for non-medical personnel to $195,000,000.

The campaign to raise $600,000 will be launched county wide within the next three weeks. The money will be used to pay for completion of the two new wings on the Benedictine Hospital which have been erected at a cost of slightly under $2,000,000.

Second Petition Is Refused by Counsel

That, at Least, Is What Democrats Say After Luncheon Talk

San Francisco, Sept. 5 (AP)—President Truman appeared today to have hit the re-election campaign trail with a 1952 platform virtually written.

He did everything but formally announce his candidacy yesterday at a Democratic rally here where he called his opponents names ranging from "special privilege boys" to "economic fossils."

And he constructed his 1952 platform under the familiar "Fair Deal" banner as he predicted "we are going to elect a president next year."

He didn't say it would be Harry S. Truman, but the way the Democrats stood up and cheered—and his own obvious relish of the applause—made things pretty clear to those around.

Mr. Truman headed for his Independence, Mo., home today after a couple of San Francisco speeches, in which the off-the-cuff political talk at a party luncheon created more excitement than his major foreign policy address opening the Japanese peace treaty conference last night.

Magnuson's View

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.), who was among those cheering the President on at the luncheon speech, told a reporter, with obvious satisfaction:

"I thought he threw his hat into the ring."

And that was what just about everybody else among the up-

Connelly Rules Plan Is Lacking in Means of Raising Cop, Fireman Pay

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer, following receipt of an opinion by Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly that the additional petition for the police-firemen pay boost referendum, cannot be legally accepted, today sent a letter to Attorney Francis Martocci, counsel for the local firemen and policemen, refusing the petition.

The city clerk's letter noted that the corporation counsel's opinion still holds that the petition does not comply with a section of the City Home Rule Law, and he was therefore prohibited from accepting it. The additional petition was filed Aug. 31.

The corporation counsel's letter to the city clerk notes that a section of the City Home Rule Law "specifically prohibits" a city clerk from accepting a proposed local law unless there is a plan for raising the money included.

Does Not Comply

In returning the petition to Attorney Martocci, City Clerk Kramer wrote in his accompanying letter:

"The corporation counsel has advised me that it is his opinion that the local law submitted as part of the additional petition does not comply with Section 19-a of the City Home Rule Law, as recently amended, in that it does not contain a plan to provide the moneys and revenues sufficient to meet the cost of the proposed salary increases and that I am prohibited by the City Home Rule Law from accepting the additional petition left here on August 31, 1951."

The first petition was filed with

Scientists Puzzled

Landing Satellite 500 Miles Up in Air Sought for Rockets

London, Sept. 5 (AP)—Scientists of 12 nations puzzled today how to build themselves a satellite and set it afloat 500 miles up in the air. They want to use it as a base from which man-driven rockets can take off for the moon.

The scientists are attending the Second International Congress of Astronautics. Yesterday they formed an international federation to set up the satellite.

Dr. Eugen Saenger of Germany, chairman of the congress, said it might take 20 years to make the astral body, but possibly it could be done in five.

Plane Lands Safely

West Hampton, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—A TWA flying instructor, reported overdue on a flight from Beverly, Mass., landed early today at the Suffolk County Air Force Base. Air force officers said that John M. Koltz, 35, accompanied by his wife, landed a few minutes after midnight with the explanation he could not find the small private field on Long Island which was his destination. His small plane was damaged in landing and Koltz chartered another plane and left from a nearby field this morning (about 9 a. m. EST). It was believed he was returning to the Boston area. Early reports were that Koltz had an eight-year-old boy along on his flight, but air force officers said no boy was in the plane.

Sedan-Bus Crash Sends Five to Hospital

Five passengers in this sedan, driven by Stephen Walsh, 22, of Astoria, were injured, three seriously, when, according to State Trooper M. Lisman, it was struck broadside by the Mountain View bus operated by George Gehring of Bridge street, Saugerties, Monday about 4:30 p. m. at the junction of Route 32 and 32A a mile and a half from Palenville. Walsh suffered a possible fracture of the skull, it was reported at Catskill Memorial Hospital. The others, all from the metropolitan area, were also hospitalized there. No arrest was made. (James E. Anner Photo) wards of 750 others at the luncheon thought, too.

The President's campaign-like talk appeared to be as much of a bomb-shell to the party workers as his assertion that new weapons are being developed which would destroy civilization in the event of another all-out war.

"It is fantastic what can happen with the use of new weapons that are now under construction in this country, not only the one which we all fear the most, but there are some weapons which are fantastic in their operation."

Leaves No Doubt

The President didn't disclose what weapons he had in mind, but he left no doubt about the weapons he will hurl against the Republicans in 1952.

Memories of his "Give 'Em Hell" campaign of 1948 were stirred by the President's assertion:

"The Democratic party has a duty to the country, and if I am not badly mistaken the Democratic party is going to keep right on carrying out that duty."

"Next year, 1952"—the President got no further. His audience arose, cheering in campaign fashion as though the election were just around the corner. When the applause subsided, the President told them, "you interrupted me," but he looked happy about it and his grin spread to unusual proportions.

Will Elect President

"We are going to elect a president next year, and that means that we are going to have the opportunity to see that this country stays in the right path," Mr. Truman said.

Everybody laughed when he added later:

"I don't know who the Democratic candidates will be next year, but I do know this: They will be fighters for peace; they will understand what it takes to make America strong; they will fight for all the people—not just a few."

The President cut loose at the Republican opposition. He didn't call the GOP by name, but he attributed to the Democrats a long record of achievements and everybody knew there is only one other major party.

"These anti-defense, anti-control, anti-everything people, (those who oppose the Democratic policies) are the same ones who have been against everything we have been doing in this country for the last 20 years to improve the conditions for the farmer, for labor and for the average family," the President said.

Columbia County Jury Clears Two

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Mrs. Anetha L. Radewitz, accused of the fatal shooting of a game protector, has been cleared by a Columbia county grand jury.

The jury returned six indictments yesterday. But, it decided not to indict the 35-year-old Chatham Center woman.

It also decided not to indict Robert Reed, 40-year-old Negro bricklayer who killed his brother, Phineas C. Reed, 38, on July 14.

Mrs. Radewitz had been charged with second-degree murder.

She contended she accidentally shot Thomas J. Hall, Jr., 31, of Valatie on the porch of an empty farmhouse last Jan. 31, when he was teaching her how to fire a shotgun. She claimed Hall walked into the line of fire.

Reed had been charged with first-degree manslaughter. He said he shot his brother in self defense at their home at Newton Hook, six miles south of here.

GREEN LIGHT ON FOOD

In the interests of a clean-food campaign, the British Ministry of Food rigged up a model of a street containing a number of stores and cafes, using different kinds of food packaging and methods of caring for and serving food. With the idea of helping visitors to remember which were safe and which were dangerous, lights on the fronts of the shops flashed green for safe food, red for that which might be contaminated.

For some reason this calls to mind the fact that hoboes have a system of markings by which they indicate the likelihood of good handouts in a neighborhood, even in specific houses. One kind of mark means that a nourishing sandwich is a sure thing; another indicates that a strong-jawed dog is likely to take the seat out a hobo's pants. There are many other marks which the knights of the road find useful.

Why could not more affluent tourists also have signals by which they could tell each other, discreetly, the chances of getting a good meal here or there? No problem is more perplexing for the traveler. There could be marks to tell the stranger which place lives up to the menu and which uses it only as a come-on, which place will have a waitress ready to bring instant comfort and refreshment to the weary pilgrim and which one lets the customers do the waiting. With some such system to assure nourishment and good humor three times a day, summer touring could acquire certain aspects of pleasure.

One good way for a young matron to hang on to her wedding ring, we are told, is to dip it three times a day in dishwater.

THE VACATION SOUVENIR

Few people can spend a vacation away from home without returning with some souvenir of their travel. It may range in size and shape from an Indian tomahawk to a replica of the Taj Mahal carved from solid ivory. It may be priced anywhere from a time to a figure which reminds one of a congressional appropriation.

The souvenir is very often something worthless in itself which the self-respecting householder will later hide in the recesses of his attic with a shudder. It can take the form of a fish mounted on a board which can well be a source of contention between a husband's pride and a wife's idea of what looks good in the parlor next to grandmother's picture.

The children are likely to come home from summer camp with treasures of their own. Parents are lucky if these are inanimate objects which can be stored in a cupboard or drawer. It is very possible that the youngster's souvenir will be some sort of wiggling creature which could cause neighborhood consternation.

Some souvenirs can be defined as things which would be ignored if they were found in the stores in one's home town. The only way a local merchant would be able to move them would be to sell them at a fancy price to people from out of town who were on vacation.

EUROPE'S NEW ERA

There is more than meets the eye in the steps taken to form a Western European army. Its creation might have a profound effect on the governments of the participating nations. Pledged to keep up its share of the new force, each country would lose control of the corresponding amount of its budget. This might be as much as one-third of even one-half of the total annual appropriation.

If this seems objectionable to some, there are compensations. The rival nations would have an interest in having their neighbors prosperous. If Italy, for example, could not meet its share of the cost of the international army, the rest would have to make up the amount. They would prefer under these circumstances to see Italy in sound financial condition. This should make for friendlier, mutually helpful international relations.

Thus there is a prospect that the formation of this defense force will mark a new era in European history, an era of cooperative attitudes never before generally found on the Continent.

Charity which begins at home too often stays there.

TABER VS. COUSINS

John Taber, of New York, has been a member of the House of Representatives about 30 years and is regarded as an extremely shrewd manipulator of figures. When the Republicans are in power, he looks after taxes and appropriations.

Norman Cousins is the editor of "The Saturday Review of Literature," published for the intellectual elite.

The State Department sent Norman Cousins to India to do propaganda for the United States in that country. It was a little difficult for anyone to know why, of all citizens, the State Department selected Norman Cousins, who is not an expert on India or any such matter. Anyhow, Cousins got $4,550.92 for a 75-day trip, out of which he also got material for several articles in "The Saturday Review of Literature," an interview with Nehru which may be worth something, if anybody is interested, and which is to come out as a $2.00 book.

So John Taber asked the State Department what it was all about, sending a letter on May 11 and getting a reply on May 28, which is slow going for a public agency. Mr. Edward W. Barrett said in his reply that Norman Cousins was the first American lecturer to be sent out to explain the United States to the ignorant, and that the State Department plans to send out some more such.

John Taber was not satisfied because he could not find any reason for picking Cousins for such work, so on June 1, he wrote Mr. Barrett again and got a reply on June 27. Taber wanted to see some of Cousins's speeches, but none were available as Cousins only spoke from notes and outlines.

Mr. Barrett apparently had forgotten the order of December 6, 1950, on account of which General MacArthur was dismissed, the order forbidding any American official to discuss American policy without State Department approval. How can the State Department approve what does not exist?

So John Taber wrote some more on July 5, which was answered on July 17, and again on July 11 and got an answer on July 19, which shows a greater speed.

Taber gave the dates because he wanted to say this:

"I cite this two-months' ordeal of trying to get answers to four letters from the State Department as an example of why the whole propaganda program which the State Department is running is a flop. It moves with the speed of molasses on a cold day in Maine. The Department of Public Affairs is so wound up in red tape, paper-pushing, memo-writing and bureaucracy that it is no wonder it gets nothing done. You have heard speech after speech in this House decrying our Voice of America as a boring flop which runs far behind events and which, in no sense of the word, could be described as an alert, up-to-the-minute outfit."

The State Department sent Representative Taber some clippings, but among them was an intra-office memorandum which gives the impression of doctoring at least one clip. Maybe that was an accident.

But from the clippings it would appear that instead of doing propaganda for the United States, Cousins did a job for the World Federalists in India. The United States has never had a formal policy endorsing the ideas of the World Federalists or Union now or the Dukhobors or anybody like that. It is, therefore, impossible to understand why on a $4,550.92 trip to India to do propaganda for the United States, Cousins should have devoted his time to a minor sectarian movement, which does not represent the United States.

Mr. Taber quotes from a newspaper in Colombo, Ceylon, to the effect that Cousins said:

"I believe that it is desperately necessary to have a world-wide government in which nations could maintain their own institutions, accepting a high sovereignty in matters concerned with the security of the people. The world federal government is the fastest growing movement in the United States."

Now, obviously, in the year 1951, none of this was accurate and the last sentence is highly exaggerated.

All of this amounts to nothing. What is important is that propaganda, as a weapon of war, is being badly handled by our government. Apparently, there is not only a lack of efficient direction but there seems to be no purpose. This is unfortunate at a time when Soviet Russia is so efficient in its use of propaganda devices. To summarize: Propaganda requires intelligent direction focussed on an objective.

That Body of Yours

EXAMINATION OF LOWER BOWEL

The symptoms of cancer in the stomach may come on so quietly that the individual does not suspect any trouble, blaming any slight symptoms present on gas, constipation or nervousness. Sometimes a cancer remains quiet for months; by the time definite symptoms appear it may be too late for operation.

Another part of the digestive tract in which various ailments may be present without the patient suspecting them is the large intestine (lower bowel or colon).

In the American Journal of Surgery, Dr. V. T. Young reports a series of 500 patients who had no complaints as far as the lower bowel was concerned yet 138 (27.6%) were found to have a lesion (disease of some type). Some of these had admitted no symptoms but on questioning confessed that symptoms probably had been present. Some had what they called sight symptoms but felt that everybody had similar symptoms so disregarded them. Persons with small hemorrhoids (piles) were not included in the 500 reported; those with large hemorrhoids were among the 500 cases. There were 64 with large hemorrhoids in the 138 with lesions. There were 44 with polyps, nine with diverticula (little pouches or pockets in the wall of the lower bowel), pruritis (severe itching) in seven, cancer of the bowel in five but fortunately no metastases (spreading to other parts of the body). Other conditions present in the balance of the 138 were prolapse of rectum (lining of rectum protruding from anus).

Notwithstanding all the lesions present, all these patients were alive when the report was written and showed no evidence of the lesions returning.

What do we learn from the above facts? The early discovery of these lesions with their removal or correction means that these patients have a much more favorable chance for a long life than if these lesions had not been discovered until after the onset of symptoms.

Many of us have regular examinations, including X-rays, of heart, lungs, stomach, liver, but do not bother about the lower bowel which we think of as just a reservoir for wastes from food and so not an active or important organ.

When we realize that in a series of 500 cases where the individual had no symptoms whatsoever, lesions were found in more than 25 per cent and know that this discovery prevented much illness and perhaps early death, it might be worthwhile for all of us to at least have a barium enema (with use of X-rays). A barium enema is not expensive.

Spiritless Youth Rally

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note — While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Corporal Charles Francisco, with the U. S. Army's Seventh Division in Korea. Corporal Francisco, a native of Urbana, Illinois, was inducted in September 1950, and sent to Korea as a machine gunner shortly thereafter.)

With the 17th Infantry Regiment, Seventh Infantry Division, U. S. Army in Korea—What is it like in Korea? What is it like to the men who are here? I think of three things around me—mountains, loneliness and death. I think of rotation and home and the future. And I know that those things are in the minds and bones of most infantrymen in Korea.

As a soldier lies in his foxhole and tries to peer through the mist that covers the top of a mountain he thinks of many things. This is the war in Korea as I see it.

It seems to me that civilian writers covering the war have not made enough mention of the hills. At any rate, the hills have a major bearing on the job of the individual soldier and the entire tactical situation.

Put yourself in the place of any man here. You're no military superman, you're just an average guy carrying around 50-60 pounds of equipment on your back. Your job is to climb, sometimes two and three thousand feet almost straight up, find the enemy, and either kill him or drive him off. There are no paths or footholds so you usually are forced to walk the ridge lines. That puts you right in the enemy sights. It's just a matter of when he decides to open up.

It seems to me that the fighting in Korea is much like the island warfare in the Pacific. Here each hill is an island fortress. Artillery and air soften them up, and then the infantry must go it alone.

Mountains and weather . . . enemies which have proved as effective against the UN forces as the Reds themselves. Last winter it was cold and snow. You've heard about that. So far this summer the temperature has averaged in the humid eighties. When it isn't hot, it's raining . . . steady downpours for two and three days straight.

It's a strange war here in Korea. It's a strange soldier we fight. Reports from intelligence speak of such things as "the Chinese may be waiting for a full moon" or "expect an attack if we get three straight days of rain." The Chinese are superstitious. They frighten easily and they fight fanatically.

Every soldier dreads nightfall. The Reds love to infiltrate at night and launch wild whistle-blowing banzai attacks. The enemy uses his artillery most at night. Unlike most wars there are no clear cut front lines in Korea. The enemy can be any place at any time.

A combat infantryman doesn't have much time to think about the grand philosophy of war. But the American soldier is no machine. He walks hand-in-hand with death. No matter how brave or patriotic or religious he might be he can't forget that each minute could well be his last.

I remember the first man I saw killed. We had been joking about how easy we had it. Then the artillery came in. He was dead. The same shell was close enough to have gotten me but it didn't. Incidents like these encourage the foxhole faith you read about in civilian life.

When you're a part of a war the casualty list isn't just a row of numbers. Every figure is a man who wanted to live and do something with his life just as you do. The next digit could be you.

Then there's the matter of heroes. Before I entered combat I thought heroism was a rare and individual thing. Long ago that was true. But today any man who performs his duties well under fire is a hero for my money. A knight of old may have singlehandedly slain dragons but a modern soldier cannot do hand-to-hand battle with shrapnel.

At least one good thing comes of war . . . teamwork. I don't mean the military teamwork of infantry, artillery, air, etc. Even more significant is the comradeship of men in battle. In my own regiment (17th Infantry) racial or religious prejudice is unheard of. A man soon learns to appraise the guy beside him by his courage under fire. That's where men are made.

I sometimes wonder if war isn't more of a personal fight than it seems. A man seldom has time to consider world ideals. It usually narrows down to kill or be killed. There is no pretense among men in battle. The will to live tears away the protective veil we sometimes wear in civilization. Everyone is afraid at times. But most men fight fear as they fight the enemy.

Korea today is not only a deadly place but also a lonely one. There are no cities, as we know them, in the battle zone. Only hills and wilderness. The infantry would thrill to see such simple things as telephone poles, paved streets, brick buildings and stores.

Many men now in the front lines were only recently removed from civilian life by the draft. They dream about getting back to the work they love. They worry about the long delay in their chosen careers. They wonder how it will affect their future.

Soldiers, as always, have their gripes. Rotation is wonderful, but sometimes it seems awfully slow around. When they see stateside papers with Korean news mentioned briefly on page 3 they wonder if the people back home know or care why this war is being fought.

The men here know why they're fighting. I was amazed when I first arrived in Korea at the difference in attitude about the war. Sure you hear "why not give them the place; it isn't fit to live in anyway." But when you talk seriously with these same men, most of them will admit they were only letting off steam.

After the last big allied offensive we disvovered we can defeat the Communists no matter how many men they have. We threw back everything the Reds had to offer and we had them running when the cease-fire talks opened. We, as no one else, pray for peace. But if it doesn't come we can still whip them.

One thing is certain. Every man here has learned the horror and waste of war. We're happy it's happening to us instead of those we love. Our only hope is, that in waging this isolated war, we have proved to our potential enemies that it will not pay to test our strength in our own backyard.

Becomes Citizen

New York, Sept. 5 (AP) — Mrs. Anna Maria Baruch, Dutch-born wife of Dr. Herman Baruch, former U. S. ambassador to The Netherlands, became a naturalized American citizen yesterday in Brooklyn Federal Court. The 37-year-old sister-in-law of financier Bernard M. Baruch was a baroness when she married the 77-year-old former envoy about two years ago. Her three children by a former marriage automatically become American citizens. The Baruchs live in Wyandanch, on Long Island.

Potent Forecast: Reds Will Keep UN Armies Bogged Down for Years in Korea

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 5 — Everything seems so simple nowadays in the attempts of the government here to explain away the breakdown in the cease-fire negotiations in Korea.

It's all just a ruse—so the official propaganda says—to blackmail the United States at San Francisco into making changes in the peace treaty with Japan. Or else, the official suggestions are, it's just a build-up by the Communists to bring on a new offensive in due time.

The trouble with these explanations is that very soon they must inevitably evaporate with the passage of time, and they ignore the fact that Russia has known for some time there were to be no changes made in the peace treaty with Japan.

In a matter of days the San Francisco meeting will be over. The armies in Korea will be just about where they were before. There will have been no blackmailing to get changes in the treaty—just a lot of Russian talk on a Russian-made forum.

Truce parleys, of course, will be resumed in Korea then, because the Communists know that the United Nations want to quit fighting. This is a war that is not being fought to a finish like any other war, and the Communists know they can keep up the bickering over cease-fire terms indefinitely and the UN will be ready just the same at any time to make an agreement.

But the armistice agreement, when signed, will thereupon run up against a planned series of episodes charging "violations." This has been the pattern in all the numerous armistice talks that used to go on between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalists on the mainland of China.

What it boils down to is the fact that UN armies will be bogged down in Korea for months and perhaps years, and there will be no decision. The Communists, after some kind of armistice agreement is signed, will begin their second chapter of "peace" techniques. This will start with a demand that all "foreign troops" be withdrawn from Korea. Under such a program the UN forces would have to go thousands and thousands of miles to their home bases. The Communist Chinese would retreat just a few score or hundred miles across the Yalu river.

Nobody has come forth with any plan to checkmate a recurrence of aggression which could then occur at any time. The real reason is that, despite professions of belief in "collective security," the European nations are not too much concerned with what happens in the Far East and would just as soon let it drift from episode to episode without going to the mat with the Communists in a finish fight. The United States feels bound to do what its allies want to do, even though America has made the primary sacrifice in Korea of both men and money.

A status quo or stalemate, such as the Europeans want, will not, of course, be conceded to them by the Moscow regime. The Russians will select their own battleground and, since they know the allies will not engage in all-out war in the Pacific—the MacArthur hearings told them bluntly how the President and secretary of state feel about all-out war—the opportunity for harassment will not be lost to the Russians. They will concentrate on the Far East.

The latest discovery by the U.N. command, which comes in the form of a bulletin from General Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo, is that all along the Communists, through their aggression in Korea, have been aiming at Japan. Anyone with a sense of strategic values and a global map would have found that out long ago by reading Far Eastern history. But the situation grows more acute now. For, with the signing of a treaty of peace with Japan, American and other occupation armies will have to be diminished. Communistic agitation inside Japan will increase.

The various mutual security pacts being signed with the nations of the Far Pacific are important only on paper. When it comes to invoking them and using force to secure respect for them against aggressors, the same old arguments will be put forth—namely, that it is unwise to put the bulk of our forces into a Pacific war, that Europe is primary and that hence no large-scale war can be fought in the Far East. This is "duck soup" for a Russian strategist. Why, therefore, should he be in any hurry to clean up Korea with a cease-fire or a peace of substance?

The answer may be more apparent 14 months hence, when the American people will be voting on the wisdom or unwisdom of the policies pursued in Korea. For our troops will not be back home by then either.

Washington, Sept. 4 — All the fuss and furor about the public comment by Justice William O. Douglas of the United State Supreme Court that it would be a good idea to extend diplomatic recognition to Red China seems a bit incomprehensible. It's a mistaken view that he holds, but he is a habitual dissenter anyway.

Really, all that the justice said was being said by the administration and a lot of other people about 18 months ago—and, indeed, the British government even today, despite the Chinese aggression in Korea, maintains its diplomatic recognition of Red China.

Justice Douglas, however, didn't recommend recognition because of any friendliness for the Communist cause but because he thinks the maneuver of recognition would pull the Red Chinese away from Moscow.

This sort of thing has been christened "Titoism" in the parlance of diplomacy because Tito still remains a Communist and yet is at swords' points with Soviet Russia and now is being given financial and military assistance as an ally even though his ideological habits remain the same.

But, it will be said, Justice Douglas shouldn't have said anything on such a delicate subject. After all, it wasn't so long ago when the administration was dismissing General MacArthur for reasons connected with his tendency to speak his mind freely on public questions related to the Far East. The administration said then that the world must not hear "two voices" on the subject of foreign policy—the voice of the Department of State and the voice of other officials in our government.

It will be argued that, of course, the judicial branch of the government is a separate and independent branch and not connected with the executive branch. But everybody abroad should have known also that General MacArthur was just a part of the military department and that the State Department alone could make diplomatic policies.

The statement by Justice Douglas will nevertheless carry a good deal of weight abroad because the Supreme Court has tremendous prestige there. Likewise the words of Mr. Douglas who is the idol of the "left wing" in America will be eagerly hailed by the Bevan "left wing" in the British Labor party as corroboration of the viewpoint held by those who dissent from Mr. Attlee in his willingness to go along with the United States for the present on Far Eastern policy.

The demand that comes from Representative Woodruff of Michigan, Republican, that President Truman should remove Justice Douglas isn't as farfetched as it seems. The popular impression is that federal judges may hold office for life and cannot be removed unless they are impeached by Congress for bad judicial conduct. But the constitution doesn't say anything about judicial conduct or life tenure. It simply says justices may hold office "during good behavior."

What does "good behavior" mean? It could mean discretion and silence on controversial questions. It could mean a willingness to let the executive branch of government do the talking on diplomatic issues. But conversely it could mean that it is "bad behavior" for a federal judge to speak freely on any subject. That certainly doesn't sound logical in a country which boasts freedom of speech. But to punish military men for expressing honest convictions and telling the truth under oath to congressional committees doesn't sound logical either. Yet it is done and it is applauded enthusiastically by the "left wing" in America.

Maybe this is only another bit of evidence that the true liberals of today are rare among the "left wingers" and that "left wingers" nowadays are for the most part "coercionists" who want to penalize or intimidate those who express unpopular views even if this means abolishing or whittling down the congressional immunity guaranteed by the constitution.

Dewey Will Discuss Trip Abroad With Truman Next Week

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Governor Dewey says a date will be set next week for his meeting with President Truman to discuss the governor's tour of the Far East and Alaska.

Dewey made the statement yesterday at his first news conference since returning to Albany from his 42,000-mile trip.

Asked whether he thought Gen. Dwight Eisenhower could be persuaded to run next year for the Republican presidential nomination, Dewey said:

"I haven't anything to say on politics at this time."

"I just got back," the governor added. "I don't know anything. I've been away two months."

Dewey, twice-defeated as the Republican candidate for president, has called repeatedly for the selection of Eisenhower as the 1952 GOP nominee.

Traveled With Approval

The governor said he had "received a message" from Mr. Truman and that the date for their meeting would be fixed next week. The President has said he wants Dewey to see him to discuss the trip.

Dewey made his tour of the Pacific area with the President's approval.

The governor told the newsmen that some people had suggested he write a book about his trip. He did not elaborate.

Asked by a reporter if it were true that he had received "huge sums" for a proposed magazine article, Dewey replied:

"I haven't seen any of them."

Says Collier's Helped

On July 6, Louis Ruppel, Collier's magazine editor, said that Dewey would write six articles on his impressions concerning the present situation in the Far East. Ruppel also said that "we (Collier's) helped finance the trip."

Dewey also was asked if he had received a demand from Michael J. Quill, president of the CIO Transport Workers Union, that he fire George P. Monaghan, New York city police commissioner. The governor replied: "Yes."

Dewey with a broad grin, added:

"I gave it the treatment to which it was entitled."

Quill and Monaghan have tangled over Quill's effort to unionize New York city policemen.

Monaghan has ordered the police to stay out of the union or face disciplinary action.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. (AP)—State aid totaling $232,070 has been allocated for improvement of 84.46 miles of town highways in nine towns of Dutchess county under a 10-year program. It varies from 25 to 75 per cent of each county's cost, depending upon the town's assessed valuation. The rehabilitation program which starts in 1952, was provided in the Erwin Town Road Bill, enacted by the 1950 Legislature. It was sponsored by Republican Senator Austin W. Erwin of Geneseo.

TRAIL BLAZER— with plenty on the ball

How long since you lifted the hood of a car, and took a good look at what's beneath?

We like to have folks do that with a Buick.

You'll find that broad bonnet isn't put there for show. It's packed with horsepower—high, wide and handsome—more horsepower than normal drivers will ever use in full.

And—if you're up to date on modern features—you'll find that this bonnet is packed with these too.

Do you know, for example, that every new engine introduced or previewed in recent years is built on the valve-in-head principle?

Score one for Buick. No Buick engine has ever been built in any other way.

Do you know what it takes to make full use of high compression? A valve-in-head engine!

Score two: Buick has been stepping up compression ratios for years.

But Buick has blazed one trail which other engines still haven't followed—don't ask us why.

Every Buick has a Fireball Engine which, as we've said before, is like having a string of comets by the tail.

Fact is, in every flame-packed cylinder there is a comet—rolled into a swirling ball by a special turbo-top piston—touched off by a flashing spark every 5 inches you travel in a Buick.

That's why we're proud to show folks that Buicks have a Fireball Engine—and prouder still to have them take one of these thrilling performers out on the road.

Want to try it? Come in and see us soon.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Here's the piston inside the cylinder. As it moves down, the fuel charge rushes in—sets up a swirl when it hits the piston top.

The piston moves up—compresses the swirling fuel into the comet shape shown here. "Compression ratios" are simply a measure of how much the fuel is compressed.

The ball of fuel is compressed around the spark plug—lets loose its pent-up charge when the spark is fired—delivering a higher percentage of power from each charge of fuel.

Edelmuth Predicts Success for Bond Drive in County

As America's First U. S. Defense Bond Drive opened throughout the United States on September 3, William F. Edelmuth, chairman of the Ulster County Defense Bond Committee, emphasized the importance of the Defense Bond program to America's defense mobilization effort and predicted that residents of Ulster county will give the drive their wholehearted support.

"The Defense Bond program," said the former mayor of Kingston "is one of the strongest weapons we have in keeping our country strong and free. Through the purchase of Defense Bonds we not only back up our Armed Forces who stand ready to defend us against aggression, but we also provide for our own, and our family's security.

"The people of Ulster county have in the past given enthusiastic backing to campaigns that have benefited our country. Here, once again, is this great country. I and all volunteers are confident the First Defense Bond Drive will receive all-out support because— defense is everybody's job!"

Worcester Child Dies of Burns

George Huthsteiner, 3rd, seven months old son of Dr. and Mrs. George Huthsteiner of Worcester, Mass., died Tuesday at Kingston Hospital from second and third degree burns which he sustained Monday morning when the infant pulled over an electric bottle warmer in which his mother was warming milk.

The accident happened at the home of Mrs. Helen O'Connor at Hurley. Coroner Ernest A. Kelly issued a verdict of accidental death from second and third degree burns.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, who conducted an investigation with Under Sheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh, said the infant had been playing on the floor when he apparently pulled the electric cord from the socket, spilling hot water and milk over his face and left side. The child was taken to Kingston Hospital by his mother and grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner, and was attended by Dr. D. S. Myers.

At the time of the accident, Mrs. Huthsteiner and her infant son were visiting at the O'Connor home. Mrs. O'Connor is a sister of Louis Huthsteiner. Besides his parents, the baby is survived by his grandfather, Louis Huthsteiner and his grandmother, Mrs. Ursula Huthsteiner.

Dr. Huthsteiner is associated with the State Hospital at Worcester, Mass.

Three Local Men Victims of Crash Today at Catskill

Enroute to a hearing in Albany today before the State Education Department, three Kingstonians were in an automobile collision at Catskill, which sent one woman to Greene County Memorial Hospital suffering from shock.

According to Captain Harry DuBois of the Catskill police, the three local men involved in the crash were President Clarence Rowland of the Kingston Board of Education; Arthur J. Laidlaw, superintendent of schools, and Attorney James G. Connelly, corporation counsel.

Riding with them was Albert Ward, 54, of Staten Island, who according to the police suffered a bruise on his left leg.

The injured woman, Captain DuBois said was Mrs. Alta Wardwell of Yonkers, who was accompanied in her car by her son, Donald, 13. The boy also suffered bruises, DuBois reported.

The accident occurred about 1 p. m., the police record revealed, on 9W near the intersection of the upper vehicular bridge leading to Cario.

The Kingston men were traveling to the Albany hearing before the State Education Board on the petition of the Town of Ulster District No. 8 asking for relief from alleged excessive tuition charges which were placed in effect last spring for students attending the city schools from that district.

Scheduled time of the hearing was 2 p. m. with Attorney Lloyd R. LeFever as counsel for the school district.

It will be one of the most educational and worthwhile programs which grand jurors have had an opportunity to attend, Thomas J. Murphy, president of the Association, states. One of the highlights of the day will be the military drill by the 700 inmates.

All Association members having cars who have room for other members who have no transportation are asked to phone 4584-M or 4771-W, Kingston, for arrangements. President Murphy and his committee are expecting a large delegation to make the trip.

Adamic Death Is Listed as Suicide

Flemington, N. J., Sept. 5 (AP)—Local authorities today listed the death of Louis Adamic, writer and fighter for minority tolerance, as suicide but invited the FBI to probe the possibility of left-wing murder.

The 52-year-old Yugoslav-born author who recently found Marshall Tito more to his liking than Russia's Stalin was found yesterday in his burning farmhouse in nearby Milford with a bullet in his head and a rifle across his knees.

"There appears to be nothing to indicate anything other than suicide," Hunterdon county prosecutor H. T. Heisel said but added, "I have personally notified the FBI at Newark in case they desire to inspect the premises because of Mr. Adamic's political writings."

After Adamic's part-time secretary revealed that he had been threatened about his forthcoming book on Yugoslavia under Tito, FBI headquarters in Newark said a decision would probably be reached later today on whether to enter the case.

The invitation of the FBI came after Adamic's part- time secretary revealed that four unidentified men threatened him about his forthcoming book on Yuglslavia under Tito. However, S. K. McKee, FBI agent in charge, said today at Newark that the FBI would take no part in the investigations

Mrs. Ethel Sharp, a Milford bank clerk who had been helping Adamic prepare his latest work, said the writer was visited by four strangers last fall. She quoted Adamic as saying without any explanation or apparent concern that the men told him "it had just better be a good book."

State Police found kerosene-soaked rags scattered about Adamic's house and his garage and kitchen on fire when they located his body in an upstair bedroom. They said the fire was apparently deliberately set and the bullet "supposedly self-inflicted."

Adamic, a staunch defender of the foreign-born in America and a prolific writer on labor and minority struggles, supported Henry Wallace on the Progressive ticket for president in 1948. He denied any connection with the Communist party and was writing a book to be called "The Eagle and the Roots" about Tito's break with the Russian Reds.

Gang of Juveniles Uses Woman's Love Of Cats to Extort

Houston, Tex., Sept. 5 (AP)—A gang of juveniles used an aged woman's love of cats to bilk her of what they estimated at $2,000 to $3,000 in less than a year's time.

Police yesterday revealed they had broken the unique extortion racket of 11 children, aged 9 to 16.

Crime Prevention Detectives E. E. Kirkland and Leo Horton said the amazing story started last Halloween night when Mrs. Annella Edmonds, 76, saw three boys throwing rocks at a cat.

The detectives said Mrs. Edmond rebuked the boys for being cruel. Then to persuade the lads not to torture the animal any more, she gave them each $1.

Next day the boys again threw stones at a cat near Mrs. Edmonds' house. Again they were given a cash reward to leave the animal alone.

Word Spreads

The word spread to other boys. Soon they were bringing cats to Mrs. Edmonds and threatening to torture them unless she bought the animals at $3 each. Mrs. Edmonds bought the cats.

Almost every day she bought cats, and the detectives said a 13-year-old boy soon became the "brains" for the group.

The boys told the detectives they had gotten from $2,000 to $3,000 from Mrs. Edmonds in ten months.

The gang leader thought of "refinements" to get money. He called and told Mrs. Edmonds he had found a cat with a broken back but needed money to take it to a veterinarian. She gave him $10.

A surprising number of "injured" cats were found near the home of Mrs. Edmonds.

Police investigated last Friday after receiving a call from Mrs. Edmonds' maid. The 11 boys were arrested over the week-end.

Washington, Sept. 5 (AP)—Federal attorneys promised to move "as fast as we can"—probably today—to seek a court order to end the copper strike for at least 80 days. President Truman last night called for immediate court action. He acted in San Francisco, where he had gone for the opening of the Japanese peace treaty conference.

Says School Maligned

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 5 (AP)—A grand jury here said a Treadwell High teacher "viciously maligned" the school by charging it harbored a lurid "non-virgins club." The jury report yesterday said there wasn't the slightest trace of evidence to support the story told by Mrs. Maurine D. Hayslip, eighth grade history teacher and wife of a Methodist minister.

Budenz Thinks Man Slain by Red Agents

Philadelphia, Sept. 5 (AP)—Louis P. Budenz, one-time Communist editor and leader, said today he believes it is "quite likely" author Louis Adamic was slain by Soviet underground agents.

Budenz is a former editor of the Daily Worker, New York newspaper which is the official organ of the Communist party in the United States. He turned against the Communists years ago, and since has testified before congressional committees and written and spoken extensively on Communist activities.

He told a U. S. Senate subcommittee in 1948 that he had been assigned by the Communist leadership to "corrupt" Adamic.

Second Petition

the city clerk on June 30 and that was also called illegal by Connelly in that "it lacked a plan for raising the money for salaries."

Ruling on the legality of the second petition, Corporation Counsel Connelly advised the city clerk: "In order for this additional petition to be filed in your office, it must comply with the provisions of Section 19-a of the City Home Rule of the State of New York" . . . which says:

Must Have Plan

'No such proposed local law requiring the expenditure of money shall be accepted by the city clerk or be adopted or become effective unless there shall be submitted as part of such proposed local law, a plan to provide moneys and revenues to meet such proposed expenditures.'

Connelly further ruled that: "Leaving entirely to the Common Council the problem of providing moneys to meet the cost of the salary increases can hardly be deemed a plan, as required by the City Home Rule Law. In fact, to hold such a proposal to be a plan is to render ineffective the provisions of the recent amendment of law adopted by the Legislature of the State of New York.

Petitions Are Alike

"Since local laws contained in both the original and additional petitions are the same, it is my considered opinion that the proposed local law included in the additional petitions also does not comply with Section 19-a of the City Home Rule Law . . ."

Connelly cited, "That the local law proposed in the present additional petition provides that it is to become effective November 7, 1951 and that the Common Council shall issue budget notes in order to pay the increased salaries between that date and December 31, 1951. Such budget notes would be included in and paid out of the budget of the City of Kingston for the year 1952. Subsequent to December 31, 1951 the moneys necessary to meet the salary increases is to be raised by the Common Council from those sources and through the manner by which the Common Council is authorized by law to raise money for salaries . . ."

Charged With Rape

Francis Daniels, Olive, was arraigned on a charge of rape, first degree, and assault, second degree, alleged to have been committed on May 26. It is charged he picked up a city girl who was visiting in the area. A plea of innocent was entered and bail was continued. Abram Molyneaux appears for Daniels.

Ross Crwford, New Paltz, was arraigned on a charge of resisting an officer, a violation of Section 1851 of the Penal Law. It is alleged he resisted Chief of Police Leonard Newkirk of New Paltz when an attempt to arrest defendant was made. Peter Harp appeared for Crawford. The act was committed allegedly on July 14, last. The grand jury reommended that Crawford be tried as a youthful offender. Crawford waived his right to a jury trial and entered a plea of innocent to being a youthful offender. His case will come up on September 17. The indictment was ordered sealed and bail was continued.

Judge Cashin then recessed court until next Monday and excused jurors until 2 o'clock on September 10.

On the call of the trial jurors only seven of those present asked to be excused from service. Judge Cashin excused them.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Automobile shares sparked a mild rally today in the stock market and brought prices up moderately.

Buying came into the motor division in midmorning, evidently in response to the prospect of a price increase under the sponsorship of the Office of Price Stabilization.

Steels and some rails joined in the higher movement with more activity than average. Chemicals and oils, together with a long list of miscellaneous issues, posted higher prices but there was little trading interest shown.

The cuts in steel allotments to producers of durable consumer goods announced by the Defense Production Administration had little immediate impact on the market.

Gulf Oil was the best performer in its division after reporting what might turn out to be a "discovery of major proportions" in a wildcat well in western Canada.

Horses Credited Again

Ballston Spa, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Horses get credit again this year for giving Saratoga county residents one of the lowest tax rates in the state. The State Tax Commission said yesterday that a total of $20,378,023 had been bet at the pari-mutuel machines during the 24-day Saratoga meeting, which ended Saturday. That means the county treasury, which levies a five per cent local tax on the handle, has $1,018,901 coming. The county board of supervisors will meet next Monday to split the annual horse-racing melon.

U. S. and Britain

pation and Far Eastern commander last April over Korean issues, and to MacArthur's successor, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway. Both names were greeted with loud applause.

Tribute to Dulles

Mr. Truman also paid tribute to John Foster Dulles, Republican adviser in the State Department and architect of Japanese peace making. Again applause broke out.

But the sections of his speech on which the President placed his heaviest emphasis, speaking slowly and in a loud voice, were those dealing with present world dangers and American steps to meet them, including new defense treaties in the Pacific.

"Unfortunately, today, the world is faced with new threats of aggression," he said.

"Many of the countries represented here are now engaged in a hard fight to uphold the United Nations against international lawbreaking."

At that point he departed from his prepared text and said: "There are thugs among nations just as there are among individuals."

In this situation, Mr. Truman said, it is necessary for unarmed Japan to protect itself against aggression, and it has requested "to enter into a bilateral treaty (with the U. S.) for Japan's immediate security." That pact would provide for American forces in Japan after the peace treaty ends the occupation.

Tackles Question

It was toward the end of his talk that Mr. Truman tackled the question which has focused the attention of delegates ever since they arrived—what will Russia do and what will it mean?

He said that beyond making peace with Japan the most important step required toward general peace in the Pacific is the restoration of peace in Korea. Then he said it should be possible to settle other Pacific problems "which now threaten peace." He went on:

"The United States has made clear on many occasions its desire to explore with other governments at the proper time and in the proper forum, how this might be accomplished.

"There are many well established ways in which next steps can be explored, if there is a genuine desire for peace in all quarters.

"But these are not matters which can be dealt with in our present conference. We have come here to take a single step —but a step of utmost importance.

(This ruled out, so far as the United States is concerned, any compliance with possible Russian proposals to broaden the purposes of the meeting to include other Pacific problems such as Korea.)

"The treaty now before us offers more than talk of peace; it offers action for peace. This conference will show, therefore, who seeks to make peace, and who seeks to prevent it; who wishes to put an end to war, and who wishes to continue it.

"We believe this treaty will have the support of all those nations that honestly desire to reduce the tensions which now grip the world."

No Notes Exchanged

Tokyo, Sept. 5 (AP)—For the first time in days no notes were exchanged today between the United Nations command and Communists on the suspended Korean War cease-fire talks.

Even the Red radios, usually loaded with accusations and denunciations of the allies, were comparatively quiet.

It was believed that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. commander, had completed a message he is due to send top Red commanders. It will reply to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Tehhuai. Sunday they demanded that Ridgway either stop "instigating provocations" in the Kaesong neutral zone of Korea, where the negotiations were held, or call them off.

There was no hint of what Ridgway would say.

Rumors persisted that the U.N. commander might propose the conferences be resumed at a new location. These recurrent stories say he would propose an incident-proof site. Official efforts have failed to squelch the persistent rumors.

Ridgway originally proposed that truce talks be held on the Danish hospital ship Jutlandia off besieged Wonsan on the Korean east coast. The Reds suggested Kaesong, in territory they hold in South Korea.

A lawn and walls were damaged, and the car, damaged under the front end, was towed from the scene, the report said.

BILL MARTIN

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 4—The adventures of Vivien Kellems and the Marshall girls, of Marshall, Tex., indicate that people who simply refuse to comply and remit the money have nothing to fear. That is to say, no need to fear criminal penalties because, plainly, the Treasury, the Department of Justice, Congress and the White House are afraid of the people. They don't dare apply the criminal penalties against individuals, especially respectable domestic women, knowing that juries would acquit them and that the people would come to realize that the government had embezzled billions in a gigantic fraud put over by Congress. The till is empty. The crooks stole it all as fast as it came in, and they all are afraid that even their own packed Supreme Court, ignorant and politically venal as it is, would have to reject not only the federal check-off but the corrupt body and soul of Social Security and bring on a terrible crash. Congress would have to do some nimble scrambling to head off a revolution then.

If you visualize the situation that those congressmen and senators knowingly prescribed to enforce the theft of billions to back the government payrolls of the Democratic organization, you understand why they are afraid. They were going to send to prison ten thousand, perhaps a million American women, mothers of countless children, wives of the taxpayers who put up the money for their wanton follies. They were willing to write the criminal penalty to frighten the American women into stealing money with contributions of their own, not to amass a "fund" for Social Security for the maids but to gather more money for them to squander on a million worthless political bums planted in their foul bureaucracy.

But they were afraid to come straight out so they provided that the criminal penalty should be the same as that proved in another law. And that one was not spelled out, either, but was the same as another provided in still another law. And so on, until a lawyer has run down these other laws and finds eventually that the criminal penalty for willful refusal to collect the check-off from a worker, whether for income tax or social security, is the same as that for failure to pay the tax on a pistol, which is the same as that for failure to break the stamp on a new deck of cards and so on into absurdity. That venture into obscurity wasn't accidental. They planned it that way because they were afraid of the people.

There is nothing to fear in the power of attachment exercised in the case of the Marshall girls. This compels the treasury to serve three papers in each petty case four times a year. This takes days and days of time of government executives, lawyers, clerks and treasury agents and it is plainly a losing proposition for the treasury. The individual amounts are trifling. Mrs. Smith is nicked for $2.12 for the second quarter on a yard-boy who didn't even know he was playing, plus 11 cents penalty. Four times a year, the treasury has to go to her bank and serve an attachment and two other legal papers prepared by clerks and lawyers and the agents may have to drive a hundred miles in each instance.

But Vivien Kellems and the Marshall girls noticed that nothing was said about sending them to prison and that seemed mighty queer because they certainly did what they did wilfully and defiantly. Criminal prosecution would dramatize the situation. Nobody in the government is willing to risk that.

Martin Dies, of Texas, who has taken the case of the Marshall girls, to carry it to the Supreme Court, estimates that at least half of the housewives of Texas have violated the Social Security check-off by simply ignoring it. The job of proceeding against all of them, according to the Marshall, (Tex.) plan, would be fantastic so you may be confident that their violations will be ignored. If a million or two or ten million others also ignore it, the law will become a dead letter and the consequences of that would be so disturbing that Congress would be forced to repeal the whole business.

What, then, of the millions of people who have paid billions into the treasury for social security to be embezzled during these years? No question about it, they or their heirs must be reimbursed. The employers must be reimbursed, too, because the money taken from them for this fraud was the proceeds of extortion. But, somehow we could manage. Then for a substitute if the people really want Social Security, we could have an honest, voluntary system paid for by the workers who expect to receive the benefits, not by the employers who have no duty in the situation. After all workers are people, not serfs of the employers. It is as much their privilege as their duty to manage their own affairs and provide for their own old age by their own earnings.

Contributions are coming into finance the court test of the Marshall girls. I have forwarded $160 to date. I hope contributors will not send their donations for this cause to me but to Mrs. Winifred Furrh, Marshall, Tex., who will acknowledge them.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

When federal regulation of the salaries of major league baseball players becomes an accomplished fact, as it has through the Wage Stabilization law, one can get a clear idea of what the politicians will do when a depression comes along.

Consider this situation: Stanley Musial, the star outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinal baseball team and perhaps the greatest hitter in the national pastime today, received a substantial salary increase this year. The owner of his club wanted to pay it. Stanley richly deserved the increase.

But the Salary Stabilization Board said: "Go slow — maybe this salary increase isn't legal!" And so, as I am writing these lines, a college president, a well-known newspaper writer and columnist and Ty Cobb—that all-time baseball great—are acting as a committee to determine the legality of the whole business.

There is only one Stanley Musial in America. I'll wager that every major league manager would choose Stanley first in his choice of star outfielders. Yet the interpretation of the Wage Stabilization law prompts the authorities to reach way down in the artist's class and say: "No, you can't have this salary increase. It would aid the inflation spiral!"

The wages, it seems to me, of a million steel workers, railroad employes and automobile assemblers are one thing. There is where the wage inflation comes from principally.

But when Stanley Musial, an artist of the first order and probably the greatest baseball player in the world today, is brought into the same economic picture and some question is raised about his salary, I say that America has come to a dangerous point in the political control of our economic life.

I am not making a mountain out of a molehill either. In the United States, we have come to a place where all sorts of regulatory laws are passed. And then, with a hundred situations developing that come under the supervision, we call on people to say whether this artist's salary and that professional champion's pay are legal.

I know that this wage business is serious today. But I think that Stanley Musial's salary increase would contribute about as much to the inflationary spiral as my winter spending in Nassau did when I was there last year.

My concern of this whole matter centers about the intimate and intricate government controls of our economic life. When the government possesses powers to say to Mr. Musial: "No, sir, you cannot have this salary increase!" a sad and dangerous day has arrived.

Stanley Musial is one man in 150,000,000 people. What in the world will the government do in 1961 and 1971 if America experiences a depression faintly resembling that of the nineteen thirties.

In our country there is a small army of economists who, for reasonable fees, will appear as experts in a hundred different fields that need some clarification We were told, for example, about fifteen years ago, that the Federal debt didn't mean anything: that we owed it to ourselves. In those days, economic rationalization was most common.

Well, the way Federal regulation is going now I can see Washington crowded with economists acting as experts to the politicians who, completely hedged in by the problems of their own making, take the advice of the economists and pass dozens of laws badly conceived as is the regulation govering Stanley Musial's salary.

Sometime America will experience a depression. The worse it is, the surer it will be that Federal control will settle down on this great land and our free enterprise system will go into eclipse.

It is highly important, I think, that all investors recognize what forces are settling down on America and through our legislative bodies hold off the insidious powers that threaten the country.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Here Is a Case Of Bad Judgment

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Please decide for us," requests a Dallas correspondent, "whether I am more to be pitied or scorned. In the accompanying hand I made a losing play, but I maintain that it was bad luck rather than bad judgment.

"West opened the four of clubs, dummy played low, and I (holding the East cards) put up the jack. South won with the ace of clubs, led to the ace of hearts, and then returned a low diamond from the dummy. Here is where I made the unsuccessful play of putting up the ace of diamonds. I knew that South had one diamond at most because of his leap to three hearts over one diamond doubled. If South had the singleton king I could not afford to play low.

"As it happened, South ruffed and forced out my king of hearts by leading the queen. I returned a spade to West's ace, and a second round of spades was won by dummy's king. Declarer led the queen of diamonds from dummy, discarding a spade from his own hand. West could win with the king, but nothing could stop declarer from getting to dummy with the king of clubs to discard his losing club on the jack of diamonds.

"South could not have made the contract if I had played a low diamond on the first round of that suit. Did I make a bad play or did I have bad luck"

I'm sorry to say that my correspondent made a bad play. Many players will recognize themselves in this sad tale. They say to themselves: "If I let declarer sneak a trick home with a singleton king of diamonds, I might just as well jump out of the window." And they proceed on the theory that they'd rather kick the hand around than risk being fooled.

East's proper line of thought is very simple. If South has the king of diamonds, the contract cannot be defeated. It doesn't matter whether East takes his ace or loses it. Dummy's black kings are both sure entries, and the diamonds can surely be brought in.

The only hope is that South is void of diamonds. Therefore East should play a low diamond and take his chances.

Do You Remember

BY SOPHIE MILLER

Earl Schoonmaker, president of the Patrolman's Assn. for 1951 presented me with their annual program book. This year the book is dedicated to James Welch, who was appointed patrolman on December 30, 1913. He retired November 30, 1950 and died the following March 22, 1951. Also Joseph Fallon who was appointed patrolman on June 11, 1928 and died on June 29, 1951. Two other retired patrolmen shown in the book are William Roedell appointed May 29, 1921 became Sgt. on April 1, 1940, Lieut. on Nov. 1, 1946 and Capt. on Aug. 30, 1948. George Bowers, appointed patrolman July 1, 1929 and retired June 30, 1951.

There is a good coverage of the history of the police department from the time it was first organized, 60 years ago, on May 15th, 1891 with Stephen D. Hood as the first chief. Thomas J. Murray and Michael J. Cahill were sergeants. This program book also has the picture of the original police force, giving dates when they were appointed, retired and died.

There is an interesting item on our local police radio system which was installed and put in operation on April 28, 1935, which reads in part: "The ultimate object to be reached by a system of ultra high frequency radio transmission was to furnish the citizens of Kingston with rapid and efficient police service. Through the means of this system immediate communication is established by police headquarters to policemen in radio cars who are touring the city and who, while doing so, give their attention to business districts, factory buildings and premises, public buildings, residential sections, traffic investigations, and other incidental duties usually performed by a modern police department."

The article further states: "It is interesting to note that during the past 60 years there has been but one unsolved murder case on the records of Kingston's police department." Two officers of the department have lost their lives in the performance of duty . . . "It was early Tuesday evening, Feb. 6, 1919, that Officer James Lawrence placed James M. Byrd, under arrest for public intoxication, and was escorting him up the sidewalk to the city hall when Byrd's companions came to his assistance. In the melee Byrd got hold of an ugly knife and stabbed Officer Lawrence fatally. He then broke away and ran, but was captured half an hour later. He was found hiding behind some lumber within a stone's throw of the city hall. He was later tried and found guilty and in July 22, 1920, was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison."

Patrolman John G. Boyd, died from injuries received when the trolley car on which he was riding was struck by a West Shore train on the Broadway crossing. There is much more on the history of the department in the program book. But it is interesting to note at present the following equipment is operated by the Kingston Police Department: Finger printing system, teletype set up, radio transmitting unit, also have two motorcycles, five police radio cars with three-way system, headquarters to car; car to headquarters and car to car and 21 police call boxes. There are 39 men on the force. That gives us pretty good protection for a city of our size.

Real Estate Listing Service Is Started

A new listing service for real estate sellers, buyers and brokers has been initiated in this city by W. Kenneth Kukuk under the name of Associated Listings. The office will be at 2 John street.

Associated Listings, which operates under a New York state license, will serve as a clearing house of listings. Kukuk explained that property which is for sale will be listed by him in brochure form and will be sent to the 50 brokers in Kingston for the use of their sales organization.

Kukuk is well known in this city, having formerly operated a funeral home. He served with American Graves Registration Command in the European Theatre of Operations, and recently has been associated with the real estate business.

The listing service, unique for this city, was undertaken after a survey of the real estate sales system in this vicinity by the Marolla organization of Philadelphia showed that such a clearing house "was a prime requisite for the mutual betterment of real estate buyers, sellers and brokers," Kukuk reported.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TWOFOLD CELEBRATION

A reader asks: "How may the occasion of my parents' silver wedding anniversary be given some prominence on my wedding day?"

Your mother might wear a silver grey dress and hat, and a corsage of silver flowers, and your father wear a silver boutonniere. There might also be a second, much smaller, wedding cake with their initials and 1926 on it.

First Name Calling

Dear Mrs. Post: What can a mother do when her best friends tell her children to call them by their first names? There seems no way to hold out against their wishes and the children's natural inclination. First names are easy to remember and the children never hear them called by any others.

Answer: If her friends tell the children to call them by their first names, it is entirely right for them to do as they are told.

No Toothpicks

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper to have toothpicks on a side table in the dining room in case someone would like to have one on the way out?

Answer: According to best taste toothpicks are improper outside of the privacy of your bathroom where they serve as valuable aides to the efficiency of your toothbrush.

Wait for It to Cool

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to pour coffee, tea or cocoa into the saucer so it will cool off faster?

Answer: Unthinkable from the standpoint of good taste.

Two Scientists Say They Know Flesh And Bone Secret

New York, Sept. 5 (AP)—Two California scientists say they have discovered the basic structure of flesh and bone—that living tissues are largely like a coil of rope, twisted strands of gold, or a woman's pleated skirt.

The discoveries were reported yesterday to the American Chemical Society by doctors Linus Pauling and Robert B. Corey, of the California Institute of Technology. The society is holding its diamond jubilee meeting here with 18,000 chemists from 43 countries attending.

Coils, twists and pleats, Pauling and Corey said, from the structure of proteins, the substances which make most living tissues like sinews, skin, bone and blood.

Long chains, known as polypeptides, make up the porteins. These chains contain thousands of "beads," the tiny molecules of acids.

When coiled like a rope, the scientists say, the chains make hair, wool, muscle, finger nails and several other protein forms.

If three chains are twisted around each other, they add, the result is skin, bone, tendons and some parts of blood.

A variation on the coil is the arrangement of the chains like the pleats of a women's skirt, but zig-zag across, instead of up-and-down.

There are uncounted thousands of different proteins. The chains can be made of various combinations of about 20 different acids, and other substances or molecules attach themselves along the chain.

But this discovery reduces proteins to three original forms—coils, twists and pleats.

Yields Only One Hit; Rienzo in Relief

Boulevard Gulf used a couple of infielders as pitchers against Jones Dairy in the opening game of the Shaughnessy finals of the City Baseball League yesterday, and got away with it.

A surprise starter to his teammates and a bigger surprise to the crowd, veteran first sacker Allan Vogt was an even greater puzzle to the hard hitting Dairymen.

Vogt softballed his way to a one-hit stint in 4 2/3 innings before he incurred arm trouble and required a lift from Mike Rienzo, another infielder.

The two contrived to blank the Dairymen in a five-inning contest, 2 to 0, in a distinguished victory against Tommy Fisher. Sal Misasi's pinch single in the fifth was the only Jones Dairy hit.

No game is scheduled tonight with the series resuming on Thursday at 6 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

Two Runs in Fourth

Fisher had an overpowering fast ball that caused the late swinging Gulfmen to deposit most of their safeties—six in all—into right field, which is the wrong field for a predominantly right handed batting order.

Rienzo embellished his hitless 1/3 inning stint with a power blast over the right field fence to launch the Boulevard fourth. After Vogt grounded out, Joe Shattan singled, stole second and scored on Bob Lyons' one bagger.

Jones Dairy had only one runner reach second base on a steal by Don Jones. Boulevard had runners on second and third with one out in the second via an error and Joe Shattan's double but Fisher fanned Bob Lyons and induced Red Hinkley to ground out.

Messinger's Memos: Vogt's stuff was so soft and fluffy that spectators thought he would be murdered. But usually it turns out the other way against batters who are tuned to swift deliveries all season. Manager Schatzel went to the bench and came up with three pinch hitters in the fifth in an effort to get back in the ball game, but only Sal Misasi could connect. It led to no runs but ruined Vogt's bid for a no-hitter. Joe Shattan's double in the second was a gift from right fielder Brinkman who misjudged the ball momentarily and then came fast but failed in a shoestring attempt. "Dolph" Munson made a spectacular one-handed catch on Jones in the fifth inning that had the crowd buzzing. The fans gave Vogt a rousing cheer when he left the game in the fifth. Mike Rienzo came on and got the last out. No game tonight. Next Game on Thursday.

McDermott Ready For Relief Duty

Boston, Sept. 5 (AP)—Maury McDermott, the Red Sox unpredictable lefthander, "will be ready for relief duty, but won't start against the Yankees," Manager Steve O'Neil said before entraining to New York.

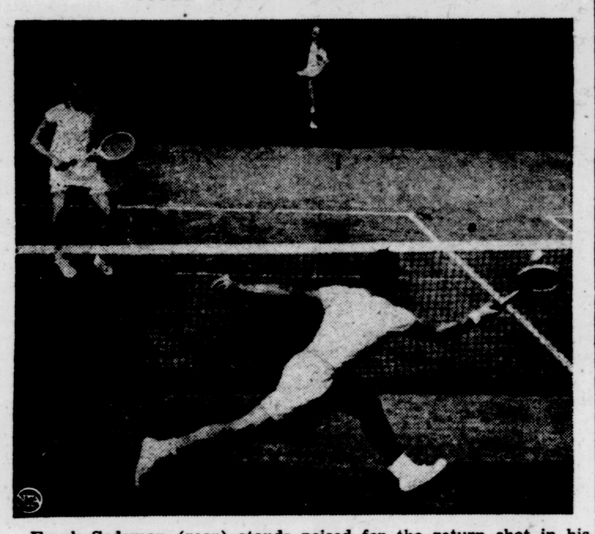
Maury, who was shelved by a fungus infection in Washington on Aug. 19, was later returned to Boston and the Sancta Maria Hospital, where he was confined for five days.

McDermott, who has been working out with the club since last Thursday, accompanied them to New York.

O'Neill said he could use McDermott right now, but would rather wait and give the youngster plenty of time to regain his strength.

Newark, N. J.—George Araujo, 135, Providence, R. I., knocked out Jose Colon Garcia, 131, Puerto Rico (2).

TITLE GOES DOWN UNDER



Frank Sedgman (rear) stands poised for the return shot in his match with Vic Seixas at Forest Hills, N. Y. Sergman won, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1, to become the first non-American to win the U. S. tennis title since 1936. Sedgman is an Australian. (NEA Telephoto)

Sedgman Wins National Title

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—Frank Sedgman of Australia already has the men's cup stowed away in his locker and Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., was expected to win her first women's title at the tender age of 16 as the national tennis championships went into their 12th and—it was hoped—final program at the West Side Club today.

Sedgman, first foreigner to lift the trophy since Fred Perry took it back to England in 1936, scored an impressive and one-sided victory over Vic Seixas of Philadelphia in yesterday's final before 12,000 fans, 6-4, 6-1, 6-1.

That gave the 23-year-old Aussie ace all the American laurels that were open to him. He and his Davis Cup teammate, Ken McGregor, won the National doubles in a play-off match on the opening day of the tournament, and in the final contest on yesterday's card he teamed with Doris Hart of Miami to win the mixed doubles from Mervyn Rose of Australia and Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, 6-3, 6-2.

In today's women's final, Miss Connolly, the lass who laces into a tennis ball as though she meant to flatten it, faced Miss Fry and the consensus was that she had what it took to become the youngest champion in the history of the tournament. She will not be 17 for another two weeks, whereas Helen Wills was close on 18 when she won her first title in 1923.

Maureen, who is about to embrace a newspaper career as a copy girl for the San Diego Union, reached the final yesterday by finishing off Doris Hart, the Wimbledon champion and tourney favorite, 6-4, 6-4. She had won the first set the previous evening before rain forced an over-night suspension.

Horse Show Opens On October 30

A total of 124 events, including 22 championships, worth $31,777 in prizes, will be highlighted at the 63rd National Horse Show to be held October 30-Nov. 6 at Madison Square Garden by the all-civilian U. S. honors against jumping teams from Brazil, Canada, Ireland and Mexico, with Argentina and Spain possible contestants.

Horses worth a conservative $1,000,000 will strut their equine best as the championship climax to 1,200 earlier horse shows throughout the country.

Colonials Close Shop; Were Fifth In Second Half

Spokesman Says Losses Were Not Too Great

While Kingston Colonial personnel was scattering to their homes in all sectors of the Eastern seaboard, the four top teams in the Canadian-American League were preparing to open the semi-final series in the post season Shaughnessy playoffs tonight at Oneonta and Pittsfield.

The champion Oneonta Red Sox, winners of both halves of the league's split season, will entertain third-place Amsterdam Rugmakers. Fourth-place Gloversville travels to Pittsfield.

Each series will be on a best-of-five basis. The first two games are scheduled in Oneonta and Pittsfield.

Oneonta Outstanding

According to final standings released by President Albert E. Houghton's office, the Colonials finished fifth in second round and had an overall seasonal record of 33 wins and 84 losses. This was 50 games off the terrific pace of 83-34 set by the championship Oneonta Red Sox.

Oneonta led the Pittsfield Electrics by 9½ games. The Phillies farm club won 72 and lost 42. The remainder of the field was clearly outclassed by the first and second place clubs.

KBC Status Quo

A final check with Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials revealed today that the club had suffered losses that were "not too bad." The club spokesman declined to reveal the exact amount of the deficit incurred by the Colonials in their 1951 operations.

"The payroll has been met fully and there are only a few small outstanding debts that will be cleared up in the next few days," he said. "Some fall promotions may be staged by the club."

General Manager Addison Jones was scheduled to confer with Manager John Sosh today before the Colonial skipper departed for his home in Allentown, Pa.

Sosh made a commendable showing with the Colonials after he got the roster squared shortly after the second half got under way. At the end of the season, the Colonial pitching with Rick Ostrander, Vince Canepa, Charlie Ayers, Bobby Kunze and Charlie Borden was the best in the league.

A meeting of the Can-Am League directors is expected to be called after the Shaughnessy playoffs and a decision on the future of the league may be made at that time.

According to best available information, the Oneonta Red Sox, who were given stout backing by the Boston Red Sox in player talent, are the only club that has indicated a willingness to consider a 1952 setup.

The Pittsfield Electrics are said to have been disappointed with their working agreement with the Philadelphia Phillies, while Rome and Gloversville suffered heavy losses at the gate.

Every team in the circuit suffered substantial losses ranging from $7,500 to $15,000, according to estimates made at the last meeting of the Can-Am directors.

Minor Opening

Fain-Kell Duel In Junior Loop

Chicago, Sept. 5 (AP)—The battle of the infielders for the American League batting crown continues with first sacker Ferris Fain of Philadelphia leading third baseman George Kell of Detroit by only two percentage points.

In averages computed through Monday's games, Fain headed the league with .331 to Kell's .329. If Fain finishes on top he will be the first Philadelphia player to win the A.L. hitting title since Jimmy Foxx did it in 1933 with .356.

Slipping Orestes Minoso of Chicago still held to third place with a four-point drop to .324. He was followed by Boston's Ted Williams with .322; Gil Coan, Washington, 321; Johnny Pesky, Boston, .314; Gil McDougald, New York, 312; Dom DiMaggio, Boston, .310; and Bobby Avila and Larry Doby, both of Cleveland, with .309 each.

Gus Zernial of Philadelphia kept ahead with 29 homers.

Musial Heading For 1951 Crown

New York, Sept. 5 (AP) — Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals can just about lay claim to the 1951 National League batting championship again.

In the last eight days the Cardinal star hit safely 15 times in 33 trips to the plate, to hoist his average to .368. This is 27 points higher than Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, in second place with .341.

Holmes Defeats Wheatcroft For County Tennis Honors

Cops Kiwanis Finals In Four Sets

Solving Irving Wheatcroft's blistering serves with ease, Bill Holmes of Saugerties swept to his second straight Ulster county singles tennis crown in the Kiwanis Club tournament finals on Labor Day at Hasbrouck Park.

The scores were 6-3, 2-6, 7-5 and 6-2.

The match was marked by long rallies and spots of brilliant play by both finalists but Holmes had the superior equipment and drive.

Holmes won the opening set with not too much trouble and it seemed like a straight-set victory was in the making. Unable to get his first service in play and weak off the baseline, Wheatcroft went to the net on inadequate approach shots and was repeatedly forced into volley errors.

It appeared that Holmes was luring his opponent to the net to unleash a hard hitting passing shot more than anything else. The weakening of Wheatcroft's service put him at a disadvantage early in the match, permitting Holmes to get in the first decisive blows.

Loses Rallies

Wheatcroft improved his service and passing shots in the second set and got good length on the ball to take the set, 6-2. He concentrated on Holmes' backhand, forcing the defending champion to miss many backhand shots or else give such weak returns they were easily smothered by short volleys.

The third set found Holmes back at the peak of his game and his great control, no matter how far he had to range, took the starch out of Wheatcroft's powerful attack and shattered down his control.

Holmes was master of the forecourt in the fourth set and returned Wheatcroft's service for aces. It was his uncanny ability to return deep shots even deeper that broke up Wheatcraft's game.

The Saugerties ace kept Wheatcroft under heavy pressure throughout and proved himself a real champion. His backhand and forehand shots were extremely effective and scored repeated aces or set up the winning shot.

The SCOREBOARD

By RALPH RODEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're home now and that's where we win."

That's the opinion expressed today by Casey Stengel, shrewd manager of the New York Yankees, in talking of the stirring American League pennant race that finds his Yanks in first place by four percentage points over the Cleveland Indians.

The Yanks, who engage the ever-dangerous Boston Red Sox in the opener of a three-game series at the stadium tonight, backed into the lead yesterday as the Indians dropped a 3-1 decision in 11 innings to the Chicago White Sox in the only game played in either league.

	W	L	Pct.	GB	GL
New York	82	48	.631	..	24
Boston	77	51	.602	4	26

The New Yorkers have a decided advantage oved their two foes. The bombers have a two-game edge over Cleveland in the vital "loss column" and have four games more to play than the tribe. The Yanks also are booked to play 21 of their remaining 24 games at home while the Indians have only three of 20 left at home. The Red Sox have 12 out of 26 in their friendly Fenway Park.

Stengel admits that the Red Sox, who meet the Yanks nine more times are to be respected. However Old Case said, "I'm certainly not afraid of them. I've said right along the Yankees were going to win and I have no reason to change my mind."

Raschi in Opener

Vic Raschi (17-8) has been named by Stengel to face the Red Sox tonight before an expected 60,000 fans. Leo Kiely, (4-3) rookie lefthander, is Manager Steve O'Neill's choice to pitch the important opener at the stadium.

Eddie Lopat (18-7) and Allie Reynolds (13-7) will go for the Yanks in Thursday's double header against Bill Wight (6-5) and Ray Scarborough (11-7).

The Yankees have won 42 and lost 15 games at home including four out of five wins from Boston. The Red Sox have won 34 and lost 31 away from home but boast of a 43-20 record at Fenway Park, including eight straight over New York. The Yanks clash with the Red Sox at Boston in a three game series beginning Sept. 21.

While the Red Sox and Yankees tangle the Indians and the Detroit Tigers clash in Cleveland tonight in their last home game until the final two days of the season when they again meet the fifth place Tigers. The Indians are 51-23 at home, and 33-27 on foreign soil.

Lemon Beaten

Bob Lemon of the Indians and Saul Rogovin of Chicago hooked up in a brilliant duel before 20,021 fans at Cleveland last night. Lemon allowed only three hits until the fatal eleventh. One of the blows was former Indian Ed Robinson's 25th homer in the sixth. Robinson's blow matched a fourth inning homer by Clevelands Luke Easter

Nelson Fox opened the Chicago 11th with a double. Al Zarilla bunted Fox to third. Robinson was intentioually passed. At this point Bob Kennedy, rifled armed outfielder, replaced Barney McCosky in rightfield for the Indians but the move didn't pan out. Ray Coleman flied to Kennedy but Fox beat Bob's throw to the plate to break the tie. Robinson scampered to second on a wild pitch and scored the insurance run on a double by Jim Busby.

The Indians threatened in their half, loading the bases with two out on a double by Harry Simpson, a walk, and fielder's choice but pinch-hitter Paul Lehner fouled out to end the game.

Six Are Named To Cup Squad

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 5 (AP)—A six-man squad will carry the hopes of the United States to Australia in December for the final rounds of the Davis Cup competition.

The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association named Tony Trabert, of Cincinnati, Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J., Budge Patty of Los Angeles, Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., Victor Seixas of Philadelphia and Billy Talbert of New York city.

Trabert is scheduled to report to the Navy later this month but he is expected to try for a leave of absence to accompany the squad.

Mauer recently resigned to take a similar job at the University of Florida.

Polio Check Is Made

Provo, Utah, Sept. 5 (AP)—Hundreds of Utah county children flocked to clinics yesterday in a test to determine if paralysis in polio can be prevented. Officials in the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis project hope to inoculate 5,000 by the end of the week. Half of the children received a blood fraction, gamma globulin, which it is hoped will prove effective against paralyzing effects of polio. The other half received a harmless gelatin solution as a check.

Albany Hurler Stops Lanesville

Bob Kane, a 19-year-old right hander of the Dwyer's All Stars, yielded only five hits and struck out 15 to edge Bud Smith of the Lanesville A.C., 3 to 0, Monday on the Lanesville diamond.

Smith, who has piled up big strikeout totals all season, gave up the same number of hits and struck out 10. Kane also aided his own cause with a pair of doubles and knocked in one of the Albany club's tallies. He was the only player on either side with more than one hit.

CENTRAL SCHOOL DISTRICT NO. 3 OF THE TOWNS OF MARBLETOWN, ROCHESTER AND ROSENDALE, ULSTER COUNTY, NEW YORK
NOTICE OF BOND SALE

Sealed proposals will be received and considered by the undersigned School District Clerk of Central School District No. 3 of the Towns of Marbletown, Rochester and Rosendale, Ulster County, New York, at the Town Building, Stone Ridge, in Ulster County, New York (P.O. Address: Stone Ridge, New York), at 2 o'clock P. M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time (1 o'clock P. M., Eastern Standard Time,) on the 19th day of September, 1951, at which time and place the bids will be opened for the purchase at not less than par and accrued interest of $610,000 School Building (Serial) Bonds, 1951, of said School District, of the denomination of $1,000 each, dated July 1, 1951, maturing $17,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1953 to 1962, both inclusive, $20,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1963 to 1969, both inclusive, and $25,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1970 to 1981, both inclusive, bearing interest at a rate not exceeding five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually January 1 and July 1. Principal and interest of said bonds are payable in lawful money of the United States of America at THE KINGSTON TRUST COMPANY in Kingston, New York. Bonds will be in bearer form with coupons attached and may be converted into fully registered bonds and will be valid and legally binding general obligations of said School District, all the taxable real property within which will be subject to the levy of ad valorem taxes to pay said bonds and interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

The State Constitution requires the School District to pledge its faith and credit for the payment of the principal of the bonds and the interest thereon and to make annual appropriations for the amounts required for the payment of such interest and the redemption of the bonds. The State Constitution also provides that if at any time the appropriating authorities fail to make the required appropriations for the annual debt service on the bonds and certain other obligations of the School District, a sufficient sum shall be set apart from the first revenues thereafter received and shall be applied for such purposes; also that the fiscal officer of the School District may be required to set apart and apply such revenues as aforesaid at the suit of any holder of such obligations.

Each bid must be for all of said $610,000 bonds and state a single rate of interest therefor. Unless all bids are rejected, the award will be made to the bidder complying with the terms of sale and offering to purchase said bonds at the lowest rate of interest, not exceeding the rate above specified, stated in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum, without reference to premium, provided, however that if two or more bidders offer to purchase said bonds at the same lowest rate of interest, then such award will be made to the bidder offering the highest premium. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids, and any bid not complying with this Notice of Sale will be rejected. Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned School District Clerk and should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Bonds" and must be accompanied with a certified or cashier's check drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company to the order of said School District for $12,200 as a good faith deposit to secure the School District against any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. No interest will be allowed on the amount of the good faith deposit. Said bonds are issued pursuant to the Constitution and statutes of the State of New York, including among others, the Education Law and the Local Finance Law, for the purpose of the construction and equipment of a new school building in said School district, the period of probable usefulness of which is thirty years.

In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds, the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase the bonds, and in such case the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

Said bonds will be delivered at New York, New York, or at such other place as may be agreed with the purchaser about October 10, 1951.

The approving opinion of Messrs. Vandewater, Sykes, Heckler & Galloway, Attorneys of New York City, will be furnished to the purchaser without cost. The usual no litigation statement will be included in the closing papers.

The population of the School District is estimated to be 3500. The Debt Statement to be filed pursuant to Section 109.00 of the Local Finance Law in connection with the sale of the bonds herein described, prepared as of August 31st, 1951, will show the full valuation of real property subject to taxation by the School District to be $7,526,176.00, its debt limit to be $752,617.00, and its bonded indebtedness including the bonds herein described to be $610,000.00. Such statement will show net bonded indebtedness of $540,313.00 after deducting indebtedness of $69,687.00 estimated to be supported by a building quota. Bond anticipation notes in the amount of $200,000.00 heretofore issued in anticipation of the sale of such bonds have not been included in computing such indebtedness. Such notes will be redeemed from the proceeds of the bonds. A detailed report of essential facts will be furnished to any interested bidder upon request.

The Eastern Investment Banking Voluntary Credit Restraint Committee has indicated that the proposed sale and delivery of such bonds appears to be in harmony with the principles of the Voluntary Credit Restraint Program.

Dated: STONE RIDGE, New York, SEPTEMBER 1st, 1951.

City Adopts Law

list of claims totalled nearly $60,000.

It is claimed that the boy suffered a compound leg fracture when he was thrown from, pushed or pulled from a hand operated merry-go-round in the park. James C. Plunket is the attorney.

In another claim Sadie M., and Nathan Dederick, 206 Tremper avenue, ask for $20,000 for a fall last June 26 on Abruyn street on what is alleged was a sidewalk in dangerous condition. Of the total $15,000 is sought for alleged injuries of the legs, arms and body of Mrs. Dederick and $5,000 for loss of services and costs to the husband. Arthur A. Davis, Jr. is the attorney.

Summons Filed

The law firm of Napoletano, Kelly & Saccoman filed a summons and complaint following the prior filing of a claim to recover $5,000 for Mae Ryan of the Saugerties-Woodstock road, who claims she was injured Oct. 31, 1950 during the repair of a sidewalk at 42 North Front street.

The action is brought against Bartolo Liccardo, as owner, and Louis J. Scafidi, as tenant, of the property, and against the city. It is charged that in changing the grade or level of the sidewalk, a step arrangement was necessary at the store entrance, and the claimant tripped on this and fell against a Coca-Cola machine. The original claim was filed on Dec. 26, 1950.

Julius G. Radatz, 69 Glen street, seeks $2,500 for a fall last June 20 over a water cock "constructed and maintained by the city" on Warren street. He suffered arm and leg injuries, lacerations of the nose and face, contusions and abrasions, the claim said. He had parked a truck and was carrying packages at the time. Guido J. Napoletano is the attorney.

Dr. Morris Zevin, of Providence, R. I., seeks to recover $146.05 for damages to his automobile which "drove over a depressed street water catch basin July 30 in front of 65 Lucas avenue. A bill was filed with the claim.

Monkey Took Glasses

Harry J. Smith, of Wawarsing, seeks to recover for the loss of his eye glasses which he says were taken from him by the monkey at Forsyth Park recently.

Smith said he was not aware of what was in the cage, and explained that there was "large enough hole so that the monkey could reach a good distance. He took the eye glasses from my face and completely destroyed them within seconds." The incident has put him to considerable trouble, he said, because he cannot drive without glasses. He felt the cages in the park should be repaired.

The railroad and bus committee approved the Third Ward bus petition which contained 950 names, and said it felt there was "a definite need" of bus service in the ward. The report was adopted by the council.

Action on the B.P.W. request for $28,000 for the Washington avenue-Elizabeth street sewer project was left with the finance committee which is expected to give its report at a special meeting next week.

Snow Removal

A BPW snow-removal claim of $46,250.58 for the 1950-51 season was approved. Of the total $32,739.18 was for salaries and wages, $9,221.84 for maintenance and equipment, and $4,289.56 for materials and supplies.

A letter from Harry Rigby, Jr., temporary chairman of the city's 300th anniversary committee, thanking the aldermen for their recent $300 appropriation to the committee, was read and filed.

R. L. Whitbeck, in a letter as spokesman for a group of citizens asked that the laws and rules committee give serious consideration to naming the new access street between Cornell and Thomas streets, "Rodie Street," or "Rodie Place," in honor of William S. and Robert S. Rodie, both now deceased.

They were "well known and civic-minded citizens of our city. During their lifetime each contributed greatly to projects which cumulatively have made our city a better place in which to live," the letter said. The lands taken for the street, it said, have been owned or controlled by the Rodie family for more than half a century. The letter addressed to Alderman Abram Relyea, chairman of the laws and rules committee, was referred to that committee.

A petition by Sam and Mary Lawrence for a zoning change on a property at 2-10 Walnut street, was referred to the laws and rules committee. It contained 22 names and explained that the petitioners have conducted a dry cleaning business for three years, and now seek to have the property officially designated as a business zone property.

Carney Gets Floor

Carney said he had appeared before the council a year ago in April for guidance on the proposal to develop Florence street extension. He said he was moving for his own rights and in behalf of veterans who wanted to build in the area.

The project failed to progress, he said, and declared: "I feel that I am being discriminated against by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk." One time, he said, he had several veterans with him to discuss the proposal. There was also a veterans' advisor, he said, and they waited a half hour, and were told that the mayor was going to a ball game and could not talk to them at the time.

Carney said he was forced "to secure two or three different deeds." and met with other difficulties and confusion in attempting to get action on the project and he now seeks water service.

"I was told that if I put in a septic tank the street would be graded," he said. The tank was put in, he said, but there has been no further action. After two months, he charged, he was getting "The good old run-around . . . I believe you people will do something for me." At one point in his argument he declared: "I believe you think I have enough guts to take this to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary."

Alderman Radel said he was familiar with Carney's problem and the water condition on the property and he moved that the health board be contacted for an investigation.

Changed to Resolution

Voting started and got only as far as Second Ward Alderman Benjamin Storms when Radel changed it to a resolution which was referred to both the health and water boards.

Alderman Storms said he was too confused and felt that he could not vote on the proposal at the time. Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly then suggested that City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan was in the audience, and probably could explain the city's position.

The engineer said the water department would not act until the street is graded and it appeared to be a question for the BPW to decide at this point. Carney said he agreed with this "to some extent," but, he held, the people there are willing to pay the required 75 per cent of the cost of grading. He agreed, that there was a "hard physical condition," involved on the property, but felt that action should be taken." Alderman Joseph N. Bruck, explained at one time, that the council has no jurisdiction on the proposal.

The resolution offered by Radel asked that both the health and water boards be requested to investigate the conditions of water supply at the residence of Elmer Carney as to its health conditions and supply source.

Other resolutions by Radel asked for the repair of Tubby and Van Gaasbeck streets, which he said, were the worst of other streets in the ward in a "dangerous, serious state of disrepair." The resolution charged that "during the first nine months of 1951 there has been no visible evidence of any street repairs." It was referred to the B.P.W.

Other resolutions by the alderman asked for a stop-sign at Hazel and Stephan streets, on Hazel street, and a school warning sign on Clifton avenue, and for a catch basin on the west side of Grant street between Lincoln and Meade streets where water forms during rain. The former two were referred to the traffic control committee and the other to the B.P.W.

The resolutions asking for the school warning signs said they should be placed at points to be determined by the police chief. Children travel the street on their way to school, and "apparently no corrective measures are being taken to slow down vehicle traffic to a normal legal speed," the resolution said.

Educators to Meet

The first fall meeting of the Ulster Educators will be held Monday, Sept. 10, at the Highland Central School at 8 p. m. All committee members are requested to attend.

Port Ewen Reformed Church Plans Centennial Ceremony

Elaborate plans for the appropriate celebration of the centennial anniversary of the Port Ewen Reformed Church on Sunday and Monday, September 9 and 10, are already well underway, the Rev. Harry E. Christiana, pastor, has announced.

This celebration is the red-letter day for the churches of the rapidly growing Town of Esopus district.

Earlier this year, members of the congregation of the Ulster Park Reformed Church celebrated the 160th anniversary of the mother church. The Rev. Mr. Christiana also is pastor of that church.

This year's centennial of the Reformed Church of Port Ewen is the exact date on which the church was originally organized in 1851.

Three special services have been arranged to celebrate the occasion, the first at the regular 11 a. m. worship service Sunday, Sept. 9. Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock, the historical sermon will be preached by Dr. David Van Strien, president of the General Synod of the Reformed Church in America.

The third special program is the homecoming banquet scheduled Monday night, September 10, at 6:30 o'clock at which time all former living pastors of the church will attend with their families.

During the Sunday morning worship service, the historical address will be presented covering the history of the past 100 years.

At the centennial celebration of the church of Book of Golden Memories will be dedicated to the memory of those who formerly belonged to the church or Sunday school.

Originally, the Port Ewen Reformed Church was formed under the title of "North Reformed Protestant Dutch Church of Klyne" during an extra session of the Classis of Ulster meeting in Marbletown on July 30, 1851.

First Elders

Elders comprising the first consistory included Abram I. Houghtaling, Jeremiah I. Houghtaling and Joshua Van Akin. The three deacons were Ebenezar Van Akin, William H. Houghtaling and Philip A. Schryver.

The lot upon which the church edifice was built and now stands was deeded August 12, 1852, by Jeremiah I. Houghtaling, Jane Ann Houghtaling, Sarah Houghtaling, Cornelius Houghtaling, Rachael, his wife; Hezekiah Houghtaling and William H. Houghtaling, and wife, Electa; Charles Rudnitska and Margaret M., his wife.

The church building was erected in 1853 and the first parsonage was built in 1855 after the Pennsylvania Coal Company deeded a lot to the consistory of the North Reformed Church of Klyne February 21, 1855. The first parsonage was destroyed by fire in 1900 and in 1901 the present parsonage was erected.

A new building on the church grounds was dedicated in the fall of 1928. Plans for the new construction were started December 3, 1927, when a committee was appointed including Elders C. D. Van Orde and A. B. Secor and Deacon Chauncey Freer to obtain estimates.

On April 18, 1928, Charles Neice was given the contract for the new building at an estimate of $7,730. The new heating system was installed by Samuel Tinney at a cost of $2,250.

Among the renovations to the church during the pastorate of the Rev. George Berens, who came to the church in 1938, was the conversion of the old woodshed into a garage, a bathroom was installed in the parsonage, a room was furnished for the young people, Girl Scouts nd Boy Scouts, new concrete sidewalks were laid in front of the church property and around the parsonage.

The interior of the church was redecorated, the Men's Club constructed bowling alleys in the basement of the church hall, the exterior of the church was painted and restrooms and toilets were placed in the church hall.

Further refurbishing of the church and church property has been realized during the present pastorate of the Rev. Mr. Christiana who came to the church March 28, 1947.

Among the additions included a new carpet being laid in the church by the consistory, the parsonage was redecorated at a cost of $450 and the kitchen was remodeled and the side porch was inclosed with glass in the winter and screens for the summer. One hundred and 50 new hymnals were bought for the church, five new art glass memorial windows were placed in the church and the church roof was painted at a cost of $200.

An air conditioner also has been placed on the parsonage furnace and the interior of the church was completely redecorated at a cost of $525. The chimney on the parsonage was relaid and a new roof on the parsonage. Members of the Dorcas Society remodeled the kitchen in the church hall and redecorated the church hall.

The present consistory of the Port Ewen Reformed Church includes as elders Floyd Beesmer, clerk; Herbert Christian, Arthur Windram, Harry Secor and Elwin Cunningham, financial secretary; and deacons Howard Sismilich, Henry Polhemus, Walter Carney, Hezekiah Houghtaling, Ray Lounsbury, treasurer. The Rev. Mr. Christiana, as pastor, is president of the consistory.

Former Ministers

Among the former ministers who have served the church since 1852 were the Rev. Wesley Taylor, 1953; the Rev. A. H. Myers, 1854; the Rev. C. L. Van Dyck, 1857; the Rev. A. M. Arcularius, 1866; the Rev. B. C. Lippincott, 1881; the Rev. William Burton, 1898; the Rev. C. H. Polhemus, stated supply pastor in 1900 and installed as pastor 1901; the Rev. John Muyskens, Jr., 1912; the Rev. Homer L. Sheffer, 1916; the Rev. Leonard Appledoorn, 1918; the Rev. Martin F. Luther, 1922; the Rev. John Philip Goertz, 1927; and the Rev. George Berens, 1938.

Among the former pastors who are expected to attend the homecoming celebration dinner September 10 are the Rev. Mr. Appledoorn, Albany, retired; the Rev. and Mrs. Sheffer, New Jersey; the Rev. and Mrs. Goertz, Wheeling, W. Va., and the Rev. and Mrs. Berens, of Greenwich. Mrs. Martin F. Luther, widow of the former pastor, and her daughter, who reside in Kingston, also will attend.

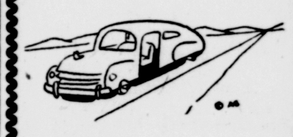
The answers to everyday insurance problems •
By HERMAN J. EATON



QUESTION: Suppose a car is picked up by these "joy riders" and driven until out of gas, then just left somewhere. Is an Insurance Company responsible for its return to the owner in good condition the same as if it had actually been stolen?

ANSWER: Yes, taking the car without the owner's permission is theft under the law and the Insurance Company assumes full responsibility under the terms of the policy.

•If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.
